CORTELYOU EDICT OUSTS P. O. BOGIES.

Complete Reorganization of Entire Department Is Ordered by the Postmaster General.

REFORM WORK IS STARTED

Other Governmental Bureaus to Be Placed on Business Footing; Red Tape and Confusion to Go.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Postmaster General Cortelyou has stolen a march on the Keep commission.

In an order issued tonight he has reorganized the entire postoffice department, shifting about the duties of the four assistant postmasters general and assigning them to different divisions, according to one general plan which will unquestionably result in cutting out a vast amount of red tape and in systematizing the work of the department to an extraordinary degree. No such sweeping and sudden change in the mechanism of the government has been made at one time since the organization of the republic.

The order affects practically every one of more than 25,000 employés of the department. It will result at first in an immense amount of confusion, but the changes have been designed on such an admirable plan that in the long run it will be much easier than ever before to find out the proper bureau to which to apply for the conduct of any particular piece of postoffice business.

Scheme Carefully Thought Out.

Postmaster General Cortelyou has a reputation for executive ability. He organized the new department of commerce and labor and then put together the machinery of the republican national committee in such a way it worked without friction and in complete obedience to the will of the chairman. He has been at work on his scheme to reorganize the postoffice since last May in a characteristically quiet manner, and did not promulgate his order until it had been studied out in all its details. It is the first great step toward the reform in governmental methods desired so much by President Roosevelt and it probably will set a pace for similar sweeping reforms in other departments.

Like most government departments, the postoffice has grown up in a haphazard fashion. The service naturally has developed as the country grew great and methods which were well enough in their way in the early days proved totally inadequate as the business extended. New divisions of the department were organized from time to time as they became needed and were put under one or other of the four assistant postmasters general without much regard to departmental harmony.

Confusion and Jealousies to Go.

When the scandals in the postoffice department developed to or three years ago it became necessary in order to promote investigation to switch several of the divisions around, which resulted in greater confusion. There was besides considerable jealousy among the different assistants to the postmaster general, and the office here in Washington as a consequence has been in an extremely unsatisfactory condition.

Postmaster General Cortelyou has taken the bull by the horns. He has paid no attention to the relative rank of his assistants and has retained no individual executive work for the postmaster general. He has gone at his scheme of reorganization with a single eye to dividing the work of the postoffice department into four great classes, so that each assistant postmaster general will have charge only of the work which is more or less related to the division under him. This has resulted in an extraordinary shifting backward and forward and up and down between the different assistants. The city delivery has been switched from fourth assistant to first assistant, the money order goes from first to third, and the entire personnel of the department has been thrown into the hands of the first assistant.

Appropriations Will Be Problem.

These and other changes involve an immense amount of reorganization work, and there will be confusion worse confounded when the appropriations committee of the house undertakes to adjust estimates made under the existing order of things to the reorganization scheme which is to go into effect Dec. 1, just before congress meets.

Postal employés throughout the country will be extremely interested in the details of the postmaster general's latest order, because it affects all of them. The public generally is concerned chiefly with the scheme of reorganization and with the objects it seeks to attain. Instead of the old jumble of divisions and subdivisions of the department which were collected together under different assistants without any plan and without much reason, Postmaster General Cortelyou has adopted one general system for the entire department. At its head will be the postmaster general, who will have under him postoffice inspectors to act as his eyes and ears in the direction and supervision of the entire postal service. To the first assistant postmaster general will be given the entire control of the postoffice personnel and management. The second assistant will have exclusive charge of the outside transportation of mails. Postal finance will be especially the function of the third assistant. The fourth assistant will have charge of rural free deliveries, supplies, and miscellaneous business.

Order Cuts Out Red Tape.

Hereafter everything in the entire postal service from New York to San Francisco, and in the islands as well, will be made to conform as nearly as possible to one of these four grand divisions of work in the postoffice department. In this way, for instance, the first assistant postmaster general will devote his attention entirely to the control of the personnel of the department. He will have to do with the appointment of all postmasters, both fourth class and presidential, and all assistant postmasters, clerks, and carriers, except those on rural routes, will be under his direct supervision. This one reform will save the department an immense amount of correspondence which was necessary in the old days, when the different bureaus had more or less control of the same men.

The railway mail service and outside transportation of mail by every means of conveyance between city and city remain under the charge of the second assistant postmaster general. He will have nothing to do, however, with the delivery of mail in cities, either by carriers or wagons. The intention is to

Isle of Pines Secedes, Organizes United States Territorial Government, Notifies the President.

OLD OFFICIALS OUSTED.

Citizens of Little Dependency Unanimous in Opposition to Suzerainty of New Republic.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1905: By the New York Herald.]

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—The residents of the Isle of Pines have issued a declaration of independence from Cuba and organized a new government as a United States territory. A delegate to congress will be sent to Washington in order to have questions affecting the future of the island discussed before the house of representatives, ignoring Cuban authority.

Massmeetings were held under the name of territorial conventions and officials were appointed to fill all positions except those that must be named by the president under the constitution of the United States. The first officers of the new territory are:

Secretary of state—T. B. Anderson.
Treasurer—James M. Steere.
Delegate to congress—M. C. Ryan.
Chief Justice—A. T. Friess.
Sheriff—David B. Wall.

Will Crowd Out Cuban Officials.

The convention divided the island into five districts and ordered elections to be held today to select members of the legislature, which is to convene next week, tax assessors, and collectors. One ticket was named in each district, the only political question being to keep the island under the stars and stripes.

The election is proceeding in an orderly manner under the forms of law, the men on the different tickets announcing that they will take office immediately without regard to those serving under the Cuban government.

The first official notice of the affair is contained in this letter:

NUEVA GERONA, Isle of Pines, Nov. 14.—Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, President, Washington—Dear Sir: The people of this island, having purchased homes under the treaty of Paris believing it was United States territory and having waited more than three years for recognition of their rights as American citizens, fearing a continuation of these conditions and feeling alarm at the condition of Cuba during the coming election, have taken preliminary steps for the establishment of a territorial government under the constitution of the United States. We believe this the proper step for us to take and the most effective way to receive justice and equity from our national lawmaking body. We also rely upon you, our president, for a square deal. We trust our action will meet your approval. T. B. ANDERSON,
Chairman Territorial Convention.

Practically Unanimous in Secession.

This action by the convention represents the opinion of practically the entire population of the Isle of Pines. At the meeting there was only one voice raised against the action taken. That was by a man who expressed fear of the results, asserting that all are liable to punishment under Cuban laws.

Fully one-third of those now living on the island are American citizens. There has been a steady immigration from the United States, while many natives have left there since the Spanish war, coming to Cuba. About half the natives remaining live in the little town of Nueva Gerona. Their inclination is said to have the island belong to the United States. Their opposition to the Cuban administration was shown by the fact that at the primaries practically all inscribed themselves as liberals.

This movement to sever relations with Cuba was fomented by the American club, an organization including most of the substantial citizens of the island. Sixty members of the club met last Monday, declared themselves a territorial convention, and took steps to organize a government. A recess was taken until Saturday.

American Women Fan Revolt.

More than 200 persons gathered at Nueva Gerona. A large number of American women are living on the island, and they loudly applaud the sentiment uttered repeatedly by the chairman, that after the Isle of Pines had become United States territory none had a right to sell it to another country. Elihu Root, Gen. Leonard Wood, and others concerned in having the Cuban banner raised were denounced.

It was decided to have a legislature of eleven men, two from each district, and one delegate at large, Dr. Ramidall receiving the nomination for that office.

"It was like an old style southern massmeeting, all enthusiasm," said S. H. Pearcy today. Mr. Pearcy is vice president of the Isle of Pines company, which controls 150,000 acres out of a total of about 700,000 on the island. He came here to arrange a big deal involving the starting of a new city on a fine port on the south coast and building a railroad through the island.

Mr. Pearcy is one of the strongest advocates that the island must remain part of the United States. He is testing the question in the courts, having sent 20,000 cigars to New York, his contention being that the government could not seize these as being more than the law permits, as they are not from a foreign country.

Will Fight to a Finish.

"We are fighting for justice," he continued. "Wood sold us out, lock, stock, and barrel, for two coaling stations after he had assured us the island would be retained by the United States. Cuba's only interest in the island is to afford snug berths for a few officials. There are about twelve offices thereon, all filled by carpetbaggers, as no native has one. The Cuban government has collected taxes and not spent 5 cents except for salaries.

"Personally, I have just lost $1,000, as flour and other merchandise which I brought from Mobile had passed through a warehouse without a roof and nothing to protect the goods from rain. They have refused to repair the dock or roads. When a bridge between the chief towns rotted the alcalde would do nothing and tried to stop us when we started to make the necessary repairs out of our own pockets.

"We were pleased when Cuba got her freedom, but we do not wish to link our destinies with hers. We claim the rights which

PRIEST FOR AUTO CONTROL.

Justifies Killing of Chauffeurs Who Imperil Lives.

HEADS A BIG DELEGATION.

Father McDonnell Tells West Park Board of Dangers.

The Rev. Father P. J. McDonnell of St. Mel's Roman Catholic church ended an appeal for the most stringent action against "automobile criminals," made to the west park board yesterday afternoon, by declaring that a man would be justified in killing the "criminal autoist who would crush out his life." Father McDonnell's appeal was made when he headed a delegation of church members, property owners, and aldermen, who appeared before the park board and presented a petition in which demands were made that radical action be taken against autoists.

"That is a strong doctrine to preach, but radical action is needed in dealing with these criminals," said Father McDonnell. "We are here to say that there is a power in this community which is not dependant on mere sufferage and that is every man's right to act in self-defense. Let us hope that nothing of this sort will become necessary, but unless other than the usual means of dealing with these offenders are not devised this strong action may be resorted to.

Propose Three Regulations.

"The only opposition to legislation of the sort we request is from those persons who are absolutely regardless of human life and are not entitled to any more consideration than the outlaw or murderer. We have three recommendations that would operate to alleviate the troubles of the automobile oppressed. They are:

"First—There should be many more police, perhaps twice the present force—on all public drives and boulevards.

"Second—There should be sufficient signal box stations on all boulevards so that one patrolman may signal to another to take up the chase after an offender, thus making escape practically impossible.

"Third—The penalty should be increased to a fine of at least $50 for the first offense and an additional $50 for other offenses, with perhaps a prison term also.

"Probably the usual objection to any changes of this sort will be the old one that there is no money to carry out such regulations. Why, gentlemen, the A B C of government is that no vocation or sport can be carried on if it places in jeopardy and costs the lives of others."

Others Want to Be Heard.

As Father McDonnell closed his remarks several members of the delegation crowded forward to be heard. Everybody had some particular grievance against automobile owners and operators and wished to state it to the board. The accident which occurred in the street at the doors of St. Mel's church while the members were entering it some weeks ago, seemed to be uppermost in the minds of most of the delegation. The injuries suffered by Mrs. Bridget Hannon, 72 years old, who was run down by an automobile at that time, was the immediate cause of the appeal to the park board.

"It was only a few weeks ago that three chauffeurs ran their cars into a funeral train of several carriages, which was standing in front of a church on Washington boulevard," said Ald. John Ruxton of the Thirty-fourth ward. "The operators of the automobiles did not slacken their speed and showed that they had not the slightest regard for others.

"I am sure that the city council will back the park board in any action that they may take in this matter. As for myself, I will promise to fight for any legislation that will lessen the evil."

Board Hears Many Complaints.

Other complaints and recommendations were made by Frank J. Wisner, president of the Central Park Improvement association; the Rev. E. J. Randall of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, 2054 Washington boulevard; Ald. Kohout, and Ald. Hunter of the Thirty-fifth ward.

The petition presented by the delegation was passed at a mass meeting of property owners and residents on Washington boulevard held at School hall, Park and Forty-second avenues, Oct. 26.

"I am in sympathy with what has been said and we are making an effort to check what is now one of the greatest evils with which a municipality must cope," said President B. A. Eckhart. "This is a difficult matter to deal with, but the board will take action after giving the subject ample consideration."

Chauffeur Gets No Mercy.

Justice Prindiville had no mercy for scorchers when Frank Cox, a chauffeur, appeared before him in the morning.

It appeared from the testimony that Cox had taken two friends out in his employer's car a week ago and that before the excursion was over he had overturned a cab, injured the driver, and both of his friends. After a hurried survey of the result of his work he took to his heels and escaped. The following day he called at the police station to inquire what had had become of his companions and he was taken into custody. He was fined the limit, $50.

"You may tell any of your companions who are in the habit of wrecking cabs that if they appear before me they will not fare as well as you," said Justice Prindiville.

COURT HITS FACTORY BONUSES.

Indiana Appellate Body Holds City Has No Right to Use Taxation Fund for Such Purposes.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—By a decision of the Appellate court today Indiana cities will be prevented from giving bonuses to manufacturing companies for locating factories, the court holding that a city has no right to take money raised by taxation and devote it to such purposes.

The court says that the benefit resulting to a town by the establishment of manufactories is not different in kind from the benefit arising from the establishment and operation of grocery stores. The manufacturer, merchant, mechanic, and laborer are equal promoters of the public good and equally entitled to public aid.

"No line can be drawn in favor of one of them to the exclusion of the others, and recognition of the right thus to distribute money procured by taxation would subject municipalities to importunities and impositions innumerable," says the court.

TWISTS NECK IN NIGHTMARE.

Pawtucket, R. I., Girl Awakes from Dream with Vertebræ Out of Joint—Bone "Clicks" When Replaced.

Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Awakening from a nightmare in which she dreamed she was struggling with a monstrous creature, Miss Frances Robinson discovered her head was turned, immovably, over her right shoulder.

Dr. Joseph E. Duxbury found that, in the struggle of her dream, the young woman had twisted her head so suddenly and violently she had dislocated the vertebræ.

The doctor was required to use considerable force before the patient's neck, with a "click" of the bone, slipped into its normal place.

Man and Woman Place Bundle on Baltimore and Ohio Road at Ninety-seventh Street.

In an attempt to rid themselves of a week old baby boy a man and woman were seen last evening to place the child, carefully wrapped in a brown shawl, on the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Ninety-seventh street. The bundle was seen by William Price, 9720 Commercial avenue, a switchman. The baby was taken by the police to the South Chicago hospital.

Crossed Wires Start Fire in the Monarch—Extinguished with Only Nominal Loss.

Smoke from a small blaze in the Monarch hotel, North Clark and Indiana streets, drove many of the guests from their rooms at 2 o'clock this morning. The wires in a shaft at the rear of the office on the second floor got crossed, starting the fire. It was extinguished with a nominal loss.

SEEK PAY FOR MADE LAND.

State's Attorney's Assistants Get Proofs Against Encroachers.

OVER $2,000,000 AT STAKE.

Illinois Steel Company Chief Offender, but Not Only One.

Preliminary steps were taken yesterday by the state's attorney's office to secure for the state compensation for 200 acres of "made land" occupied by the Illinois Steel company and estimated to be worth $2,000,000.

Assistant State's Attorney E. C. Lindley went to South Chicago, accompanied by a photographer and a surveyor, and obtained pictures showing the encroachment of the steel corporation—land formed by the thousands of tons of slag that it has dumped into the lake. Measurements were taken that will form the basis, along with the photographs, of litigation to make the corporation pay for the land it has appropriated from the state.

By his action State's Attorney Healy forestalled Attorney General Stead, who has displayed considerable interest in the matter of maintaining the rights of the state to submerged land. The attorney general's office, however, has limited itself to inquiries, taking no action.

Other Corporations Are Offenders.

Mr. Lindley obtained several photographs of the "made land" seized by the steel company north of the mouth of the Calumet. Then he secured views of filled in land that had been preëmpted by several corporations south of the Calumet. Views also were taken of alleged encroachments of the owners of the Chicago Beach hotel at Fifty-first street.

It is the intention of the state's attorney to utilize the evidence, together with data furnished by city officials, in a suit in some court for a writ to compel the Illinois Steel company and other offenders to vacate land they are occupying illegally or fully to compensate the state for its use.

Company May Settle.

It is understood the steel company will not make any real effort to prove that the "made land" it is occupying belongs to it by right and will settle with the state rather than vacate.

Although the illegal occupation of the land at the mouth of the Calumet was first made known as a result of investigations conducted under the direction of the commissioner of public works, the city officials have turned the matter over to the state's attorney's office. The land belongs to the state and the city has no title to it, merely acting, under its special charter, as the state's agent.

It is not improbable that the state, when compensated by the steel company, may reward the city in some way for its efforts in the interest of restoring the property to the state.

All money recovered from the corporations, however, must be turned over for the use of the state of Illinois, it is stated by the attorneys.

Harbor Commission to Report.

The special harbor commission, of which William Kent is chairman, which has been investigating the "made land" along the lake and the "stub ends of streets," will be ready to report at the end of the month. All its deliberations have been secret and what it will report is not definitely known. It is understood, however, that the commission will make a report in general on what the law is with reference to the acquisition of land extending beyond the harbor lines. The commission has been handicapped to some extent in establishing shore and boundary lines by the inadequacy of early records of surveys. There will be no difficulty, however, in proving the encroachments of the Illinois Steel company and other corporations by witnesses who within the last few years have seen the shore line converted from a concave to a convex form.

ODELL DRAWN IN EQUITABLE MIRE.

Hyde Says Former Governor's Threats to Revoke Trust Company's Charter Cost Society $75,000.

CAMPAIGN GIFTS $50,000.

Former Vice President Testifies Harriman and Frick Promised Him Ambassadorship to Get Him Out.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Testifying before the Armstrong legislative insurance committee today, James Hazen Hyde practically charged former Gov. Benjamin B. Odell Jr. with having sandbagged the Mercantile Trust company into paying $75,000 in settlement of the Odell shipbuilding suit against that concern.

Mr. Hyde accused Edward H. Harriman, Mr. Odell's friend, with having advised the payment of this money. He testified further that Mr. Harriman had used the Equitable's money in the notorious $56,000,000 Union Pacific blind pool for the purpose of facilitating his control of that road, and that the railroad magnate, together with Henry C. Frick, conspired, by means of the report of the Equitable's self-investigating committee, to obtain control of the Hyde majority stock.

Mr. Hyde also said that the society contributed $50,000 to the republican national committee in the last campaign—$25,000 through the solicitation of Mr. Frick—and that during the year Mr. Frick, Mr. Harriman, Jacob H. Schiff, Senator Depew, and others used their influence to have him appointed ambassador to France.

Candor Pleases Inquisitors.

It was late in the afternoon that Mr. Hyde made the disclosures concerning the settlement of the Odell shipbuilding suit. Up to that time the witness had been candid with the committee, but the extreme frankness with which he met all questions about Harriman and Odell added a climax to the day's testimony which made a distinctly favorable impression for the witness on both the committee and the big audience which crowded the council chamber.

"Had you," asked Mr. Hughes, "any interview with any director of the Equitable in regard to the settlement of a suit brought by Gov. Odell against the Mercantile Trust company?"

"Yes, sir," answered Mr. Hyde, "with Mr. Harriman, but not in his capacity as a director of the Equitable, because the society had nothing to do with it. He consulted with me as a director of the Mercantile Trust company."

Mr. Hyde added that the payment for the settlement was made solely out of the funds of the Mercantile Trust company on the advice of that concern's counsel, Bainbridge Colby. He said he knew of no effort having been made by any one connected with the Equitable, or any one else, to have the payment made by the life insurance society.

Feared Retaliatory Measures.

Q.—Did Mr. Harriman ever suggest that the claim should be settled? A.—Yes, sir; he suggested to me that there was a great deal of rumor in the newspapers that an effort would be made to repeal the charter of the Mercantile Trust company, and, as the Equitable Life has a large interest in that charter, and as that charter is valuable, that had a great deal to do with what was considered the advisability of making that settlement.

Mr. Hughes asked the witness to explain what he meant by the repeal of the charter of the Mercantile Trust company. Mr. Hyde replied that he meant exactly what he said.

Q.—I don't quite understand; can you elaborate that? What was said to you by Mr. Harriman as to anything that could be done to repeal the charter of the Mercantile Trust company? A.—I suppose he feared retaliatory measures on the part of that powerful gentleman.

Q.—Why did he fear retaliatory measures? A.—He seemed to think so.

Q.—In what form was that suggestion made? A.—In just that naked form.

Q.—That there was danger that the charter of the Mercantile Trust company would be repealed? A.—Yes, sir.

Let Well Enough Alone.

Mr. Hughes wanted to know whether any steps actually had been taken looking toward the revocation of the Mercantile's charter. Mr. Hyde said that he did not know of his own knowledge that there had been.

After Mr. Harriman had suggested the settlement with Odell and the Mercantile Trust company's counsel had advised it, Mr. Hyde said that the members of the company's executive committee recommended the payment. He, as an officer of the company, knew of it and did not oppose it, but he declared that he did not originate or direct it.

Mr. Hyde said that the $75,000 did not represent the entire returns to Mr. Odell on his claim; that this amount was paid to the former governor over and above the bonds which he had underwritten. The witness did not know what was the amount of the bonds in face value that Mr. Odell held, but Samuel Untermyer, his counsel, said that he understood "the governor" had about $180,000.

"My recollection, although I am extremely hazy," said Mr. Hyde, "is that $75,000 was paid in this settlement, plus the then market value of the bonds, which would make him about even on the investment."

Mr. Untermyer said that he didn't think the settlement brought Odell out more than 50 or 60 cents on the dollar.

Odell Had the Whip Hand.

Mr. Hughes reverted to the matter of the steps which Mr. Hyde had heard had been taken to repeal the charter of the Mercantile Trust company.

"Was it a special charter?" he asked.

"I have been told so," replied Mr. Hyde.

Q.—Do you know under what name it was incorporated—the original company? A.—No, sir, I am not familiar with the details.

Q.—I want you to state specifically and understanding the importance that the statement should be accurate and definite just what Mr. Harriman said upon that point. A.—He suggested the advisability of a settlement in view of the powerful interest in Albany that was antagonistic to the Mercantile Trust company. I have thought it over carefully and that is as clear and as succinct as I can make it.

Mr. Hyde said that his conversation with Mr. Harriman took place shortly before the settlement. He didn't remember the exact date of the settlement, but it was some time the latter part of last year.

Bill Actually Introduced.

Mr. Hughes asked Mr. Hyde again to state with the greatest exactness what Mr. Harriman said to him at that meeting.

"He said," replied Mr. Hyde, "that there was a possibility of that powerful influence at Albany, being antagonistic on account of this shipbuilding matter, doing harm to one of the valuable subsidiary companies of the Equitable, which was the Mercantile Trust.

Q.—Did he say anything definitely as to the repeal of the charter? A.—Yes, sir, he mentioned that as a possibility.

Q.—By legislation? A.—Yes, sir, and it was also rumored in the newspapers.

Q.—So far as you know was there any bill introduced for that purpose? A.—I think so.

Q.—Where do you get that information? A.—From my recollection. I could not tell you where I got it.

Q.—Do you recall whether such a bill was introduced prior to the settlement? A.—Yes, sir, otherwise there would not have been——

At this point Mr. Untermyer, Mr. Hyde's counsel, interrupted him, remarking, with a smile: "You have said enough."

Hidden Under Nom de Plume.

Mr. Hyde could not recollect how long before the settlement occurred the bill had been introduced.

The bill which Mr. Hyde referred to was introduced in the legislature on March 31, 1904, by Senator Henry D. Ambler of Columbia county, Gov. Odell's personal friend. It was entitled "an act to repeal chapter 806 of the laws of 1868, entitled an act to incorporate the Fire Proof Warehousing company and the various acts amendatory thereto."

The Fireproof Warehousing company was incorporated on May 9, 1868, by a special act of the legislature. After that, up until 1873, the powers of that company were enlarged by special legislative enactments until it had authority to operate as a trust company, and on June 27, 1873, the name of the Fireproof Warehousing company was changed by special enactment of the legislature to the Mercantile Trust company.

The bill was introduced in the legislature in the closing days of the session. It was referred to Senator Brackett's judiciary committee and never came back. It merely provided for the repeal of the warehousing company's charter and that the act should take effect immediately. Few persons in Albany knew that the Mercantile was doing businss under the charter of that company.

Odell Promises to Tell All.

Former Gov. Benjamin B. Odell Jr. was asked tonight about Mr. Hyde's statements. He said he did not care to give any formal statement until he could prepare it carefully. When the reporters repeated to him Mr. Hyde's assertion that he had received $75,000 because he might take away the charter of the Mercantile Trust company, Mr. Odell replied:

"Well, they paid Kavanaugh, didn't they, and Mrs. Wood, and other shipbuilding bondholders? They paid me just like they paid others."

"Is it true, as Mr. Hyde testifies, that Mr. Harriman went to him and represented that you were a powerful person and that the money ought to be paid to you for fear of retaliatory measures?"

"Well, Mr. Harriman will answer that on the stand," said the former governor, and then he added: "But it's not true—they came to me; I did not go to them. I had sold my bonds long before this settlement, and, what is more, I sold them at 28, and you can figure out for yourself what I got for them. They cost me originally $100,000, and, to give you the exact sum that they brought me, I got $48,000 for them. That was long before I was paid this $75,000.

"I'm ready at any time to go on the stand and testify, and I'm ready now. I'll give the entire history of the transactions."

Gave $50,000 to Republicans.

Mr. Hughes wanted to know from Mr. Hyde whether anything was said to him in connection with the settlement of the Odell Shipbuilding suit in regard to his appointment as ambassador to France. Mr. Hyde said that there wasn't; but that matter was first suggested to him about a year and a half ago by Mr. Frick.

Mr. Hyde testified in the morning session that Mr. Frick had approached him in the fall of 1904, and asked him for a contribution to the republican national committee. A payment of $25,000 Mr. Hyde said was then made to Cornelius N. Bliss. Mr. Hyde having brought the matter to President Alexander's attention and recommended its allowance. Subsequently the witness declared he learned there had been a previous payment of $25,000 while he was in Europe.

Mr. Hughes wanted to know what Mr. Frick said on the subject of the French ambassadorship.

"He suggested it. I never solicited it or sought it," was Mr. Hyde's reply. Then he added: "Naturally I would have been pleased if I had got it."

Sought to Get Rid of Him.

Mr. Hyde said that it was about a year and a half ago when Mr. Frick suggested the matter to him.

Q.—Did any other of the directors say anything to you about the ambassadorship? A.—Later—considerably later. I think their reasons for taking this extraordinary interest in my absence from this country have become obvious since then.

Q.—What do you mean by that? A.—I think they thought they could acquit themselves of their friendly duty of stewardship with great profit to themselves.

Q.—To whom do you refer? A.—To the person who suggested it.

Q.—Anybody else? A.—I think Mr. Harriman would not have looked on it with great regret. I say that seriously, although it seems to provoke a good deal of mirth.

Mr. Hyde said that he had talked with Mr. Schiff in regard to the ambassadorship last fall, but he wanted it distinctly understood that Mr. Schiff had nothing to do with the inception of the idea so far as he knew.

Q.—Did he support it later? A.—He said he would try to use his friendly offices.

Tickled by the Idea.

Mr. Hughes called for a more detailed statement in regard to this matter. Mr. Hdye said:

"Mr. Frick suggested the matter to me at a dinner this spring, before the election. I never solicited it and never had any idea of it. I believe it must have been along in January or February when he mentioned it, but I thought it was simply nothing more or less than pleasant and complimentary remarks and paid no more attention to it.

"He again came back with the suggestion when he said he thought I had qualifications to fill the post and he thought he could use the influence of his friends to procure it for me. I then told him it was an extremely serious step for me to take, but if he really meant business I would be glad to think it over, which I did.

"Then last fall on my return home I used the good offices of some of my friends. I will mention Mr. Schiff, whom I think I may speak of with perfect freedom. I asked him if he would indorse me for that post, and I then spoke to many people about it."

Q.—Did you go to Washington? A.—I went to Washington, to the White house.

Q.—With whom? A.—I went there by myself.

Q.—Did Mr. Harriman interest himself in any way in the matter? A.—He used his friendly offices in the matter.

Mr. Hyde said that Mr. Schiff, he thought, had had some conversation with Mr. Bliss in regard to the appointment and wrote a letter to the White house. Senator Depew, Mr. Hyde said, worked for him "in a general way," but Mr. Frick was an active agent.

Says Harriman Knifed Him.

Mr. Hughes asked the witness whether he had ever had any interview with Mr. Harriman in regard to the appointment of the Equitable's self-investigating committee, known as the Frick committee, or in regard to the work of that body.

"Mr. Harriman led me to believe through a mutual friend," replied Mr. Hyde, "that the report of that committee would be friendly to me and did everything he could to persuade me from selling my stock, at the same time doing everything on that committee to knife me and destroy the value of that stock."

"Those are serious statements, Mr. Hyde," said Mr. Hughes, gravely.

"Yes," replied the young financier, "and I have spent many sleepless nights reflecting upon them and long, sad days."

"Do you," inquired Mr. Hughes, "make this statement as a matter of reflection and conclusion?"

"Yes, sir," replied Mr. Hyde, in no uncertain tones.

"Or do you," continued Mr. Hughes, "base the statement upon any actual interviews with Mr. Harriman, or statements made?"

Promised a Fair Deal.

"Upon both—upon reflection and upon interviews," said Mr. Hyde.

Q.—What, in the way of actual statements, do you base that on? A.—Statements made to my counsel by two members of that committee.

Mr. Hyde said that he referred to William C. Gulliver as his counsel and to Mr. Harriman and Mr. Frick as the two members of the committee who had spoken to him.

Mr. Hyde said that Mr. Harriman had suggested the investigating committee, and in its "conception and inception" it was supposed to be friendly to him. He added that he did not refer to the word friendly in any wrong sense—what he meant was that it was supposed to be friendly if the facts would warrant such an attitude.

Q.—If the result justly reflected upon you, you were to take whatever criticism would come? A.—Naturally.

Q.—Was there anything said to you that led you to believe that there would be any partiality shown you by the committee? A.—No, sir.

Q.—You have said that the committee injured you? A.—I think so.

Conspired to Oust Him from Control.

Mr. Hyde said that he based this statement on his belief that the committee's investigation and its report was not fair in its details.

"I think," he declared, "that they did that by conspiracy—I say that word after considerable reflection—to deprive me of my rights and seize control of the society."

Q.—What right have you to think that, in view of the fact that you held control of the stock? A.—I think they were doing everything they could to destroy that, posing meanwhile as my friends, while on the other side I was being attacked by Mr. Alexander and his friends under the sham of mutualization.

"Your statements with regard to the efforts that were made to injure you," said Mr. Hughes, "are of serious import."

"Yes, sir," remarked Mr. Hyde.

Mr. Hughes continued: "In the effort to ascertain what I dare say is due to your feelings with reflection in regard to these matters, and what is due to facts to support the conclusion that you have reached, what facts have you within your knowledge which show any intention on the part of the Frick committee to deal with you unfairly?"

Tried to Depreciate Stock.

"I do not think," replied Mr. Hyde, "that their investigation was fair; neither do I think it complete."

Q.—Is there anything beyond your criticism of their scope of the investigation? A.—Yes, sir. After having done everything they could to destroy the market value of the stock——

Q.—What facts have you within your knowledge that they had any idea of buying your stock? A.—The conversation several members had with my counsel.

Mr. Hyde said that from the time Mr. Frick had been elected a member of the Equitable's executive committee, shortly before the controversy in the society began, he had endeavored absolutely to dominate the society and to inaugurate a reign of terror, such as Mr. Hyde had never seen before.

Declined to Support Report.

Mr. Hyde said Harriman asked him to move the adoption of the Frick committee report.

"I absolutely declined to do it," said Mr. Hyde, "as the report seemed to be condemnatory of everything that ever happened in the society and I was advised by my counsel that such a step would mean the throwing of the Equitable surely, where it seemed to be drifting at that moment, into the hands of a receiver."

The witness said he had had several offers for his stock in the society from others than Mr. Ryan and his reasons for selling to Mr. Ryan were set forth in his letter to the board at that time. This letter was made public last May and was introduced in evidence today. Mr. Hyde further said that there was no stipulation in the sale to Mr. Ryan nor restriction of any kind by which the stock would revert to him or by which he could regain possession of it.

Society in $50,000,000 Pool.

Mr. Hyde showed considerable feeling whenever he testified in regard to Mr. Harriman, but he was particularly bitter when it came to the $50,000,000 blind pool in Union Pacific preferred stock. He participated in this syndicate to the extent of $2,500,000. The entire transaction, he declared, was on the account of the Equitable society and not for himself individually.

Jacob H. Schiff, who was one of the syndicate managers, and others have maintained that they did not know until recently that the Equitable's money was being used in this five year holding agreement.

Mr. Hyde said that he had signed the syndicate agreement at the request of Mr. Harriman and after counsel for the Equitable society had gone over the papers in the transaction. He said that Harriman first talked with him in regard to the matter in November, 1902, in Harriman's office in the Equitable building.

Went In with Eyes Open.

"He asked me," said Mr. Hyde, "to go into the syndicate on behalf of the society. I said I would have to take it up with the president, which I did, and believe he had some conversation with Mr. Harriman on the subject."

Mr. Hughes wanted to know whether Mr. Harriman, when he invited Mr. Hyde to participate, had led him to understand that the purpose of the syndicate was simply to dispose of a certain number of securities or whether it was the intention of the syndicate managers that these securities should be removed from the market. Mr. Hyde said that Harriman explained to him that it was to be a holding syndicate.

Q.—And was it also explained by Mr. Harriman that the purpose of the syndicate was to facilitate the control of the property? A.—In an extremely general way.

The witness admitted, however, that that obviously was the purpose of the pool, as the capital stock of the Union Pacific road was only $100,000,000.

Referring to the letter which President Alexander of the Equitable had given him, indemnifying him against any loss in the syndicate, Mr. Hyde testified that Mr. Alexander personally suggested this to him.

Requested Individual Signature.

Mr. Hyde said that Mr. Harriman requested him to sign the agreement individually instead of in the name of the society. Mr. Harriman told him that all the other underwriters had signed individually, although some of these represented corporate interests.

"Why did he tell you to sign in that way?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"He said it was more expedient," was the witness' reply.

Q.—What was your understanding of the matter? A.—Merely that Mr. Harriman preferred to have it signed in that way. I suppose he had a good business reason.

Mr. Hyde said he never had had any interview with Mr. Schiff in regard to the Union Pacific holding syndicate.

"He has testified," said Mr. Hyde, "that he always considered me in an individual capacity in the matter. If he testified to that he probably believed it. But the Equitable checks in payment for the stock were sent to his firm, and if he had asked his son, who came to the society in regard to this matter he would have ascertained the facts.

Questions Schiff's Veracity.

Referring to Mr. Schiff's testimony that the records of the Equitable society were false if they recorded the sale of this Union Pacific preferred stock to the society by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Mr. Hyde said he could not see in what particular they were false. He was present at the meeting of the society's finance committee on Feb. 2, 1903, when the underwriting transaction was read off. Mr. Schiff also was present at this meeting. Mr. Hyde said that nobody objected to the purchase and so it was not disapproved. Mr. Hughes said that Mr. Schiff had testified that he did not hear this purchase read off.

"He is sometimes hard of hearing," remarked Mr. Hyde dryly.

Mr. Hyde said that Mr. Culliver was the lawyer who went up to Harriman's office with him and looked over the syndicate agreement before he signed it. He gave it as his opinion that the Union Pacific preferred syndicate purchasers were discussed informally at a meeting of the finance committee at which Mr. Schiff was present. So far as Mr. Hyde could say definitely he thought Mr. Harriman, Mr. Alexander, and himself were the only persons who had knowledge of the purport of the agreement.

Harriman Demanded Secrecy.

Referring to the visit which Mortimer Schiff, Mr. Schiff's son, made to the Equitable building in regard to the Union Pacific matter, Mr. Hyde said that William H. McIntyre had told him that young Mr. Schiff came to him and asked to have the Union Pacific preferred holdings changed on the company's books and in its annual statement from a syndicate account to an out and out purchase. Mr. Hyde said that he did not know the purpose of the change and that the matter appeared to worry Kuhn, Loeb & Co. more than it did the Equitable.

Mr. Hyde said that the matter had not been brought before the company's executive committee for its approval, as Mr. Harriman requested that this should not be done. This request was made before Hyde signed the syndicate agreement and Mr. Hyde said he conveyed the request to Mr. Alexander. The reason Harriman gave was that he wanted the pool kept as secret as possible.

"Did he say that in so many words?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"Yes, sir," was Mr. Hyde's reply.

Even Withstood Clamor.

Mr. Hyde said he did not know what Harriman's real reasons for wanting the whole matter kept secret were. He declared that Harriman refused to give up the syndicate agreement when Supt. Hendricks had asked for its last spring.

"How do you know that?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"Why," said Mr. Hyde, "Hendricks clamored to me to get me to get it from Harriman."

"And nothing came of the clamor?" said Mr. Hughes.

"No," replied Mr. Hyde.

Mr. Harriman's instructions, according to Mr. Hyde, were that the Union Pacific syndicate matter should go no further than to President Alexander.

Mr. Hughes brought out the fact that the loan of $2,700,000 of the Equitable to Mr. Harriman personally was made only six days before the Great Northern Pacific corner in which the magnate was vitally interested in May, 1901. The interest rate charged was 4 per cent and the loan was to run until Jan. 15, 1902.

It was renewed on that date for six months at 4 per cent. On July 15, 1902, it was renewed again for six months at the same interest rate. On Jan. 15, 1903, there was another renewal and the interest rate was boosted to 4½ per cent. On June 15 of that year it was renewed for seven months at 5 per cent.

Denied Special Favors; Gets Mad.

Mr. Hyde said that the loan was paid off on Jan. 15, 1904, by a check of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., as Mr. Harriman refused to pay the increased rate of interest which was then prevalent. The witness added that the executive committee suggested that this rate of interest should be charged and he had been instrumental in boosting it.

"Mr. Harriman got mad and paid it off," said Mr. Hyde.

At the time when the company asked a 5 per cent rate of interest Mr. Hyde said that the market rate was higher.

In explaining how it was that he considered himself worth $30,000 a year to the Equitable two years after his graduation from college Mr. Hyde explained that he had grown up in a life insurance atmosphere and that his father's theories had been instilled in him from his earliest youth. Mr. Hughes asked him whether he would have been willing to continue with the society at $75,000 when his salary was raised to $100,000.

"I don't think I could have got it anywhere else," said Mr. Hyde.

He declared, however, that he thought his services were worth the successive increases.

Helped Settle Blind Loan.

Mr. Hyde said he knew practically nothing about the notorious $685,000 loan account in the Mercantile Trust company or about any of the others of the Equitable's trustee accounts. All he had had to do with this "yellow dog fund" was, he said, in connection with the settlement of the account.

James W. Alexander, Mr. Hyde said, had come to him in the fall of 1902 and had stated that he and Thomas D. Jordan, the controller of the society, had incurred large expenses for the benefit of the society, and that he, as president, wanted Mr. Hyde, as vice president of the society, to write to the Mercantile Trust company a letter of indemnification.

Mr. Hyde did this, and as a result it had, he said, cost him $212,000. He had contributed this amount when representatives of Mr. Alexander and Mr. Jordan, the trustees of the loan, had come to him and told him that they could not get any more money, and he would have to help out. The amount put up by Alexander and Jordan was actually about $183,000, more than $210,000 having been realized through the sale of Equitable stock, which had been bought on the loan account from time to time, to Thomas F. Ryan.

Used to Fight Officials' Enemies.

Mr. Hyde said that the purposes of this loan account, as he understood them, were to ward off a suit to acquire the Equitable stock that was in the hands of those inimical to the company and to make political contributions. Mr. Hughes inquired whether it wasn't a fact that a large part of this $685,000 fund had been used in making good cash which had been paid by the Equitable cashier to Thomas D. Jordan. Mr. Hyde said that he couldn't say as to that.

The reasons for abandoning the practice of the Equitable in taking direct participation in syndicates, and participating under the name of James H. Hyde and associates, Mr. Hyde said, were twofold. One was the continuation of the Squire and Fitzgerald combination and the other the convenience of bankers, who preferred to offer their participations in a lump and enable them to distribute them about the Equitable building to the officers and allied institutions.

The witness did not remember that any participation under J. H. Hyde and associates was ever made to an individual not connected with the Equitable. Mr. Alexander decided the makeup of the "associates" in these syndicate participations. Mr. Hyde said he was consulted, but Mr. Alexander's decision was final.

Mr. Hyde was asked where W. H. McIntyre, former fourth vice president of the Equitable, was, and he replied that he had seen by the newspapers that he was in Boston. Mr. Hyde wrote him a letter there to the Hotel Touraine about a month ago.

Never Fixed Legislation.

In reply to Mr. Hughes, the witness said he had never consulted with Mr. Jordan in legislative matters. Up to a short time ago he owned a place in Suffolk county, which he since has sold, but he could not account for Mr. Jordan's instructions to Mr. Field, the "legislative generalissimo," as Mr. Hughes referred to him, with reference to a bill affecting Suffolk county. He said that while he was interested in water rights for fishing purposes, he was not a fisherman and none of the bills mentioned in Mr. Field's instructions were of personal interest to him in any way.

He knew nothing of a large part of the $685,000 loan going to the Equitable to pay for cash items drawn by Mr. Jordan. He knew nothing of the whereabouts of Mr. Jordan, and added "not even the enterprising American newspaper knows where he is."

Mr. Hyde submitted a statement showing that he actually has made a net loss on the syndicate transactions in which he has participated. With his loss in syndicates and the money which he has paid on account of the $685,000 loan deducted, his average salary as vice president of the Equitable amounts, he said, to only $27,697. If his salaries from the subsidiary companies are added his average yearly income from this source would be $38,000.

Harriman and Odell Will Be Called.

During the afternoon session the council chamber was so crowded that it was almost impossible to squeeze one's way from the witness stand to the doors.

Mr. Hyde will be called to the stand again tomorrow morning, and it was said that Mr. Harriman also would probably be examined in the course of the day. Should Mr. Hyde and Mr. Harriman show up before the committee at the same time the day's proceedings are sure to be of great interest.

It was said tonight that Chairman Odell probably would be called to the witness stand in view of Mr. Hyde's charges.

MUTILATED MONEY IS MISSING.

Responsibility for Loss Rests Between Corn Exchange National Bank and the Federal Subtreasury.

Capt. Thomas I. Porter of the secret service and private detectives for the Corn Exchange National bank are trying to solve the mystery of the disappearance of $900 in mutilated currency.

Assistant Treasurer William P. Williams of the subtreasury declares the bank is short that amount, but the bank officials say the subtreasury is responsible for the money because it was in a package containing $5,000 when sent to the government vaults.

"These misunderstandings often occur," said Mr. Williams. "The banks often are either short or over and, of course, in case of shortage they assert that they sent the exact amount until we show them wherein they erred. There is no feeling in the matter, as it is part of our business here."

were guaranteed us. We have set up as an American territory and purpose to maintain that status. Any person who has in his blood any of the spirit displayed by those in the Boston tea party will sympathize with us in our effort for freedom."

Washington in Embarrassing Position.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Administration officials believe the insurrectionary movement which has been started in the Isle of Pines has for its object American intervention and the development of a feeling which will prevent the ratification by the senate of the treaty for the cession of the island to Cuba. In other words, the movement is due to the conspiracy of interested persons who want the United States to break its word to Cuba and retain the island.

There are several hundred Americans who have gone into the island since Spain withdrew from the West Indies as a result of the war with America, and they and their friends ceaselessly have been agitating to have the president declare that under the treaty of peace signed in Paris the island was ceded and belongs not to Cuba but to this country.

The president has been bombarded with petitions from all sections and with complaints from Americans resident in the island that they are subjected to harsh treatment by the Cuban authorities. A campaign has been going on in almost every state in order to have senators instructed to vote against the treaty recognizing Cuba's ownership of the island.

The president has stood fast in his determination to push the treaty through, and he has received assurances from prominent senators that they will vote for the convention.

It is expected that the Cuban government will take energetic measures for the suppression of the insurrection. The United States will have to be neutral in spite of the fact that Americans are involved, but the situation is embarrassing because of the sentiment which will be aroused throughout the country in case American blood should be shed.

CRITICISES CUBAN ALARMISTS.

Havana Paper Says Rumors of Revolution Are Due to Officials—Palace Guard Increased.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—La Lucha criticises reports that are being circulated regarding a revolution, and says they are due to officials. It adds that it is time for needless alarms to cease. The government fears a revolution, such as occurred under the Spanish régime. The guard in the palace has been increased from ten to seventeen men. One explanation of the rumors is that they are due to speculators in stocks. Leading liberals claim to know nothing of any projected rising, and declare the reports are invented by officials.

ARREST LAWSON FOR LIBEL?

Warrant Ordered at Boston as Result of Article Published in Magazine.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 14.—The issuance of a warrant for the arrest of Thomas W. Lawson in connection with a suit for damages for alleged criminal libel brought by Clarence W. Barron of Boston was ordered by Judge Wentworth of the municipal court today. By agreement of counsel, however, the warrant will not be served until Saturday next, when Mr. Lawson will appear to answer to the charge.

Meanwhile, counsel for Lawson states, application will be made for the arrest of Barron, also on criminal libel. The allegations of Barron against Lawson are based upon statements made in a magazine article.

The counter charge grows out of alleged libelous matter against Lawson which has appeared in the market slips published by the bureau of which Mr. Barron is the head.

EDUCATORS TALK FOOTBALL; RESOLUTION LEFT ON TABLE.

Presidents of Universities Discuss Question of Brutality and Views of E. B. Andrews, but Take No Action.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—At the convention of presidents of universities today President W. O. Thompson of the Ohio State university introduced a resolution "deploring the brutality and waste of time" resulting from the game of football as it is now played. The resolution was discussed, together with the speech yesterday of Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews of the University of Nebraska commending this class of university athletics, practically all of the presidents taking part. At noon a motion to adjourn finally was adopted, thus tabling the football resolution permanently.

Officers were elected today as follows:

President—Richard H. Jesse, University of Missouri.

Vice president—Charles R. Van Hise, University of Wisconsin.

Secretary and treasurer—George E. Fellows, University of Maine, reëlected.

The convention indorsed the national university project, whose courses are designed for students and graduate studies only, and appointed a committee consisting of Presidents Baker, Buckham, and Thompson, to confer with members of the committee of 400 named by Mr. Hoyt of Colorado, the originator of the project.

NOVEMBER FOGS SPOIL LOUIS' BALL

Brilliant Function Marred by Cold Weather—Revelers Shiver on Floor.

MIXED CROWD IS PRESENT

Admiral-Prince Receives on Flagship—Society and Officialdom Well Represented.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The November weather is no friend of Anglo-American good feeling. The cold wave which swept in from the Atlantic tonight nearly spoiled the reception and dance given by Prince Louis of Battenberg aboard his flagship Drake.

It was no night for a ball under canvas. The dancing floor, which had been set up between the funnel and the aft bridge and over the engine room, was the only warm place on board. The quarter deck, which had been roofed over to accommodate the overflow, and the barbettes of the big guns, which had been turned into cozy corners for tête-à-têtes, were fairly arctic.

The guests were driven to the dancing floor, which presently became so crowded that, by the fourth dance, just twenty couples, by actual count, were rolling about in a little space which they had elbowed out in the center of the floor. The rest of the floor space was used for standing room.

Spoiled a Brilliant Function.

The turn of the weather hurt a pretty occasion. The flagship had been preparing for this dance ever since it came into port. First, the sailors had put down their dancing floor over the waist of the vessel. This was canopied over with striped red and white canvas, in tent effect. At its top this was caught up by a field of forty-eight white stars pricked out on a blue ground, for the stars of the American flag.

The gangways which led up to this floor were carpeted in red, and twined with red, white, and blue bunting. At either end of the room was a diving suit, blown up so that it stood upright. The two figures carried trays—one for lost articles, the other for programs.

Six life buoys, one for each ship of the fleet, were strung about the walls. They formed frames for concave mirrors, which made strange, distorted pictures of the highly colored crowd on the ballroom floor.

The field guns and machine guns of the Drake's equipment had been dragged to the rails of the ballroom, where they menaced the guests all evening long.

Compelled to Wear Wraps.

The guests began arriving a little after 9 o'clock. The first women to arrive left their wraps in the dressing rooms on the pier, shivered aboard, and struck the icy blast that romped through the cracks in the awnings on the quarter deck. They shivered a moment and sent their escorts back for their wraps.

They tried to promenade the decks, and, being assured by the officers that it was warmer up above, climbed to the ballroom. It was comfortable up there, so the wraps came off and were hung on the rails.

The crowd was mixed; even more so than at any of the other social doings which the prince has attended in New York. The officers of the Drake and a sprinkling of officers from the other British vessels attended as a matter of course. The American navy and the army had delegations. There were a few official personages and a good attendance of what is known as "society."

Prince Receives Informally.

At 10 o'clock Prince Louis, who had been dining on the Umbria with Lady Cunard, passed down the quarter deck with Lady Susan Townley and took his station at the head of the main gangway leading to the dancing floor.

It was easy to distinguish the English as they approached from the plain Americans. The English women curtsied low as they grasped the hands of the prince and her grace. The men made a deep bow and remembered to unglove their hands. The American women simply shook hands with cordiality and the men made an easy going affair of it. The manner of the prince rather discouraged formality. He said "Good evening" in a cordial tone that put all at ease.

There were sixteen dances on the program altogether. The floor was so crowded at first that only the young and giddy, mainly American ensigns and British middies with their partners, tried it at all.

Miss Roosevelt Doesn't Come.

All evening most people had been waiting for two things—the arrival of Miss Roosevelt and the prince's first dance. When supper time came the prince had not danced and Miss Roosevelt had not come.

At midnight the band struck up "The Roast Beef of Old England," and the prince proceeded in state toward the supper room, with Mrs. Evans on his arm. Rear Admiral Evans followed with Lady Towpley.

The only thing the matter with the prince's party was the weather.

SECRETARY SHAW IS CURIOUS.

Head of Treasury Department Seeks Data Concerning Subordinates' Private Affairs.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Secretary Shaw is accused of impertinence by his subordinates in the treasury department. He has sent around a circular asking the following questions:

Are you male or female?

Are you married or single?

How long have you been in the government service?

Approximately what is the aggregate of salary you have received from the government during your entire term of service?

Have you purchased a home?

At what price?

Is it paid for? If not, what amount have you paid thereon?

How much are you worth above your debts?

What proportion of this has been saved out of your salary?

How much are you in debt in excess of the value of your property?

Does your condition compel you occasionally to borrow money at exorbitant rates of interest?

One clerk remarked it was surprising the secretary had not asked how many teeth in his head were still sound. Mr. Shaw wants the information for a speech which he intends to make before the treasury branch of the civil service retirement association.

An Increase in deposits from 1896 to date, of 486 per cent, indicates the measure of public confidence reposed in this institution.

RUSSIA ON VERGE OF BIGGER STRIKE

Workmen of Empire Plan Another Desperate Struggle; Employers Defiant.

REVOLT AT VLADIVOSTOK.

City Is Pillaged by Mob and Many Are Slain in Fights with Troops.

BULLETIN.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 15.—In view of the condemnation to death of many of the sailors who mutinied at Cronstadt, the delay in carrying out the reforms outlined in the imperial manifesto, the proclamation of martial law in Poland, and other repressive acts, the council of workmen's delegates have decided to proclaim a general strike throughout Russia today.

All employers are determined to oppose the demand. The situation is critical.

BULLETIN.

TIFLIS, Nov. 14.—It is reported that in the government of Erivan 700 Armenians from a number of villages attacked the Tartar village of Gors, killed 400 of the villagers, and plundered and burned all property.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—Famine is raging in twenty-three provinces.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 15, 3 a. m.—Following an uprising resembling that in Cronstadt, but on a far greater scale, a state of war has been declared in Vladivostok.

While the latest official news from Russia's last harbor in the far east is to the effect that the rioting has been quelled, the situation is still considered of the utmost gravity. The loss of life has not been estimated, but it is known to have been great.

Dissipation of the soldiery precipitated the rioting. While it lasted, all reports say, the fighting was desperate, soldiers and sailors being engaged on both sides.

Fires Put City in Danger.

Fires were started in various parts of the city and some of the reports say the entire town is even now threatened with destruction.

Foreigners have taken refuge in the shipping in the harbor.

It is believed here that there is danger of a fresh outbreak today.

Consul Greener Reports Revolt.

The American embassy has received from Consul Greener at Vladivostok details of the outbreak, which began Sunday afternoon immediately after the departure of the Russian armored cruisers, Gromoboi and Rossia. The people who had gathered in great crowds in the streets became excited by inflammatory speeches.

Soldiers and sailors in the city were also in an angry mood, having expected to go home with the squadron.

The mob began to break windows and pillage, and in the evening set fire to the theater, the Golden Horn hotel, to several blocks of Chinese buildings in the northern part of the city, and to the officers' residences and other buildings in the eastern quarter. The fires burned all night. Seventy buildings were consumed.

Troops Fire on Crowds.

Troops were summoned to restore order and fired frequent volleys, killing many persons.

Mr. Greener added that twenty-four merchant vessels in the harbor were now crowded with inhabitants. The consul was on board a steamer when he sent his dispatch and he expects to remain there.

Wildest Rumors in City.

In spite of the complete embargo placed on all telegrams from Vladivostok, the news of the outbreak there leaked out of the navy and war departments late yesterday and became generally known throughout the city. Few details were available to the general public, and the city was filled with the wildest rumors as to what was occurring in the eastern fortress. One report circulated on the bourse today had the entire garrison and the sailors of all the ships in the harbor in an émeute. This, following on the heels of the mutiny at Cronstadt, contributed to the demoralization of the exchange.

While the information received goes to show that though order was today partly restored, a large part of the garrison stood firm and the crisis has not been passed. Fears are expressed in admiralty and general staff circles that mob violence has flared out again and that this will necessitate a further resort to armed force.

Rioting in Siberian Town.

YENISEISK, Siberia, Nov. 14.—The troops here were forced to intervene today and scatter a mob which was attacking the treasury, the police station, and the residences of the rich. The scarcity of food was one of the causes of the outbreak.

SITUATION IN THE PROVINCES.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—There has been little improvement in the agrarian situation in the central provinces. The peasants in many cases are fighting among themselves and organized bands are attacking villages of considerable size for the purpose of plundering them.

Cossacks Fire on Peasants.

CHERNIGOFF, Russia, Nov. 14.—While peasants were engaged in burning the farm buildings of a Cossack landowner, near the village of Ledneff, today, they were surprised by mounted infantry, who fired on them, killing or wounding many.

Town Sacked; 100 Killed.

ODESSA, Nov. 14.—News has reached here of fresh disorders in the small town of Krivoirog in the government of Ekaterinoslav, in which over a hundred persons were killed and the town sacked and half burned. A British consular clerk here was attacked on the street and robbed. Diplomatic representations on the matter are now being made.

Attack Mount Athos Monastery.

SUKHUMKALE, Government of Kutais, Caucasia, Nov. 14.—The noted monastery on Mount Athos, fifteen miles distant, was attacked today by a large predatory band. Troops were rushed to the scene and repulsed the attack, killing one of the band. Disorders broke out in this city this evening and there is constant firing of revolvers.

BIRILOFF'S LIFE THREATENED.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—Admiral Biriloff, minister of marine, is considering the expediency of executing as few as possible of the sailors who mutinied in Cronstadt. The sailors declare they will kill an officer for every mutineer shot, beginning with Admiral Biriloff. The officers also threaten to desert if the threat of shooting one in every ten mutineers is carried out.

STORM OVER WITTE'S HEAD

ULTIMATUM TO POLES BREEDS A FIERCE HOWL OF PROTEST.

Attack on Ukase by Premier's Organ Awakes Suspicion That Action Was Taken Over His Head — Rumored That Dread of Intervention by Germany Forced Imposition of Martial Law—Kaiser Reported Willing to Forcibly Pacify Poles.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1905: By the New York Herald.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—Premier de Witte's position has grown worse owing to his bureaucratic methods and delays. The ominous protest of that powerful league, the Union of Unions, against the ferocity of the ultimatum to the Poles is the significant feature in today's journals.

The Russ and the Nicjivaia also made a fierce attack on the ukase concerning Poland. As the latter is supposed to be Premier de Witte's organ, this is regarded as showing a probability that the action regarding Poland was taken over his head.

Wild rumors are flying as to the reason for this volte face, it being known that a few days ago autonomy was as good as agreed upon. One of the rumors is to the effect that Kaiser Wilhelm has undertaken to pacify Poland forcibly on condition that Germany is allowed to occupy it for ten years.

Martial Law Due to Kaiser?

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Nov. 14.—According to trustworthy information it was the dread of German intervention that prompted the adoption of martial law in Poland. It is reported on all sides that it was the czar's intention to endow Poland with autonomy. That may have caused the kaiser to renew his offer, which, according to good authority, he had already made to the czar at their interview at Bjorkoe—namely: that of the eventual intervention of the German army in Russian Poland.

Poland Between Two Evils.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—Count de Witte today received from the Warsaw committee of the social democracy of Poland and Lithuania an indignant telegraphic denial of the charge that the present movement in Poland is designed to secure separation. The dispatch said:

"The official note justifying the proclamation of martial law in Poland as ostensibly for the purpose of frustrating a separatist movement is a criminal maneuver of the government, intended to divide the Polish from the Russian revolutionary movement. We call attention to the fact of the authorities having drowned our revolutionary processions in blood and having allowed full freedom to other Polish demonstrations at which the white eagle was displayed, and where Sienkiewicz and other orators pleaded with the workmen to return to their shops and restore peace. We affirm that the revolutionary Polish proletariat, together with the revolutionary Russian proletariat, seek common freedom and not separation."

The Poles here also deny that they desire separation, understanding fully that Poland is between the hammer and the anvil.

Peasants Attack Looters.

WARSAW, Nov. 14.—At Pultusk, in this government, the peasants organized for the purpose of driving out or lynching the thieves who took advantage of the present disturbances to loot and plunder. The lynchers killed eleven and fearfully mutilated twenty of the thieves.

Military authorities here have again forbidden railway strikers to hold meetings. Five hundred bank clerks held a meeting today and resolved to continue their strike. The management of the gas works has announced that the supply of gas shortly will be exhausted. Disorder is still rampant. Poor people are suffering untold privations. Supplies are scarce and coal and kerosene command fabulous prices.

POLISH STUDENTS IN REVOLT.

LEMBERG, Austria, Nov. 14.—A report that Germany, in the event of a revolution in Russian Poland, intended to assist Russia to supress it, led to serious street riots tonight in which several students and policemen were wounded. A thousand Polish students, after holding a meeting of protest, proceeded with flags and torches to make a demonstration against the German and Russian consulates. The police attempted to prevent the students carrying out their program and this led to vigorous fighting. The consulates are strongly guarded, as the students threaten to renew the demonstration.

AID NOW READY FOR JEWS

TRAVELING COMMISSION APPOINTED TO RELIEVE DISTRESS.

Conference of Wealthy Jews from Paris, Berlin, and St. Petersburg Is Held in London and Plans Made for Energetic Campaign of Charity—Rothschilds to Act as Bankers for Money Received from All Parts of the World.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Rich and prominent Jews of London, Paris, Berlin, and St. Petersburg at a conference under the presidency of Lord Rothschild held here today planned an energetic ampaign for the relief of suffering Jews in Russia.

The conference appointed an influential traveling commission to visit all points in Russia where disturbances have occurred. This commission will report to the central bureau, established at Berlin, where all the statistics will be collected.

Relief funds wi.. be forwarded from the banking house of the Messrs. Rothschild.

Whitechapel Jews Express Horror.

At a massmeeting of the Jews of the Whitechapel held tonight there was a repetition of the scenes witnessed at other like meetings in various parts of London. Sir Robert Threshie Reid, former attorney general, who presided, expressed the sympathy of all Christians with the persecuted Jews in Russia, and said:

"If I had one drop of Jewish blood in my veins I would not rest until I founded a city of refuge in which the men and women of your race could find shelter from destruction."

Israel Zangwill, who made an impassioned speech, introduced a resolution which was passed unanimously expressing indignation and horror at the outrages. The resolution declared that the establishment of an autonomous Jewish colony for the gradual reception of oppressed Jews was the only solution of the Russo-Jewish question.

The sum of $425,000 has been subscribed here. In addition to this $50,000 was cabled from America this afternoon.

Fund in New York Now $188,000.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The fund for the relief of Jewish widows and orphan children in Russia steadily is growing. All the money is turned over to Jacob H. Schiff, treasurer of the committee having the relief work in charge. Up to tonight a total of about $188,000 had been received here. Today's receipts alone footed up to nearly $41,000. Other collections not yet forwarded, but held for accumulation at Chicago, Denver, Philadelphia, Boston, Minneapolis, and other large cities, are said to aggregate nearly $75,000.

St. Louis wired today that the local fund there had reached $16,000, and that as soon as a total of $20,000 had been collected it would be forwarded. In Newark the local committee announces its intention of raising $15,000. More than $6,000 has been collected there.

The concern New York feels for the Russian Jews was shown today when the board of aldermen passed a resolution calling on the president "to exert his wonderful influence even though unwarranted by diplomatic precedent," to bring about a cessation of the massacres.

Appeal Made in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14.—The citizens' permanent relief committee of this city met today, and, through Mayor Weaver, chairman, issued an appeal to all citizens, irrespective of creed, to aid in the relief of the suffering Jews in Russia.

BALFOUR THREATENS TO QUIT.

Premier Disgusted with Dissensions in Unionist Camp—Warns Followers of Disasters in Elections.

LONDON, Nov. 15, 3 a. m.—In a speech to his followers at the conference of the National Union of Conservative Associations at Newcastle, last night, Premier Balfour plainly hinted at the possibility of his retirement from the leadership of the party. Some of the newspapers this morning look upon his utterance as a threat to throw the unionist party overboard if desertions continue with regard to the fiscal policy.

In the course of his speech, Mr. Balfour declared frankly that he was not afraid of the opposition, but of his own friends. With great deliberation and emphasis, he added:

"I am here to say exactly what I think about the situation, and I mean to say it. There is no use of having a leader unless you mean to follow him. I speak here as your leader for the time being and my advice is to forget differences which are outside of the practical politics of the hour. If you reject my advice disaster will overtake our cause."

He reiterated he was not a protectionist. He said that the government must be given a free hand to retaliate against unfair foreign competition by the preferential treatment of colonial goods.

Judging by the editorials in this morning's papers, there is small likelihood of the premier's appeal having the desired effect. His supporters in the press complain that he still gives no definite lead upon which the unionists can go before their constituencies.

SWELLS THE RELIEF FUND

COMMITTEE'S WORK ADDS $7,601 DURING DAY.

Total Contributed by Chicago for Russian Jews Now Nearly $27,000 and Plans Are Made to Go Far Above the $100,000 Originally Planned—Large Benefit Performance to Be Given in the Auditorium Tuesday, Dec. 12.

Activity in every section of the city added $7,601 yesterday to the local fund for the relief of Jews in Russia, and preparations almost completed for a theatrical benefit in the Auditorium Dec. 12 are expected to result in bringing the amount contributed by Chicagoans far above the $100,000 originally aimed at by the workers.

The increase of almost $8,000 in the day's donations, as tabulated by the treasurer of the relief committee, is expected to continue during the week. The total amount was $26,933 when the list was compiled at 5 o'clock, but committees at work in every part of the city added many hundreds of dollars later in the evening.

Some Larger Donations.

Among the donations of $100 or more sent to Mr. Greenebaum yesterday were:

Previously reported	$19,312	North Chicago Hebrew cong'egat'n$	150

L. Loewenstein & Sons	150
Kuh, Nathan & Fischer	200
Samuel Schweitzer	100	Total	$26,913

Hundreds of contributions ranging in amounts from less than a dollar to numbers approaching three figures were received.

Plans for Benefit Performance.

The lessees of the Auditorium and many of the leading theatrical managers of the city were approached on the proposition of a benefit matinée for the sufferers, and the committee, headed by I. A. Loeb and Ald. Foreman met with ready acquiescence in the matter, Dec. 12 has been selected as the date and volunteers from every company playing in the city that week are expected and will make the affair one of the most pretentious offerings of the season.

A circular letter was sent yesterday to all the members of the bar in Chicago. It read:

"It is expected that the lawyers of Chicago will do their share toward giving immediate relief to sufferers from the recent Russian outrages upon the Jews. The undersigned have been appointed on a committee to solicit contributions. It is not possible for us to call on the lawyers personally, nor is it necessary in our judgment to enlarge upon the importance of immediate aid on the part of every one who is able to give. The cause pleads for itself."

The letter was signed by Eli B. Felsenthal as chairman and Israel Cowen, Hugo Pam, Lessing Rosenthal, Adolf Kraus, and Levy Mayer.

A meeting of the executive committee is scheduled for tomorrow evening at the Standard club to receive reports and to check up the accounts of the relief committee.

On the west side a number of meetings have been arranged for each evening of the week.

Women Agree to Raise $1,000.

One hundred women Russian revolutionist sympathizers met at 47 Johnston street last evening and organized the Women's Russian Aid Auxiliary association. The women have pledged themselves to raise $1,000 to be forwarded to Russia at the close of the month.

The Friends of Russian Freedom, a new society, will give a Russian play, followed by a ball, Saturday evening in the West Side auditorium, Center avenue and Taylor street. The play to be presented will be "Predlozhenie," and all the performers will be native Russians. Peter Sissman is chairman of the society.

MONARCHY WINS, FOUR TO ONE.

Norway's Vote Return Shows 254,899 Against and 68,262 For Republic —Charles to Be Offered Crown.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

CHRISTIANIA, Nov. 14.—The returns of the vote taken on Monday show 254,899 votes for a monarchy and 68,262 for a republic.

This includes all Norway except fifteen small districts from which returns have not been received.

The government will inform Prince Charles of Denmark of the result tomorrow, and a deputation of seven members of the storthing will go to Copenhagen to offer him the crown.

WOMEN CONVERTS ARE LASHED

Chinese at Tseungchau Flog Christians to Show Hatred of Foreign Missionaries—Feeling More Intense.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HONGKONG, Nov. 14.—The feeling among the Chinese against foreign missionaries is growing. Following the massacre of Americans at Lienchau comes news that the women converts attached to the American Baptist mission at Tseungchau have been beaten, receiving 2,000 strokes with a lash.

BOMB OUTRAGE IN TURKEY

EXPLOSION IN PERA QUARTER OF CONSTANTINOPLE.

Authorities of Sultan's Metropolis Refuse to Give Any Information as to Crime—Scene of Reported Affair Is in District of Consulates and Embassies—Military School, Artillery and Infantry Barracks Near Foreign Legation Buildings.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14.—A bomb outrage was perpetrated today in the Pera quarter. The authorities will not permit particulars to be sent at present.

Pera Is Foreign Section.

Pera is the foreign quarter of Constantinople. It is across the Golden Horn from Stamboul, the old town, and lies on the north shore of the Bosporus. Besides the embassies, there are in Pera a score of public buildings belonging to Europeans, such as a British hospital and a German school. The European hotels and residences are all in this district.

At the north end of Pera and on the banks of the Bosporus is the Dolma Baghcheh, imperial palace, the scene of the coup d'état which deposed Sultan Abdul Aziz in 1876.

The embassies are in the center of Pera. The most imposing is that of Germany, which is exceeded in dimensions only by the palace of the sultan. It stands on high ground and may be seen from all parts of the city. The United States legation stands at the corner of Grand rue de Pera and Asmalie Medjid. The Russian embassy is a large building surrounded by a high wall and has a hospital in connection with it. The Austrian embassy stands close to the Russian, as do the Swedish, Dutch, and Italian embassies.

Naval Arsenal Near.

The British embassy is three-quarters of a mile north of the others, where it occupies a prominent place in a square. Near the embassy are the municipal building and the assembly gardens. Along the shores of the Golden Horn are the admiralty buildings and the naval arsenal.

The military school and the artillery and infantry barracks lie on the north border of the Pera district, and just outside to the north are the Armenian hospital and cemetery and the Catholic church.

ARRESTS OF THE INITIATORS EXPOSES VICIOUS BOYS' CLUB.

"Iodine" Organization Among Randolph Vt., High School Pupils Conducted for Purpose of Torture.

Randolph, Vt., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Andrew Fritts, a high school boy, who was beaten while resisting enforced initiation into the Iodine club, caused the arrest of his assailants and so disclosed the character of the initiation, which has shocked the town.

The four boys arrested range from 16 to 20 years of age, and organized the club for vicious sport only. Initiates are secured under threats of beatings. Then they are stripped and their bodies painted with iodine.

Out of thirty-eight boys in the high school all but four have been initiated. When Fritts was captured he fought hard, with the result he received a black eye, a badly swollen face, and other injuries. He reported the matter to his father and the arrests and exposure followed.

STUDENT CASE TO GRAND JURY.

New Investigation of Kenyon College Tragedy Will Begin on Friday.

Mount Vernon, O., Nov. 14.—The case of Stuart Pierson, the Kenyon college student, will be submitted to the grand jury on Friday. Further evidence that young Pierson was bound to the railroad track has been secured by Prosecutor Stillwell and Coroner Scarborough. They have made a thorough examination of the clothing worn by Pierson on the night he met his death. The coroner says that the wrists and ankles of Pierson's underclothing were examined particularly and about 100 small particles of rope fiber were found by the use of a powerful microscope. The fibers were not found on the outer side of the garments, but were imbedded in the cloth so deeply that they had to be pulled out.

CALLS COLLEGE BOYS SAVAGES.

University Professor Compares Fraternity Initiations with the Barbarous Practices of Nero and King Herod.

The initiation tactics of college fraternities were criticised sharply yesterday in an address before the Sociology club in Fine Arts building by Prof. Charles R. Henderson, instructor in sociology, Chicago university, who compared the extreme method of tying a prospective member on a railroad track, with the savage methods of Nero and King Herod. Prof. Henderson also placed labor unions in a new light by maintaining that they have a biblical origination, with Moses as the first and greatest of union leaders.

Prof. Henderson also compared the employment of child labor with the inhumanities practiced in antiquity.

SHAW IN ROAST OF PLAY CRITICS.

Sponsor for "Mrs. Warren's Profession" Ridicules New Yorkers.

HE SAYS IT IS TO LAUGH.

Purpose Not to Teach Moral Lessons, but to Portray Life as He Finds It.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—G. Bernard Shaw, after seeing Police Commissioner McAdoo's letter in a New York paper of Nov. 3 and the full comments of the American newspapers, writes:

"I would rather not talk about the 'Mrs. Warren's Profession' incident. It is extremely serious and I feel seriously about it. Unfortunately, in London it got studded over with little gems of fun that make it difficult to maintain perfect and becoming gravity. The news got on the wrong lines, because the first announcement in the Times said what really would crush and humiliate me was New York's discovery that my play was dull. That was an unlucky touch of incredibility, for in England my dullnesses, which are frequent enough, are roared at as prime jokes, which reduced the whole piece of news to an absurdity for every reader but myself.

Fun Comes in Chunks.

"The next notice quoted a critic as saying that after seeing my play he would not allow any of his relatives to speak to any of mine, which, of course, simply doubled up every reader in hysterical cachinnations. Then your police commissioner rushed into print, and said the only parts of the play which did not bore him were the indecent parts. Of course, the unfortunate gentleman did not mean this, but it amuses the public and they laugh as he did.

"Now comes his letter to a woman, a brave and honorable woman, who paid him the high compliment of letting him know what she thought of the affair, in which, having reviled my play for teaching the public too much, he recommends the sermon on the mount and the ten commandments because they teach a great deal more.

"There is a sort of fate entangling the enemies of 'Mrs. Warren's Profession.' The commissioner was in a sufficiently difficult position in any case. He did not attempt to deny the play was true to nature, but he had to contend that a knowledge of the things mentioned in it must deprave and brutalize. Now, it is a policeman's profession to know all these things and be in contact with them, so if the commissioner's contention is valid he himself is a depraved person and entirely unfit to act as the moral censor of New York.

Call Their Ignorance Purity.

"As a matter of fact, it is these people who know about these things, who are humane and understand that the victims of them are humans, and often quite amiable ones.

"Look at the things said about poor Mrs. Warren. What is Mrs. Warren to a Christian, if such a thing exists in America? She is to the last 'The temple of the Holy Ghost.' To a policeman she is a criminal who either can be arrested or blackmailed, according to his sense of duty or his needs. To a man of honor she at least is a fellow creature with alienable human rights, but to the New York theatrical journalist she is a piece of mere foulness in the gutter, disgusting and loathsome."

Criticisms Worst of All.

"Really, I do not wish to be offensive, especially as I have been so severely provoked, but where do you get your journalists? Some of our own are bad enough in all conscience, but, well, I put it to you whether you would not read 'Mrs. Warren's Profession' aloud in any company ten times rather than the New York notices once. You can hardly imagine how incredible it is to Londoners that the commissioner of police should write sensational articles about a play and get them published in the papers as 'reports.' That he should force a manager to withdraw a play by threatening to drag the actresses in it into a police court on a charge of indecency under a statute which makes it a criminal offense for any American woman to wear a new hat or wash her face is a thing beyond all belief here.

"As to the climax in the publication of letters from ladies to the commissioner with his replies at full length one can only gasp in wonder whether it really happened. Pray do not misunderstand me. I am not alluding to the quality of Commissioner McAdoo's letters, their contradictions, confusions, and reckless inaccuracy in regard to what he writes he has seen and the repetitions of idle rumors in regard to what he has not seen. What I mean is the public scandal of a responsible official using his reports and correspondence as copy for newspapers and writing them in accordance with the style of the yellowest yellow journalism. Such a thing in England would ruin a prime minister, much less the chief inspector of police.

Deserve Worse than Comstock.

"Your Mr. Corbin is, I think, wrong in reproaching me for not having given that romantic charm to the play which would have adulterated it unbearably to those who know the charm of a subject is its curse.

"Norman Hapgood, too, has shown there still is some public spirit and esprit de corps left in American literature, but the rest, hallooing for Comstock and McAdoo to arrest Miss Hearne and Miss Shaw, really deserve worse than Comstock probably will some day do to them.

"As regards the play, we have no further explanations to offer except it is a mistake to suppose my business to teach moral lessons. My business is to interpret life by taking the events occurring in haphazard daily experience and sorting them out so as to show their real significance and interrelation. Nothing in ordinary life tells a man when he is buying a box of matches that he is driving some woman at the other end of New York, whom he never saw and never will see, on to the streets. My place teaches him that. Having learned it, he can draw what moral lesson he is capable of from it. Anybody who believes he would draw better ones or be a better man from believing the sole relation between him and the woman at the other end of New York is merely the relation between wholly disconnected social facts—one highly moral and respectable and the other vicious and disgusting—is—excuse the phrase I am going to use, which I am using in a scriptural sense and not expletively—hopelessly a damned fool."

Rulers of the World.

Meat Eating Nations Are the Leaders in Every Branch of Human Achievements.

The ruling nations of the world are meat eaters and history records that they always have been.

Vegetarians and food cranks may explain this in any way they choose, but the facts remain that the Americans, English, French, Russians and Germans are meat-eating nations, and they are also the most energetic and most progressive.

The principal food of the heroic Boer soldier, known as biltong, is a sort of dried beef, affording a great deal of nourishment in a highly concentrated form.

The weak races of people are the rice-eating Chinese, Hindoos, and Siamese, regarded since the dawn of history as non-progressive, superstitious and inferior physically and mentally to the meat-eating nations who dominate them.

The structure of the teeth plainly indicates that human beings should subsist upon a variety of food, meat, fruit and grains, and it is unhygienic to confine one's diet to any one of those classes to the exclusion of another.

Meat is the most concentrated and most easily digested of foods, but our manner of living is often so unnatural that the digestive organs refuse to properly digest meat, eggs, and similar nutritious and wholesome food, but it is not because such food is unwholesome, but the real reason is that the stomach lacks, from disease or weakness, some necessary digestive element; hence arising indigestion and, later on, chronic dyspepsia.

Nervous people should eat plenty of meat, convalescents should make meat the principal food, hard-working people have to do so, and brain-workers and office men should eat, not so much meat, but at least once a day, and to insure its perfect digestion one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should be taken after each meal, because they supply the peptones, diastase and fruit acids, lacking in every case of stomach trouble.

Nervous dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, gastritis, sour stomach, gas and acidity are only different names for indigestion, the failure to digest wholesome food, and the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cures them all because, by affording perfect digestion, the stomach has a chance to rest and recover its natural tone and vigor.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the real household medicine; it is as safe and pleasant for the stomach ache of the baby as it is for the imperfect digestion of its grand sire.

They are not a cathartic, but a digestive, and no pill habit can ever follow their use; the only habit Stuart's Tablets induce is the habit of good digestion and, consequently, good health.

Diamond News

The following article from the Jewelers' Circular of November 8th, last issue:

ANTWERP, Oct. 26.—Business here continues excellent and all regular lines of cut diamonds are sold as soon as finished. Several merchants are holding back their stock goods, as they expect higher prices at the beginning of next year.

Remember we told you this four weeks ago, and we again remind you to buy diamonds now.

We still have a few left of those twin Tiffany 14-karat Rings,)like cut).

¼-carat Diamond Rings $17.50.

½-carat Diamond Rings $35.00.

BURKE ASSUMES I. M. O. MANTLE.

Ex-Oil Inspector Begins to Organize Party Clubs in Aid of Mayor.

WANT THE "LID" LIFTED.

Dunne's Political Advisers Say It Would Be Wisdom to Relax a Bit.

Robert Emmet Burke, ex-oil inspector, started out to build up his democratic organization yesterday in aid of Mayor Dunne. As first lieutenants he appointed Luke P. Colleran, ex-chief of detectives; Timothy O'Shea, ex-deputy building inspector; Thomas Gallagher, ex-member of the board of education; Daniel J. McMahon, ex-attorney for the board of education; P. J. Cook, ex-alderman; John T. Keating, ex-member of the board of education; T. F. Kiernan, ex-city hall employé, and a few others.

Then a "call" was issued in the name of the "progressive democracy" and an advertisement given out for publication, outlining a method of organization in eighteen wards.

Text of Party Call.

This "call of the exs" was couched in the following language:

"Attention, democrats: All democrats residing in the following named wards, who desire to join the County Democracy, are requested to write to or communicate with the persons named below. Object, to organize a Progressive Democracy club in every ward in Chicago. Also send your name and address to Thomas Gallagher, president, or Robert E. Burke, secretary, County Democracy, 145 East Randolph street."

Then follows the list of wards in which the organization is being formed, with the names of the men who have been intrusted with the extension of I. M. O. democracy.

While Mr. Burke thus was putting his O K. on immediate municipal ownership, Mayor Dunne denied that he had invested the ex-oil inspector with vice regal authority. This did not seem to discourage Mr. Burke. He is proceeding to organize just the same. The mayor did not deny his friendly relations with Burke. He said he did not propose to appoint him custodian of the political fortunes of the municipal ownership democratic organization.

Any arrangement with Burke which would give the mayor the benefit of his recognized abilities as a political organizer and which at the same time would not associate the castoff Harrison organizer with the mayor publicly would be to Dunne's political advantage, as is generally admitted.

Burke's Ward Organization.

Burke's activities concerned the following wards, which are given with the names of the men he has placed in charge of his proposed organization in each:

2—P. J. Cook.
4—Thomas F. Kiernan.
5—Timothy O'Shea.
6—P. A. Hines.
6—H. E. L. Loggett.
7—John T. Keating.
11—Daniel J. McMahon.
13—James N. Tilton.
19—Thomas Gallagher.
21—L. Nathan.
22—M. E. Hughes.
23—M. J. Benson.
24—John Haderlein.
26—Lee Smith.
27—John A. King.
28—Peter A. Foote.
34—Luke P. Colleran.
35—G. C. Griffiths.

A number of these men were discharged from the city employment during Harrison's administration—some of them after they had been the subject of charges before the civil service commission.

Urged Lifting of "Lid."

Not only Mr. Burke but a number of the mayor's advisers of a different type have urged him strongly to let up on the "lid" proposition. He has been told many times in the last few weeks that the saloons, the gamblers, and the disreputable classes should not be crowded too hard. He has been advised to insist on honesty in the execution of city contracts and not to permit politicians to get their fingers in city business affairs, but at the same time to lift the lid a little.

Although the mayor proved obdurate and has refused to yield, the word has gone out to the gamblers and saloonkeepers that better times are coming.

Dunne's personal character is decidedly opposed to any such temporizing on matters which he believes are vital to good government, but he has been told that if he considers municipal ownership a paramount issue he will have to sacrifice some other "ideals" in favor of the proposition he considers the most important, and that he is jeopardizing I. M. O. by sitting on the "lid."

Meets Harrison Tactics.

He is meeting the aggressive tactics of the old Harrison crowd by taking counsel with their enemies to remove them from the last remnants of political power in the city hall. He had a conference during the day with Frank Wenter, John E. Owens, and other politicians.

That Mr. Wenter, the defeated candidate for president of the sanitary board, will receive a city hall appointment is pretty well conceded. Mayor Dunne believes that his own enemies were responsible largely for Mr. Wenter's defeat. The latter has been mentiond for the board of local improvements, to take the place either of George Schilling or John Minwegen.

Law Department Changes.

First Assistant Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton resigned to join Maj. Edgar B. Tolman and Robert Redfield in a law partnership, the firm to be Tolman, Redfield & Sexton. Mr. Sexton could have retained his place in the much troubled legal department if he had wanted to. Mr. Redfield, who was special assessment attorney, left the city service on Monday. Col. Lewis does not know from one day to another what assistants he has under him. The ones he discharges have a way of coming back the next day, and the ones he appoints have a way of getting fired by the mayor.

The last passage at arms in the office was supposed to relieve the law department of M. W. Meagher and Edward J. Green and to have reinstated W. D. Barge. When Col. Lewis floated vibrantly into his office yesterday he discovered Mr. Meagher at his desk giving a first class imitation of a man willing to work.

For a moment Mr. Lewis thought this was another case of a discharge which refused to "take," but on inquiry he discovered that it was Mr. Meagher's intention to report for the rest of the month and draw a full month's salary. He did not seem to be about to refuse to be discharged. He merely insisted on being given notice.

Meagher and Green now look to the mayor for new appointments. Monday morning at 10 o'clock the mayor succumbed to the arguments of Mr. Lewis and agreed that the latter should be allowed to run his office as he saw fit. No sooner had this concession been granted than the colonel hustled, light footed and hot footed, for his office. Immediately there presented themselves at Mayor Dunne's inner door. Meagher and Green, legal advocates of I. M. O. They said they wanted a job.

"But you have jobs," replied the astonished mayor.

"We've been fired," they said.

The mayor looked at his watch. It was 10:15. Mr. Lewis had accomplished it in fifteen minutes.

Republican Precinct Elections.

Republican precinct clubs throughout the city met last night to nominate officers for the precinct club elections to be held Nov. 21. The club elections will be held the week following.

Attorney E. L. Reeves, acting with Attorney Henry Schofield, filed a petition for an injunction to restrain the city council from appropriating money to carry out the provisions of the municipal courts act. This legislation is attacked as unconstitutional.

RECORD OF THE VOTE IN OFFICIAL CANVASS.

The canvass made by the election commissioners of the vote cast in the election on Nov. 7 shows few important changes from the police returns and indicates that there was little or no fraud either in the balloting or in the counts made by the judges and clerks.

Judge Gary lost 55 votes in the Twelfth ward and was the only candidate whose vote in any of the wards completed was reduced by the canvass.

Slight additions to the votes of candidates were made in several of the wards, the largest gain being made by Ball, republican candidate for judge of the Superior court, whose total in the Fourteenth ward was increased by 104 votes.

The canvass is progressing rapidly and it is believed the totals for all the wards will be completed by Thursday. Following is the result of yesterday's canvass:

TRACTION DEAL AT A DEADLOCK.

Council Committee and Companies Almost Break Off Negotiations.

WILL MEET AGAIN TODAY.

Dispute Is Over Demand of City for Right to Reject an Appraisement.

It was a question last evening whether all negotiations between the street railway companies and the city over franchise ordinances were not to end then and there. The committee on local transportation and the companies could not agree on a matter which the companies regarded as fundamental and the breakup was avoided only by the suggestion of Col. E. R. Bliss for the Chicago City company that everybody take a night to sleep over the dispute. So it was put over until this morning.

The point in dispute was an amendment to the ordinance which in effect would give the city the right, after it had ordered an appraisement of the street car properties for the purpose of buying them, of rejecting the appraisement.

John P. Wilson, for the south side company, was on his feet at once.

"It must be understood," said he, "that the company cannot accept this amendment. The offer of the company is to sell if the city really wants to buy, but it cannot consent to having an appraisement made every year or every six months for the city to accept when it gets one which it thinks a bargain. The rule in all matters of this kind is that when a person elects to buy he must stand by his contract, and if he does not buy then he is debarred from trying again."

"It is the law in eminent domain proceedings," said Ald. Finn, "that a buyer can reject an appraisement by a jury."

"The law is entirely the other way," replied Mr. Wilson. "The law is that if a person seeks to acquire property through the right of eminent domain and he does not elect to take it, then he cannot make another trial. He has had his day in court."

Suggests Limit on Appraisements.

Ald. Foreman suggested that it might be arranged that a certain limitation on the number of appraisements the city might ask could be specified in the ordinance—say, one every five years—and President Mitten of the railway company answered him by saying:

"This is a business proposition and what the company is seeking is to know exactly where it stands in the contract it is seeking to make with the city. It is willing to concede a large number of things, but it must know where it gets off. Otherwise it will never be able to finance the proposition."

"The people will not accept the ordinance without this amendment," said Ald. Raymer. "The city is entitled to something for what it is giving to the company."

"You are not really giving us anything but the right to operate in outlying territory," retorted President Mitten, and Ald. Zimmer rejoined: "I think the city is giving the company a great deal in extending its present franchises."

"Yes," said Ald. Finn, "the city's legal advisers have shown us where we could get a complete street car system with franchises which have already expired." He was speaking of the mayor's "contract plan."

"In my opinion," replied Mr. Wilson, "the lawyers for the city are not within gunshot of the truth. At any rate, Mr. Mitten's legal advisers have told him that that plan will not hold in law."

Ald. Foreman again insisted that the company agree to an appraisement of its property every so often, and Ald. Bennett suggested that it was the rule on long leases.

"Yes," came back Mr. Wilson, "but the contract there is that when the appraisement is made it shall be lived up to. What you are asking of us is that an appraisement shall be had every time the city wants one, and if the city does not think the price a good one it can order another. It is idle to talk about such a proposition."

Bliss Suggests Adjournment.

Then the aldermen and the representatives of the companies looked at each other and for a moment nothing was done or said. It looked like a deadlock. Receiver Sampsell of the Union Traction company went over to talk with President Mitten of the Chicago City, but Mr. Mitten only shook his head. Finally Col. Bliss said:

"It seems to us that this amendment is eminently unfair. The company believes the city should not make any false moves. If it wants to buy, all right, we will sell. But it should not pretend to want to buy when it does not intend to. I think if the aldermen will sleep over the matter they will see the justice of the case. I would ask that it go over until tomorrow morning."

This was agreed to and the committee adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

Subway Clause to Be Changed.

Previously the committee had ordered a redraft of the clause in the ordinance providing for the use by the company of any subway the city might in the future build. The objection made by the company was that as the clause stood it might be possible for the city to order all its cars into the subway and give the surface rights to some other corporation. Engineer Arnold and Special Counsel Plumb and Smith were instructed to redraft the clause to meet the objection.

An amendment providing that car lines be extended at the order of the council where there was an average of 150 families a mile to be served in three miles was adopted. Ald. Zimmer wanted all limitations on the amount of travel stricken out, but Col. Bliss objected:

"There is now pending in the council," said he, "an ordinance which I understand was introduced at the instance of Henry G. Foreman, which seeks to compel us to extend our lines to a certain park. It is nominally for the purpose of allowing people to get to the park. Really it is to help the sale of certain lots."

IGNORE MAYOR'S GAS PLAN

ALDERMEN DECLARE ORDINANCE UNNECESSARY AT PRESENT.

Linn Young, Chairman of Committee, Declines to Call Meeting Till Local Transportation Questions Are Settled—Action Held Worse than Useless Till Result of Mills Suit Is Known—Old Enactment Covers Requirements for Present.

Mayor Dunne and the city council seem to have found another point of difference on the gas question. The practicability of the mayor's proposal as outlined in his message and his ordinance is said not to be apparent.

Ald. Linn Young, chairman of the gas, oil, and electric light committee, to which the mayor's proposal was sent, said yesterday that no meeting of the committee would be called to consider the question until the local transportation committee has finished its present work with the traction ordinances.

This means an indefinite postponement of action on the gas ordinance, as Ald. Young would not undertake to predict whether it would be two weeks or two months before it could be considered.

One Thing at a Time.

"I certainly shall not call a meeting of the committee until the local transportation committee is through with its work," he said. "One thing at a time is enough, and I do not propose to get into the question of gas rates until I have finished with the traction committee.

"The need for the ordinance which the mayor submitted does not seem to be pressing. If the city wins the Mills suit it will not need the new ordinance. If it is defeated in this case then we shall be obliged to make an investigation before we undertake to say what the price of gas should be.

"Everything will depend on the city's prospects of winning or losing the case. If, after the local transportation committee has completed its work, we can be shown that the city has a chance to win then all we can do is to reaffirm the 75 cent ordinance in order not to invalidate the claims which consumers have for rebates under the ordinance passed in 1900.

"In any case at the present time it seems that the old ordinance amply covers the requirements. After the Mills suit has been decided then will be the time to decide what new legislation we need."

Want Test of the Law.

It was said that the one chief reason for building an ordinance on the new act of the legislature authorizing the city to fix the price of gas was to get a test of the act itself, which will be attacked as unconstitutional as soon as the city attempts to enforce an ordinance based on it—unless the reduction in the price be so small that the companies will accept it rather than make a fight which might lead to a much greater reduction.

Ninety cent gas probably would be accepted by the companies on the theory that even if the present act should be declared unconstitutional the next legislature would pass a constitutional one. Ninety cent gas for five years probably would be accepted.

MORE ARRESTS IN RAIA CASE.

Brother of Murdered Man Taken on Charge of Attempting to Kill in the Tragedy.

Tony Raia, whose brother, Biaggio Raia, was shot dead Sunday evening by one of six Italians with whom he had a dispute, was arrested yesterday on a charge of shooting Mrs. Ruth Malccela in the throat. The woman was wounded soon after Biaggia Raia was murdered.

Peter Morello, 101 Gault court, was taken into custody also on a charge of complicity in the shooting.

The bonds of Angelo d'Augustino, who is held by the police pending the inquest over the body of his wife, Felicia, were fixed at $1,000 by Justice Hurley. D'Augustino expressed fear that he would be harmed were he released from the custody of the police, and he was returned to the Deering street police station.

The Virtue

Of Liquozone Is Best Told by a Test—and It's Free.

The actual results of Liquozone—there is nothing else so convincing. This product is so new, and its effects so unusual, that one can scarcely believe what it does till he tries it.

That is why we ask you to try Liquozone—try it at our expense. You have tried to cure germ troubles—all people have—with remedies which don't kill germs. We ask you to try one that does. See how quick the results are. Note how different they are from the results of common drugs.

What Liquozone Is.

The virtues of Liquozone are derived solely from gases. The formula is sent to each user. The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. It is directed by chemists of the highest class. The object is to so fix and combine the gases as to carry into the system a powerful tonic-germicide.

Contact with Liquozone kills any form of disease germ, because germs are of vegetable origin. Yet to the body Liquozone is not only harmless, but helpful in the extreme. That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poison when taken internally. That is why medicine has been so helpless in a germ disease. Liquozone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.

We purchased the American rights to Liquozone after thousands of tests had been made with it. Its power has been proved, again and again, in the most difficult germ diseases. Then we offered to supply the first bottle free in every disease that required it. And over one million dollars have been spent to announce and fulfill this offer.

The result is that 11,000,000 bottles have been used, mostly in the past two years. Today there are countless cured ones, scattered everywhere, to tell what Liquozone has done.

But so many others need it that this offer is published still. In late years, science has traced scores of diseases to germ attacks. Old remedies do not apply to them. We wish to show those sick ones—at our cost—what Liquozone can do.

Where It Applies.

These are diseases in which Liquozone has been most employed. In these it has earned its widest reputation. In all of these troubles we supply the first bottle free. And in all—no matter how difficult—we offer each user a two months' further test without the risk of a penny.

DISCHARGED POLICEMEN TO APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT.

Will Seek Reinstatement on Grounds That They Were Let Out in Violation of Civil Service Law.

The 617 policemen who were discharged in 1897-'98 to make room for an equal number of Star leaguers under Chief Joseph Kipley are about to make a strong effort to get back on the force. Their contention will be that they were discharged for political purposes by Mayor Harrison in violation of civil service regulations. They will meet tomorrow night in the Ashland block to discuss the matter.

Their grievance will be presented to the Supreme court in the form of an amended petition in the name of James Kenneally, 5723 Emerald avenue, who served on the police force for ten years previous to his discharge in October, 1897. John A. Stott, who was a policeman for sixteen years, and George R. McNeill, with eleven years' service to his credit, also are petitioners.

"These men lost their places as a result of fraud and deceit," said A. B. Chilcoat, attorney for the discharged policemen. "I believe the Supreme court, as a result of this amended petition, will hold that they were wrongfully removed from office at a time when the civil service rules were in force. None of them was tried and no charges were preferred against them.

"Mayor Dunne has been asked to restore their positions to them, but he can do nothing. About the only thing that will put them back on the force is an order from the Supreme court. As they were wrongfully removed the statute of limitations will not apply in their case."

New Pensions Board to Meet.

The first meeting of the board of trustees of the newly created municipal employés' pension fund will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock in the city council chambers. Mayor Dunne, City Controller McGann, and Daniel L. Sullivan, William J. Roach, Thomas Reynolds, and Philip Petrie are the trustees. This is the first pension fund to be established under the new state law.

LADIES' HOME DOCTOR.

Straight Talk to Women.

Why a Baby Wiggles His Arms and Legs
Not So Much for His Limbs' Sake as for His BRAIN'S Sake—So Says Science.

Just before you were born you were deaf, dumb, blind and helpless.

But after your birth, as the external world began to act upon you, your mind began to grow.

The sensation of light, heat, sound and pain, impressed themselves upon your brain, and, as it received these impressions, your brain cells began to increase, multiply and become more active.

Once there was a girl who was subject to epileptic fits. Every time she had a fit, she felt a pain in her right thumb.

The doctors decided that the portion of her brain which governed the movement of her thumb, was the sick part. So they took out a small piece of brain and cured her fits; but when she got well she had LOST THE USE OF HER THUMB.

Nothing more is needed, to show the wonderfully close relation existing between mind and muscle.

More wonderful still, is the relation between the functions and health. Somehow, the woman who has the least little thing wrong with her there, is not good for much. She rapidly degenerates, mentally and physically, into a WEAKLING. Her health cells don't grow. Her constitution loses stamina; her brain loses power; she becomes melancholic, tired, nervous, irritable, fretful, weak, useless—a wreck of her former self.

Just as, when a baby, you unconsciously set yourself to build brain cells—so, that you are now weak in another vital portion of your economy, you should carefully set yourself to build up sick cells. This you can do with CARDUI, the great specific for women's diseases.

Wine of Cardui is a pure, harmless medicine, extracted from certain plants which act curatively upon the female organs as the girl's brain acted on the thumb. That is, Cardui is not a general medicine, but a specific medicine for all troubles originating in the female organs.

It thus cures such special female complaints as backache, sick headache, periodical pains, dragging sensations, nervousness.

Cardui builds weak women into strong, healthy, beautiful specimens of their sex, and does it by scientific methods which bring about safe and certain results

Wine of Cardui is woman's pleasant relief from all sickness and suffering. It is sold at every drug store in $1.00 bottles.

Try it.

VERDICT FOUND ON O'NEILL CASE.

Jury Returns Sealed Decision After Considering Miss Beland's Claim.

OUT FOR TWELVE HOURS.

Rumor Says Plaintiff Gets Substantial Sum, but Unusual Secrecy Is Observed.

After being closeted for more than twelve hours, the jury in the breach of promise suit for $50,000 brought by Miss Mabel Boland against John O'Neill, city superintendent of track elevation, agreed upon its verdict at 10:45 o'clock last night.

Although various rumors were current during the afternoon and evening relating to the judgment of the twelve men, nothing definite could be learned upon the subject, as the verdict was sealed and will not be opened until Judge Gary opens court this morning. The best information that could be secured was to the effect that the plaintiff had been awarded damages, although the sum is considerably less than asked for. One report was that Miss Beland would be awarded $10,000.

The jury was abnormally reticent, largely because of the watchfulness of Joseph Santa, the veteran bailiff, who in his forty-two years of service has handled many important juries, including those of the Cronin and the anarchist cases. Judge Gary also was insistent upon secrecy, and declared that any person who attempted to speak to a juror before the verdict was in would be summoned before him to answer to a charge of contempt of court. Under these instructions Santa and Henry Houle guarded the jurors from all questions.

The jurors themselves agreed upon a policy of silence, and just before they returned to their homes each of them promised the others that he would not reveal a word of what had been said in the jury room. They adhered strictly to the agreement, and Charles Kester, brother-in-law of Miss Beland, and several employés of Attorney W. S. Forrest, counsel for O'Neill, failed to gain any information.

Four Said to Favor Defendant.

During the afternoon it was rumored that the jury was divided, eight favoring a finding for the plaintiff and four inclined for a dismissal of the case. Later this report was followed by another that the jurors had agreed that Miss Beland should be given an award, although they differed widely as to the amount. A verdict momentarily was expected throughout the twelve hours of their debate, and many spectators hung about the doors of the jury room waiting for the first word.

When Judge Gary opened court at 9:30 both O'Neill and Miss Beland were present, but left immediately after the retirement of the jury. Neither again appeared during the day, and James Ewing Davis, attorney for the girl, said that he had advised her, because of her extremely nervous condition, to remain in her room at the Turner hotel.

Instructions of the Judge.

Judge Gary's instructions to the jury set forth what evidence would warrant different findings.

"This case is based," he said, "upon the charge of a breach of promise to marry, and it is your first duty to determine if such a promise existed. In this consideration you have the right to include all the facts and circumstances between the two parties, both prior to and following the beginning of this suit. You may consider their demeanor on the stand.

"The marriage contract may be proved by positive evidence or by circumstance. You must remember that the liability for the breach of a marriage contract is the same as for a breach of any other sort of an agreement, and if you find that no specific time was fixed for the fulfillment of the contract then you may allow a reasonable length of time. If this has elapsed and the defendant has refused to fulfill his part of the contract then you may find a verdict for the plaintiff if it is shown that she was prepared to fulfill her part of the contract.

Wealth of Defendant.

"If you reach this agreement you may take into consideration the wealth and social standing of the defendant as a basis of the plaintiff's loss by the breach of promise. You may further consider her sufferings, pain, and humiliation, the loss of her character, and her reputation.

"But," he declared, "in no event will the jury be justified in returning a verdict for the plaintiff unless the evidence shows that a marriage contract existed. If the plaintiff has failed to show a preponderance of evidence of this fact a verdict for the defendant should be returned. Also, if she entered into a marriage contract with any person other than O'Neill subsequent to her engagement to the defendant she is entitled to no damages. The defendant was absolved from his agreement if such a contract was made."

The court then went into the question of the credibility of witnesses and, referring to the deposition of Robert McClellan, whose letters to Miss Beland were introduced in evidence, instructed the jury that he was a witness for the plaintiff and that his credibility was not vouched for by O'Neill. The jurors were also told that statements made out of court at variance with those made on the witness stand were ample grounds for impeaching a witness. This instruction was requested by Attorney W. S. Forrest, for O'Neill, with a view to impeaching the testimony of Miss Beland, who denied on the stand several statements which witnesses declared she made before the trial.

CHIEF VETOES FARSON'S PLAN.

"Pastboard Bail" Will Not Be Accepted from Owners of Automobiles Who Violate Speed Ordinance.

Chief Collins doesn't take kindly to the "pasteboard bail system" suggestion of President John Farson of the Chicago Automobile club.

"Not with my consent," said he yesterday when he was asked if members of the automobile club are to be released from consequences of violating the speed limit on presentation of cards showing they are in good standing with the club, and that the organization would be their surety.

"On the same principle," remarked the chief, "you might as well furnish each pickpocket and holdup man in Chicago with a card showing that he was a respectable member of the academy of crooks.

"The police are sworn to enforce the law," the chief continued, "and any member of the Chicago Automobile club will be arrested even if he has a whole pocket full of cards showing that he is in good standing. No man is superior to the law. If a member of the club is going forty miles an hour or knocks down anybody the police will arrest him if—if they can catch him—and if he doesn't furnish bond he'll be locked up."

ECHO OF WAR ON GAMBLERS.

Effort Will Be Made to Prosecute Constables Who Arrested Chicago Detectives at Indiana Harbor.

Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler, after a conference with Chief Collins, went to Indianapolis yesterday to urge the prosecution of the Indiana constables who arrested two Chicago city detectives at Indiana Harbor a few months ago and confiscated a wireless telegraph apparatus with which the detectives were endeavoring to secure evidence of pool selling on the Chicago gamblers' boat, City of Traverse.

Chief of Police Collins declined last night to discuss the details of the prosecution, but declared criminal action will be taken against the constables.

Detectives Vanatta and Helwig were arrested by a score of constables and kept in jail over night. They were not allowed to notify Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler of their imprisonment.

WOMAN TELLS POLICEMAN WHERE FUGITIVE IS HIDDEN.

Harry Lasker Breaks Away from Deputy Sheriff and Conceals Himself on Third Floor Porch, but Is Seen.

If a sharp eyed woman had not seen a strange man hiding on a third floor porch yesterday Harry Lasker probably would have escaped. Lasker, who had broken away from a deputy sheriff, was captured by Policeman C. H. Tobin, to whom the woman gave the "tip."

Lasker, under indictment for larceny, was being taken back to the county jail by Deputy Sheriff Edward Darrow from the courtroom of Justice Everett, 125 Clark street. He had been taken there to testify against Clarence A. Powers of C. A. Powers & Co., bankers at 92 La Salle street, accused of buying stamps from Lasker, who, it is alleged, had stolen them from Loftis Bros. & Co., 92 State street. The hearing was continued.

As Darrow and Lasker reached the alley on Michigan street, between Clark and Dearborn avenue, Lasker jerked away from his guard and ran down the alley.

Darrow followed, firing his revolver, but failed to stop Lasker. Others joined in the chase, but it soon proved fruitless. Later the woman came to the policeman's aid. Lasker was found crouching in a corner. He made no resistance and was taken back to jail.

EVANSTON GIVES FRANCHISE FOR ELEVATED CONNECTION.

Suburban Council Votes Permit to Street Railroad Which Will Meet Extension of Northwestern Line.

A street railroad franchise which provides for the new line to connect with the Northwestern Elevated extension, was granted last night by the Evanston city council. The franchise runs to the Chicago and Evanston North Shore railroad company. It provides that the road shall start at Prairie avenue, continuing to Central street, then to Ashland avenue and Emerson street. There the road will be built south along its private right of way, coming into Florence avenue, south of Carne street, for two blocks, continuing to the spur to be built by the elevated railroad company from Wilson avenue.

TO OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Former Residents of Danville, Ill., Now Living in Chicago Invited to Mr. and Mrs. Steen's Celebration.

Former residents of Danville, Ill., who live in Chicago will hold a reunion this evening at the residence of Erasmus D. Steen, 101 Thirty-seventh street. The reunion will be a part of the celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Steen.

Four children of Mr. and Mrs. Steen will attend the celebration with their children. They are E. D. Steen Jr. of Chicago, Mrs. L. S. Rabb, Miss Nellie Steen, and Mrs. M. W. Thompson, wife of Judge Thompson of Danville.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Doty, 550 East Sixty-fifth street, will celebrate their golden wedding today. Mr. Doty came here with his parents in 1837 when he was 1 year old. He has been an employé of the stockyards ever since the first stockyards were established in the city. Mrs. Doty, née Nichols, was born in Chicago in 1836. Their five children and ten grandchildren will attend the celebration. The children, all of whom live in Chicago, are: David G. Doty, E. Denaut Doty, Mrs. Harold Diefenderfer, Mrs. Mary D. Sweetland, and Luther N. Doty.

Joseph W. Thompson Says at County Hospital He Was Knocked Down and Robbed.

Joseph W. Thompson was found unconscious last evening in State street near Taylor. He lives at 343 State street. After he had regained consciousness at the county hospital he said he had been robbed of $14. He had been knocked down and injured severely. The saloon of B. Goetz, 243 Chicago avenue, within a stone's throw of the Chicago avenue police station, was robbed of liquors valued at $200 between 1:30 and 5 a. m.

George Dugans, 124 Ohio street, a fruit dealer, was shot by one of three men who attempted to rob him at Wells and Ohio streets.

Norwegians to Give a Concert.

A male chorus of forty voices will sing Grieg's "The Great White Host," with solo by Charles L. Hansen.

GIRL TOILER A HEROINE.

FLORENCE GRAY MAKES PATHETIC APPEAL IN JUVENILE COURT.

Begs Permission to Care for Her Aged Parents, Who Are Unable to Work, and Sorrowfully Rebukes Her Younger Sister, Who Had Them Arrested and Deserted Them in Order to Be Able to Wear Fine Clothes Without Working.

A little factory girl, Florence Gray, leaned against the brass railing in the Juvenile courtroom late yesterday afternoon and stood there silently while Judge Mack questioned her aged father and mother. The girl's face was pale, her shoulders were stooped, and her hands bore the marks of toil.

"Why haven't you supported your children?" demanded Judge Mack of the father. The old man shook his head.

Then Florence leaned forward.

"He doesn't understand," she explained to the court. "I am his daughter and I will tell you the story——"

"Is it true that your mother drinks and that she ran away from home?" asked the court of the girl.

"It is not," declared the girl.

"Why, aren't you the girl who makes these charges?"

"No. I'm Florence Gray."

"Where's Stella Gray?" demanded Judge Mack.

The Grasshopper and the Ant.

A girl of 15 came forward. The two sisters presented a study in contrast. It was the grasshopper and the ant again. The dress of the older girl was weather stained and her coat was faded. She wore a black felt hat and a waist of dark gray flannel. The younger girl wore a plaid silk waist, a blue coat of good material, and a huge picture hat with an ostrich plume encircling the crown.

"I am Stella Gray," she said. "My father won't support me and my mother drinks. They won't give me clothes to wear; they want me to work; they want me to go to work in summer clothes in the winter time. They want to dress me like a beggar——"

"May I speak?" interrupted Florence, her eyes flashing defiance at her sister and her face flushed. Judge Mack nodded.

"Your honor," she began, her lips quivering, "my father is not able to work and neither is my mother. I have two little sisters—here they are—look at them; aren't their clothes good and clean?" The girl paused.

Story of Self-Denial Told.

"If neither your father nor your mother is able to work, who supports them and the children?" asked the court.

"I do," replied the girl simply. Then as simply she told her story of fortitude and self-denial.

"I support them," she continued, "and with Stella's aid we could have taken care of them nicely, but Stella left us. She lost respect for her father when he couldn't give her good clothes. She even told him to shut up. Then she went away to live with her aunt.

"O, your honor, I'm a decent girl, and I want my sister to be decent, too," continued Florence, earnestly. "The aunt she is living with is not a fit person to keep her. She gives her big ideas; she makes her dissatisfied with our little home. My parents are good. I'm sure my father doesn't drink; I know my mother doesn't."

Girl Berates Her Parents.

Stella Gray broke in.

"I won't stay home because I won't go to work in the kind of clothes they gave me," she cried. "I couldn't bear to see the fighting that my father and mother did. My father tried to shoot me once, and, Florence, you raised a broom to strike mamma once; you know you did."

The flush left Florence Gray's face and she turned upon her sister.

"Tell the truth, Stella, for God's sake tell the truth," she pleaded; "Stella, for my sake tell the truth. Didn't your father and your mother care for you well all your life until poverty came? Didn't they do everything by you that a loving mother and father could? O, Stella, don't tell lies before this court. You flinched when it came to caring for papa and mamma—you left them, you deserted them, and they never harmed you in all your life.

Wants to Care for Her Sister.

"I never lifted a broom to strike my mother, and my mother here is my witness. Your honor, don't you believe me? Don't you believe that my parents have been good? Look at these clothes I am wearing. Aren't they good enough for poor people? Willie and Rosie never have missed a day at school, your honor. I have kept them in school, and I'll take care of them without Stella. I'll stick by my parents. I am strong enough to take care of them."

"You're a good daughter," said the court, earnestly, to Florence, "but you should not have the burden of looking after Stella—she would not appreciate it. Your father and mother may go home with you. I will let the aunt take care of Stella."

"O, let me take care of Stella, too," pleaded the girl. "I want her to be a decent girl."

"No," said the court; "your burdens already are great."

SONGS OF DAVID EXTOLLED BY UNITED PRESBYTERIANS.

Delegates from Many States Participate in Psalmody Convention Held in Second Church, This City.

> All the wonders of the Greek civilization heaped together are less wonderful than is the single Book of Psalms. WILLIAM E. GLADSTONE.

With that quotation stretched on canvas the length of the church as their keynote, 100 delegates to the psalmody convention of the United Presbyterian church began their three days' session last night at the Second United Presbyterian church, Sixty-fifth street and Parnell avenue.

This convention is to be devoted solely to a consideration of the Psalms, the "song book of the ages," from every possible standpoint, with the result, it is hoped, of recalling general attention to the spiritual resources of the book.

The Rev. W. P. McNary of Creston, Ia., presided at the first session, which was given up to addresses on "The Psalms in History," by President T. H. McMichael of Monmouth college, and "The Devotional Aspect of the Psalter," by General Moderator W. C. Williamson of Burlington, Ia.

BOTTLE SMELLS FROM 'YARDS.'

City Chemists Make Start at Collection of Gases—May Be Used in Prosecution.

Smells from that malodorous institution, the Chicago stockyards, are being collected and catalogued by the city health department as a preliminary to a report on conditions that may result in prosecution under the revised ordinance regulating smelly places.

Perry L. Hedrick, chief inspector of the sanitary department, and a chemist went to Bubbly creek and its environs yesterday. They were supplied with a number of good stout bottles designed as receptacles for the various stinks which, according to Capt. Clancy of the Stockyards police station, flourish in twenty-seven distinct varieties.

Technically, the bottles are to contain different gases arising from decomposed matter, but a whiff from one of the bottles is sufficient to cause a layman to make comments on the odor rather than the chemical combination.

Smoke Accompanying Blaze in Building at 1713 North Clark Street Causes Death of C. J. Heidman.

Fire, which started in Ring Bros.' tailor shop on the ground floor, at 1713 North Clark street early yesterday, routed families on the second and third floors and they fled to the street in their night clothing.

After the fire was extinguished, C. J. Heidman, a tailor, 70 years old, was found dead in his room on the second floor. He had been suffocated by smoke.

E. A. Anderson, wife, and two children, and Heidman and his daughter Minnie, 17 years old, occupied the second floor. Mrs. J. Bergein and her daughter occupied the third floor. All escaped in safety, except Heidman.

POLICE DECLARE CARS ARE HEATED

Report Not a Single Violation of the Temperature Requirement.

LACK OF THERMOMETERS.

Suits to Be Started at Once Against the City Railway for This Absence.

From the optimistic reports sent in to Chief of Police Collins yesterday by the policemen detailed at the various car barns to watch for violations of the street car ordinance, it would appear that all the agitation over cold cars is unnecessary. And then again other things might be deduced.

The glaring fact is that the police were not able to find any cars in need of more warmth. They found any number of them without thermometers, and the violations were reported at great length.

Chief Collins began his campaign yesterday under the orders of Mayor Dunne for a strict enforcement of the ordinance passed Oct. 30. The reports were turned over to City Prosecutor Taylor. This is a sample:

> Having reported under your instructions at the car barns at Belden and Racine avenues, I find the cars all in good sanitary condition, properly heated, and in every respect complying with the ordinance. GEORGE HIATT.

From the barns at Larrabee street and Center avenue, Policeman N. Simon reported the same perfect condition of affairs in precisely the same language.

Cars Without Thermometers.

Policeman William Carbury reported that in fifty cars that left the barns at Thirty-ninth street and Cottage Grove avenue between 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock there were no thermometers or copies of the ordinance posted. Policeman Charles Marunde, stationed at the barns at Thirty-ninth and State streets, found all in order except the absence of thermometers in the Indiana avenue cars. Nothing but minor violations were reported from the other barns.

Whether the cars become chilled suddenly as soon as they leave the barns, or whether the various operating companies suddenly realized the position they are in, may be left for the future to determine.

Supt. Fred Baer of the Thirty-ninth street barns of the Chicago City railway company explained the absence of thermometers.

"We are having some nice new ones built," he said. "They will be two feet long, so that they can be read from any part of the car. Of course this won't make the car any warmer, but it will help some."

The reports were sent to Dr. H. L. Taylor, city prosecuting attorney, who will start suits against the Chicago City railway company at once. He is preparing for scores of suits within the next few weeks.

Doubts the Thermometer.

A terrible suspicion entered the mind of a fat man seated next the stove on a south bound State street cable train in the afternoon. He got up several times and peered at the thermometer posted across from the stove, each time at the imminent danger of crushing the plumed hat of a colored woman who occupied the seat under the instrument.

"Fifty degrees," he muttered, "that thing says fifty degrees in here." Then he blew a great steaming breath and shook his head doubtfully. After meditating a few minutes he whispered to his neighbor:

"I bet that quicksilver is painted up to fifty degrees," he said as if struck with a great thought.

INCREASE OF NEEDY WOMEN.

Numerous Widows and Deserted Wives Obtain Assistance from the Chicago Relief and Aid Society.

A remarkable increase in the number of widows and deserted wives applying for assistance to the Chicago Relief and Aid society during the last year over preceding years is noted in the annual report of the society. The report states:

"More than one-fourth of the cases that come to the society are widows with little children; more than one-eighth, deserted women with little children. There is illness in the family in nearly every case."

In the direct relief of the poor the society spent $26,400. A new feature of the work was the fresh air station for sick babies, conducted in conjunction with the Visiting Nurses' association. Next summer the society hopes to establish many more such stations in the small parks or in open spaces in the congested parts of the city.

Edward M. Teall was reëlected president.

ROOSEVELT FIRM ON RATE REFORM.

Strongly Upholds Plan in Face of Protest of Railway Trainmen.

SQUARE DEAL ALL ROUND.

Employes of Roads Fear Legislation Will Mean a Cut in Their Wages.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt, in replying today to a protest of railway trainmen against his plan of rate regulation, strongly reiterated his views in favor of government supervision. His policy of a square deal for all and special favors to none was never more clearly enunciated.

"I am convinced that there must be an increased regulatory and supervisory power exercised by the government over the railways," he said. "Indeed, I would like it exercised to a much greater extent than I have any idea of pressing at the moment. For instance, I would greatly like to have it exercised in the matter of overcapitalization. I am convinced that the wage fund would be larger if there was no fictitious capital upon which dividends had to be paid."

Looks to Interest of All.

In his reply to the committee, which was composed of representatives of the engineers, conductors, firemen, and other organizations, the president said:

"The interests of the wageworker and the interests of the tiller of the soil must be peculiarly close to all American public men; among other reasons, for the reason that if they prosper, all other classes will prosper likewise as a matter of course. As I said the other day to the representatives of organized labor at Atlanta, I shall do everything in my power for the laboring men except to do anything wrong.

"Your associations deserve peculiar regard because you have developed to a marked degree the qualities that all bodies of wageworkers should develop. The intelligence, the regard for the future, the self-respect mingled with the respect for others, the power of self-restraint, which are absolutely essential to any body of men which is to move upward and onward.

"With most of the general statements that you make I agree, but I am not sure that I agree with your application of them. There has been comparatively little complaint to me of the railroad rates being as a whole too high. The most serious complaints that have been made to me have been of improper discrimination in railroad rates. For instance, in two recent cases affecting great corporations the complaints that have been made to me have been that they are too low as regards certain big shippers; the complaint in both these cases is about the differential, the difference of treatment of two sets of users of the railways, the difference in favor of one set of shippers as against another set of shippers. Whether this is just or not I am not prepared to say.

Sympathizes with Trainmen.

"I deeply appreciate and sympathize with the feeling you express as to the community of interest between the man who actually does the handling of the trains, at the brakes, in the engine cab, as a fireman, as a conductor, and the man who has to do as a capitalist or as the higher employé of the capitalist, with the general management of the road. I feel that one of the lessons that cannot be overinculcated is the lesson of identity of interest among our people as a whole. I do not have to tell a body like this something that I do have to tell some other bodies, and that is if you have not got at the head of a railroad a man who can make a success of it, the wage workers on that railroad cannot prosper. You must have at the head the type of ability which can do well.

"I have said again and again that I would not tolerate for one moment any injustice to a railroad, any more than I would tolerate any injustice by a railroad. I have said again and again that I would remove a public official who improperly yielded to any public clamor against a railroad, no matter how popular that clamor might be, just as quickly as I would remove a public official who rendered an improper service to the railroad at the expense of the public.

Not Hostility to Wealth.

"I need hardly say that this does not mean hostility to wealth. If you gentlemen here, in whom I believe so strongly, were all a unit in demanding that some improper action should be taken against certain men of wealth, then, no matter whether I did or did not like those same men of wealth, I would defend them against you, no matter how much I cared for you; and in so doing I would really be acting in your own interest.

"I would be false to your interest if I failed to do justice to the capitalist as much as to the wageworker. But I shall act against the abuses of wealth just as against all other abuses. The outcry against rate regulation is of much the same character as that I encountered when I was engaged in putting through that car coupling business; or in endeavoring to secure certain legislation in which you all have been interested, such as the employers' liability law.

Aims at Square Deal.

"Most certainly I will join with you in resisting to the utmost any movement to hurt or damage any railroads which act decently, for I would hold that such damage was not merely to the capitalist, not merely to the wageworker engaged on the railroads, but to all the country. My aim is to secure the just and equal treatment of the public by those [I trust and believe a limited number] who do not want to give it.

"All I want in any rate legislation is to give the government an efficient supervisory power which shall be exercised as scrupulously to prevent injustice to the railroads as to prevent their doing injustice to the public. Our endeavor is to see that those big railroad men and big shippers who are not responsive to the demands of justice are required to do what their fellows who are responsive to the demands of justice would be glad to do of their own accord."

The members of the delegation which called on the president pointed out to him that railroad rate legislation logically meant the lowering of rates. This they contended will be followed by a lessening of the earning power of railroads, and consequently by reduction eventually of the wages of railroad employés.

CORTELYOU EDICT OUSTS P. O. BOGIES.

widen the authority of postmasters in large cities to a considerable degree, and this branch of the service, therefore, is put under control of the first assistant postmaster general, to whom postmasters will report direct. They will be held more strictly responsible for work in large cities, and will be given facilities accordingly.

Department's Finances Centralized.

All of the finances of the department will be concentrated under the third assistant postmaster general. Anything which concerns the sale of stamps, or the issuing of money orders, or the registration of letters will be referred to his department, and this reform will simplify the administration of the postoffice to an unusual degree, because registration, money order, and stamp bureaus are all intimately connected with the financial responsibility of postmasters and are not concerned in any way with the distribution of mails or the personnel of the office.

Under the supervision of the fourth assistant postmaster general there will be the constantly growing rural free delivery. This is a branch of the service which seems destined to extend far beyond its present bounds, and, aside from the economy of administration in putting the personnel of the department all under one office, it has been deemed absolutely necessary to relieve the fourth assistant from his burdensome work of appointing and bonding postmasters and looking after the city delivery service, which does not properly belong in the same class with rural free delivery.

Old Blank System Doomed.

When Postmaster General Cortelyou took hold of the department he appointed an interior commission for the purpose of making an examination into the entire system of blanks and general "paper work," as army men call it. The commission made some surprising discoveries. It was found that certain blanks were being issued by the department under long forgotten orders, the object of which no one now understands. Certain data collected by some postmaster general for purely temporary use continues to be poured into hoppers and immediately neglected. Many a blank is filled out by postmasters and others throughout the country which is filed away as soon as it is received and is never consulted again under any circumstances, because no one in the department knows why it was sent out or what it was intended to show.

One of the first effects of the reorganization scheme provided for in the order issued tonight will be sweeping reform in the entire system of blanks in use by the postoffice department all over the world. A commission will now go to work with the express purpose of simplifying the business of the department and concentrating and putting blanks into such a form they will largely reduce the work of postmasters and subordinates generally, while at the same time supplying all necessary information for the head of each bureau. Old forms of accounts will be abolished and some of the blanks which were ordered years ago and have long since become useless will be dropped entirely.

Will Reduce Administration Cost.

Postmaster General Cortelyou, as he explained to me this afternoon, hopes to be able by this reorganization scheme and the proposed reform in printed blanks and accounts to cut away the principal amount of red tape in the department. This will not only simplify the business of the postoffice but it ought to result in considerable economy in the cost of administration. The postmaster general is a firm believer in a direct business like method of doing things, and he has been the hearty supporter of President Roosevelt in his work of securing the adoption of business methods in government departments. This reorganization scheme of his is practically the first real step yet taken in this direction and it is to the credit of the postmaster general and a further monument to his well deserved reputation for executive genius that he has worked out the details for himself and has put one of the largest and most complicated departments of the government on a strictly scientific basis for the first time since its organization.

WANTS BARS KEPT AGAINST CHINESE.

American Federation of Labor Records Opposition to Any Compromise.

ASKS CURB TO FOREIGNERS

Pittsburg Convention Would Have Physical Test for All European Immigrants.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The American Federation of Labor today, through its approval of the report of the executive council, demanded the rigid enforcement of the Chinese exclusion laws and the restriction of immigration from Europe. Other matters treated in the council's report and indorsed by the federation included the following:

The legalizing of the eight hour work day in all work of the government.

The abolition of convict labor where it competes with union manufactured goods.

The renewal of the agitation for the alteration of the injunction laws of the country.

The granting of the right of suffrage to women in all states of the union as a means of purifying the ballot.

Would Restrict Immigration.

The council voiced the sentiments of the organization as being opposed to the present immigration laws as applied to all classes of aliens. A plea was made for more stringent enforcement of the laws for inspection of the invading hosts from Europe. Especial stress was laid upon the need for better physical examinations and an investigation was asked from the government into the many reports and rumors of assisted immigration.

The report took the national administration to task for its failure to enforce the eight hour law in all government work and a plea was made for every state federation organization to immediately institute a campaign for the establishment in their respective states of the eight hour law.

In the matter of a change in the system of electing all officials of the state and national governments the report went into detail in explaining the workings of the initiative and referendum system of popular election of all officials.

C. P. Shea Wins Out.

A feature of the morning session was the seating as a delegate of Cornelius P. Shea, president of the teamsters' union, on the recommendation of the committee on credentials. The seating of Shea is looked upon by the International Association of Steamfitters as a big card for them in their fight for a federation charter, as Shea, who has been joined by other delegates, will help them in the convention.

A boost was given the fight of the typographical union for an eight hour day when the convention at the morning session levied an assessment of 1 cent a week on each member for a period of four weeks on the entire membership of the federation for the benefit of the International Typographical union.

COAL SHORTAGE IS PREDICTED.

Prices Are Advancing and Cold Snap Would Soon Exhaust the Supply of Fuel Now on Hand.

Coal dealers, who admit that prices are advancing, say it is due to the fact that there is a car famine and that coal cannot be shipped into Chicago from the coal fields.

"The price of all soft coal has advanced from 25 to 50 cents a ton," said Harold Eldridge, manager of the Eldridge Coal company.

The supply of coal now standing in cars on the various railroads in Chicago, say the fuel dealers, would not last an hour in the face of the sudden orders for hurried deliveries that follow the first fall of snow.

TAFT GLAD BOSSES LOST.

SECRETARY ELATED OVER THE OHIO ELECTION.

Downing of Cox in Cincinnati Particularly Gratifying to Head of War Department, Who Returned from Panama Yesterday—Sorry Herrick Was Defeated, but Admits It Was a Part of the General Campaign—Satisfied with Conditions at Canal.

Newport News, Va., Nov. 14.—Secretary of War William H. Taft arrived here aboard the cruiser Columbia today after a trip of investigation to the isthmus of Panama. He left for Washington tonight.

He talked freely of the recent elections, referring particularly to the overthrow of bossism in Ohio, in which he found great satisfaction. He said his inspection of the canal work had proven eminently satisfactory, and affairs in general showed a marked improvement since his visit a year ago. His remarks follow:

"The result of the election in Cincinnati is a long step toward better municipal government and better local party politics, but the victory will not be completed for several years. A machine, intrenched in power as is the Ohio machine, can only be made to give up through the earnest attention and work of young men entering politics with the enthusiastic and unselfish desire to make it better.

Only Carry First Intrenchments.

"Those who brought about the defeat of the machine cannot afford to lie back on their oars and think they have won a lasting victory. They merely have carried the first intrenchments and if they do not follow up their success they will find the old machine as strong as ever in future campaigns.

"I regret the defeat of Gov. Herrick, because I think he was made to suffer for alleged subserviency to bossism of which he was not guilty, and his freedom from which would have been demonstrated by a second term.

"I note that in the democratic platform on which Mr. Pattison was elected is a plank advocating municipal ownership of public utilities, accompanied by the merit system for the selection of civil servants. The experience in Chicago has shown that it is one thing to advocate municipal ownership and another thing to carry it out. We may dismiss, therefore, from consideration the possibility of any serious legislation looking to municipal ownership.

Panama Work Going Well.

"My trip was highly satisfactory," he said. "Comparison of the condition of the affairs on the occasion of my visit last year and this year shows a marked improvement. Great work has been done in sanitation and the suppression of diseases and in preliminary work in constructing houses, setting up equipment, building railroad tracks, building docks, wharves, and all the enormous necessary work of preparation before the dirt can be made to fly. The present organization under Mr. Shonts seems to be operating effectively."

REVERSES JUDGE HANECY AGAIN

Appellate Court Sets Aside His Mandamus on the Mayor for a Junkshop License.

Another decision by Judge Hanecy has been reversed. It is the mandamus issued many months ago ordering former Mayor Harrison to grant a license to Samuel Goldman to establish a junk shop in a residence district. Now the junkman will be compelled to abandon his place of business. Incidentally Mayor Harrison's opinion as to what a residence district is was upheld by the Appellate court and Judge Hanecy's was reversed.

Goldman applied for a license to run a junk shop in Cleveland avenue, near Blackhawk street. The mayor refused the permit.

Goldman carried the matter to Judge Hanecy, who immediately granted a writ of mandamus, and the mayor was compelled to grant the license.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

ATTORNEY GRILLS ASPHALT COMPANY

Venezuelan Representative in New York Says Bermudez Concern Aided Matos.

DEMANDS TALLY SHEETS.

Hearst Goes Into Court to Get Before Canvassers More Original Election Records.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, Nov. 14.

Attorney Blames Asphalt Company for Rebellion.

In reply to the statement of the New York and Bermudez company concerning the aid given by that company to Matos' rebellion in Venezuela in 1901 and 1902, Rufus B. Cowing Jr. counsel for Venezuela in her suit against the company for $11,000,000 damages sustained by the government in putting down the rebellion fostered by the company, said:

"The absurdity of the claims of the New York and Bermudez company that it did not get justice in Venezuela and that President Castro controlled the action of the courts is shown by the fact that in the litigation with Warner-Quinlan the final decision of the high federal court was in favor of the New York and Bermudez company by the unanimous decision of the ten judges. The charge that President Castro was trying to extort money from the Bermudez company rests upon flimsy grounds.

"On the other hand, President Castro distinctly has stated that the agents of the company attempted to bribe him with an offer of $500,000 if he would influence the Venezuelan courts to give a decision in the company's favor.

"The company's agent in Caracas gave a dinner on July 5, 1901, at which Matos was the guest of honor, and Matos took the first steamer for New York bearing credentials from the agents to the company. Matos lost no time in consulting the officials of the company and after arranging the credit of $100,000 Matos left for Paris. The payment of the amount was coincident with the purchase of the steamship Ban Righ for $100,000, and the payment of his subsequent drafts to the extent of $30,000 was coincident with the purchase of its cargo of arms and ammunition for the insurgents.

"In Venezuela testimony was given that Gen. Matos received on one occasion from the general manager of the company 500,000 rounds of ammunition, which was distributed to the revolutionary troops."

Court Orders Production of Tally Sheets.

Counsel for the Municipal Ownership league today obtained from Justice Amend in the Supreme court an order directing County Clerk Hamilton to produce before the board of county canvassers the original tally sheets in his custody at their meeting tomorrow, or, in default of so doing, to show cause why he should not do so.

Justice Amend also restrained the board of county canvassers from taking any action with regard to the canvass of the votes until the question as to the production of the tally sheets had been decided. It was claimed by counsel that the tally sheets were necessary in order that the vote might be properly canvassed.

A similar order was obtained from Justice Dickey in Brooklyn against the canvassers of Queens county.

Attorney General Mayer will appear before the grand jury again tomorrow and will ask for a large number of additional indictments charging fraud in the election. It is thought that the presentation of evidence before the grand jury will take all of the present week.

Minced Polar Mice New Dish at Banquet.

"Minced spiral eared polar mice," is the name bestowed on a dish offered as the piece de resistance to 200 guests at the Canadian camp semi-annual dinner tonight in the Hotel Astor. Women who could not brook mice in any other form seemed to enjoy the minced article. The scientific name of the delicious rodents, according to the menu, is Copex Similo Fantasticus, and they are said to have been discovered in northern Baffin land by Commander Robert E. Peary. Minced they looked like little red green pepper patties, and they tasted like anything you please.

In the past this club has dined on beef extracted from papier mache rhinoceros upon bear shot either by Grover Cleveland or by somebody else, and for the next dinner a promise is made of baked rattlesnake. Some of the relishes tonight were roast sleeping mallard duck, curry of common New England cow pasture woodchuck trapped by the sage of Cas Colie (E. Thompson Seton), and broiled Virginia soras, blamed on Caspar Whitney.

Tars "Decorate" Cruiser; Joke on "Bulldog."

Capt. Arnold and Lieut. George of the West Virginia have had their troubles in the last few days. Lieut. George is affectionately known among the sailors of the West Virginia as "Bulldog" George. When the West Virginia hove in sight of the flagship on the morning before the fleet's arrival in port, the officers of the Massachusetts were greatly surprised to read on the side, in big black letters, which stood out plainly on the white background: "Arnold Sanatorium—'Bulldog' George, keeper." One of the tars had been lowered over the side during the night with decorative intent. The Massachusetts signaled the West Virginia immediately and a liberal coat of white paint was applied. This is one of the service yarns spun at the dinner to the British sailors at Coney Island last night.

Second Mishap Delays Sailing of Liner.

For the second time in four days a mishap delayed the Hamburg-American liner Graf-Waldersee from sailing for Hamburg. On Saturday the steamer grounded in the mud just after starting on its voyage. It was released yesterday, and all preparations were made to sail today. Within an hour of its sailing time, however, its propeller became entangled with a rope while the steamer was in the Hudson river, moving toward its dock. Immediately the engines were stopped, and, while a strong tide carried the vessel toward the New Jersey shore, its passengers were seen to run in excitement up and down th decks. Several tugs went to the liner's aid in response to signals in time to prevent any further mishap.

BOON IN WAR ON SUICIDE.

CLEVELAND PROPAGANDISTS ENCOURAGED BY RESULTS.

Woman About to End Her Life Given Employment and Finds Friends and Hope in Consequence of Efforts in Her Behalf—Other Indications of Success on Part of Advocates of New Campaign—Dr. Cooley Tells of Outcome of Efforts.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The first results in the propaganda against suicide in Cleveland have encouraged the commission of three having the fight in charge to the most earnest efforts. The Rev. H. R. Cooley, one of this commission, daily is answering letters from men and women who plead for the commission's help.

One woman wrote that she had given up all hope; that, lonely, almost penniless, and without a friend, she had bought the poison that was to bring her to oblivion. But just before the moment that was to be final she saw a newspaper and read of the commission appointed to give hope to the hopeless and help to the weary. She wrote to Dr. Cooley to ask him if the hope and help might not be for her.

Woman Given Help and Hope.

"If you have no friends we will try to find some for you," she was answered. "If you are penniless we will get you work that you can do. Try to forge yourself by living for the friends we will provide you. Let us hear from you at once."

The woman is to have employment; already she has found friends, and she is cured of the suicidal impulse. This is a type of many cases that already have come to Dr. Cooley's attention.

Faith in Results.

"The commission will not content itself with giving good advice," he said today. "We shall reach out for the hopeless and the weary. I thoroughly believe we will be able to prevent suicide in every case that is brought to our attention in time."

OWNER OF "STORKS' NEST" TELLS OF ROOSEVELT TALK.

Mayor Beall of Alton Has Interview at White House—Receives Cordial Indorsement in Good Work Well Done.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Edmond Beall, mayor of Alton, and the famous owner of the "Storks' Nest," has returned from Washington where he had a talk with the president on race suicide. The mayor describes the interview as follows:

THEODORE ROOSEVELT—Mayor Beall of Alton, Ill., did you say? Well, mayor, let me tell you I am glad to meet you and shake your hand. You are a man after my own heart. I've heard and read of your efforts to obliterate the great evil. Also I have read of your "Storks' Nest." How did you ever happen to think of it?

EDWARD BEALL—The more babies the more votes, Mr. President.

T. R.—You have done much in a good cause. One of the real drawbacks to large families is the refusal of landlords to rent property to persons with children. In reserving buildings like the Storks Nest for families with children you have taken a step which many would do well to follow.

E. B.—Yes, Mr. President, I think so. And that's not all, you know. Every time there is a birth in a family renting from me I present the baby with a baby carriage and the parents with three months' rent.

T. R.—You certainly are a great man, Mayor Beall, and the country should be proud of you. But really, how did you happen to think of such a plan?

E. B—Well, Mr. President, formerly I rented to anybody who would pay the rent. I asked no questions about the size of the family. When told only seven births had been reported in Alton during 1901 I began thinking and announced that in future I would rent only to persons having several children. I've stuck to it.

The Alton records show 233 births in 1902, 229 in 1903, 404 in 1904, and 748 in ten months of 1905.

PREPARE FOR BISHOP'S BURIAL

Methodists of Chicago Arranging Last Rites in Honor of Stephen M. Merrill.

The body of Bishop Stephen M. Merrill, who died late Sunday night at Keyport, N. J., will arrive in Chicago at 7:40 o'clock tomorrow morning over the Nickel Plate railroad. Accompanying the body from New York will be Bishop Warren of Denver, Bishop Waldon of Cincinnati, Bishop Darry of Buffalo, Bishop Moore of Portland, and Bishop W. F. McDowell of Chicago.

The body will be received at the station by a committee of elders and ministers, headed by the Rev. S. A. Hardin, the Rev. John Thompson, and the Rev. N. E. Cady. After prayers and short addresses at the station the body will be taken to Grace Methodist church, La Salle avenue and Locust street, where it will lie in state until Friday morning.

Funeral services will begin at 10 o'clock Friday morning, with the Rev. John Thompson in charge. Addresses will be made by Bishop McDowell, Dr. C. J. Little, and the Rev. S. A. Hardin. The interment will be at Rosehill.

SHAW MAY EASE MONETARY PINCH

Likely to Deposit Today $20,000,000 of Government Funds.

NOT A SECTIONAL MOVE.

Chicago and Other Interior Points Will Share; Is Stringency Artificial?

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Secretary Shaw is expected to begin the deposit of government funds in national banks tomorrow, which will be continued until something like $20,000,000 is put into the market to relieve the money stringency.

This action of the secretary, which was announced exclusively in THE TRIBUNE dispatches last night, has come as a great surprise to Wall street. People there had been led to believe that the secretary would not interfere. They were misled in this regard, chiefly because they could not understand how any secretary of the treasury could support the market without dumping all of his available funds in the Wall street banks.

Funds for Interior.

As was explained in THE TRIBUNE dispatches last night, although Wall street seems not to have understood the situation, the secretary will deposit about as much in Chicago as in New York, and he will spread his millions around with strict impartiality.

The motive of the secretary is not so much to relieve the speculative situation in Wall street as it is to prevent any real distress to legitimate business operations. If he could be assured that no regular commercial interests would suffer he probably would let the stock gamblers in Wall street severely alone. But he has been assured by people upon whom he can rely that the high rate of money in Wall street, where stock operators are willing to pay and have paid from 15 to 25 per cent for call loans, inevitably draws money from the interior.

He hopes, by making most of the deposits away from New York City, to confer the greatest possible benefit upon general business interests without regard either to the frenzied demands of Wall street for more money or to the equally frenzied insistance of Tom Lawson and other bears that he should let the situation alone.

Rates Not So High.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Stringency continued in the money market today, but the highest rates of Monday were not repeated. Call money did not go above 18 per cent, and at the close it receded sharply. Large sums were offered before the day was out at 6 per cent, and just at the close it was reported from the floor of the exchange that loans had been made as low as 2½ per cent. This rate, however, is in no quarter regarded as a fair indication of the true situation.

One arrival of cash in this market that is regarded with much interest was $1,000,000 in gold sent by the Bank of Montreal. A representative of that bank said the money had been brought here to ease the situation.

St. Louis Loans in New York.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Six banks and trust companies of St. Louis have several million dollars on loan in New York.

A well known broker, who is in close touch with the eastern market, remarked that rates soon would drop and a level be found. Not the least concern is felt here over financial matters.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

The postoffice department has closed the case involving Postmaster Chauncey D. Sherwin of Goshen, Ind., relating to charges that the civil service laws had been violated through the bringing of pressure upon postoffice clerks to make contributions for campaign purposes. The postmaster was notified that the condition of his office must be improved.

President Roosevelt has selected Samuel W. Gummere, minister of the United States to Morocco, as the representative of this government at the conference which will be held at Algeciras, Spain, for the improvement of internal affairs of the Moorish empire.

Postmaster General Cortelyou has ordered the reinstatement of three Toledo, O., letter carriers, who were removed in February last for soliciting the sale of certain mining stock while on duty.

The anti-American boycott at Singapore, Straits Settlements, has assumed a more serious aspect, trade in that quarter being almost paralyzed.

Bonne Femme Lace
Curtains Below the Regular Retail Price Schedule

WE have selected from our own stock rooms a splendid variety of Bonne Femme lace curtains and marked prices upon them much below the figures they were designed to sell for by the makers. We took this action because they have discontinued the patterns.

This enhances the value of the curtains for private possession instead of influencing any depreciation. The description follows:

Bonne Femme curtains, with a deep flounce—not odds and ends or broken lines—but real Arabian, Battenberg and Battenberg effects, in white, ecru and Arabian tints, suitable for parlor, library, dining room and bedroom windows. The prices are from one-quarter to one-half less than regular, and all are remarkable values at the following quotations:
$15, $10, $7.50, $5, $3.75 each.

COUNCIL'S RESPONSIBILITY.

With a few exceptions the most important positions in the city government are filled through appointment by the mayor and confirmation by the council. The incumbents of these positions practically determine the character of the city government. If they are incompetent the government is incompetent. If they are compliant the government may become a mask for political deals and calculations. If they are independent the government is efficient and sincere. But in any event the quality of that government depends mainly upon those superior officials approved by the council. That body is, therefore, under the charter, directly and jointly responsible with the mayor for the various department heads and for the tone and character of the city administration.

In spite, however, of this charter responsibility the custom of confirming appointments in an irresponsible and merely formal manner has sprung up. It is a bad custom, it was never contemplated in our theory of local government, and it has been harmful in operation. It would have been of great advantage to the city, for example, if, during Mr. Harrison's administration, the council had from the start summoned up courage to refuse approval for unfit appointments. The city would have been saved from a considerable number of such appointments during his successive terms.

The duty of confirmation as a deliberative act rests not merely upon the presumption of wisdom in the collective judgment of the council, but upon the idea also that the council should thus protect the mayor from political pressure. So long as the mayor is elected by popular vote he ought not to exercise the absolute power of appointment and discharge. Confirmation by the council is thus not merely a right but a public duty. It should prove a shield for the executive from political demands.

If rumor is to be credited there is special reason why the council should at the present time definitely adopt for the future the position here urged. If it is actually proposed, as reported, to oust Harrison men from the city government or from any portion of it in order to build a Bobby Burke machine, or a Dunne machine, or for any other political project, the council ought to decline to be a party, actively or passively, to any such surrender of government to the political game. It ought instead to let it be known that henceforth all appointments will be conscientiously but resolutely confirmed or rejected on the basis of fitness.

Any exhibition of partisanship in pursuing this course would belie its entire purpose, and it may be confidently assumed that the day has passed when the council would stoop to a partisan alignment in such action. The day is at hand when that body should be held by the public to a real responsibility for the quality of administration under department heads which it has itself approved.

BLOCKI AND THE INTEREST.

The amendment adopted last Tuesday to the city charter provides that "Neither the treasurer nor any other officer of the city of Chicago having public funds in his possession or custody shall be entitled to the interest accruing thereon or any part thereof, but such interest shall inure to the benefit of such city and be paid into its treasury." The controller is to secure from different banks bids stating the rate of interest they will be willing to pay respectively on city deposits, these are to be reported to the council not later than Dec. 15 next, and the council is then to decide upon the bank or banks which shall, for the following year, hold the city funds. This new plan should go into operation on Jan. 1 next.

The question remains, however, as to what shall be done about the interest accrued or to accrue on city deposits during the current year. It used to be the custom for the city treasurer to pocket all such interest, and at the current rate of 2 per cent it amounted to a considerable sum. The office of city treasurer was thus of great political value. Four years ago the city passed an ordinance limiting the city treasurer to 25 per cent of such interest and requiring him to report monthly all interest payments or credits on city deposits.

The power of the city to enforce this ordinance was questioned. The issue was not tested. Instead, compromise arrangements have been made with recent city treasurers, whereby they have received a minor fraction of interest payments, and the balance has gone to the city. Treasurer Hummel gave a campaign pledge not to keep more than $15,000 a year, and he was allowed that sum. Curiously enough, however, it transpired later that his arrangement with the banks called for only 1½ per cent interest instead of the customary 2 per cent on his deposits, and the suspicion has been held that this rate was the subject of collusion between himself and the banks concerned.

The controller has demanded of Treasurer Blocki that he send in the monthly statements required by ordinance as to interest on his treasury deposits, but Mr. Blocki has thus far declined to comply with the demand. He pleads that his predecessor did not do so. He omits to mention, however, that his predecessor had a definite understanding with the city that his share of the interest should not exceed a stated maximum, while Treasurer Blocki seems to acknowledge no such understanding. It is surmised, accordingly, that he may perhaps endeavor to retain all interest up to January next, when the new law should go into operation.

The finance committee, in considering the subject, will hardly assent to such unfair procedure without at least testing the validity of the ordinance referred to. Treasurer Blocki should have a fair and liberal compensation for his services, expenses, and responsibilities to the end of this year, but no more. He should account for any excess above that amount to the city.

CLOSING THE SALOONS ON SUNDAY.

THE TRIBUNE has received a number of letters from persons who wish to know why it is resisting the demand upon Mayor Dunne to close the saloons in Chicago on Sunday. THE TRIBUNE is not resisting that demand. It is a matter strictly between the mayor and the persons who urge it. If they can prevail upon him to make the attempt they will furnish an extraordinary amount of interesting reading matter for the newspapers, and THE TRIBUNE will have its share of the news. We shall have lively times in Chicago for awhile. Everybody will wish to read in the Monday papers about the saloons that are closed on Sunday and those that are not closed.

Having opposed the election of Mayor Dunne in the first instance, not desiring to have him reëlected, and believing that he has little chance of serving another term, even if he shall be renominated, THE TRIBUNE should logically be among the most fervent of all those who are urging upon him the policy of closing the saloons on the Sabbath day. But it is not without the province of a newspaper to point out what the probable consequences of such action would be. Nor is it unfair to notice that both Mayor Dunne and his opponent, Mr. Harlan, announced distinctly before the last election that they would not attempt to close the saloons on Sunday if either of them was elected. Now it is "up to" the advocates of Sunday saloon closing to compel the mayor if they can, to depart from his pledge and to execute the state law, which, from their point of view, is so easy of enforcement.

The history of the Sunday saloon closing agitation is almost as old as the city. It had its last formal introduction to society thirty years ago, when, in response to precisely the kind of demand that is made now, the then mayor attempted to close, and for a time actually did close, substantially all the saloons in Chicago. There were exceptions to the rule, but the policy was so nearly enforced for a time that it met the views of the various ministerial associations that had insisted upon it.

What were the consequences? At the next mayoralty election the advocates of Sunday saloon closing were overwhelmed and a mayor was elected who gave the disorderly elements of Chicago a free hand as long as he remained in office. Such a carnival of vice and crime as then prevailed in the city had not been known, and has not been known since. Nor was it in these respects alone that the city was misgoverned. Financial affairs were handled in a reckless way that drove the city to the verge of confessed bankruptcy. Misrule prevailed in every department of the local government.

When an attempt was made later to put the "lid" on again tightly as regards vice and crime it was only partially successful. Then began the rule of the elder Harrison, who was elected four times successively on precisely this issue. He was succeeded by a number of mayors, none of whom has attempted to put the Sunday closing policy in force.

If the advocates of Sunday saloon closing can bring Mayor Dunne to their way of thinking and induce him to enforce the state law THE TRIBUNE has no objection to offer to the experiment. The sooner he begins it the better. It is, however, permissible to point out what is likely to be the result of the policy insisted upon if it shall be attempted in Chicago.

The advocates of the movement are apparently not aware that while there is a state law on the subject the ordinance requiring the closing of saloons on Sunday was formally repealed by the council many years ago. By the vote which brought about that repeal the mayor was in effect notified that he was not expected by the municipal legislature to enforce the law. The machinery for the execution of state laws is largely in the hands of the officers of the state. Primarily it becomes the duty of the state's attorney to take action in the Sunday saloon closing matter if the mayor refuses or neglects to do his duty. The state's attorney is as little disposed to take up this question as the mayor is, and no one of the officers of the state residing in this city is particularly active or vigilant in the premises. The only method of procedure seems to be by action before the justice courts or the grand jury, and a separate trial will be required for each offender. The attempt has been made, but those engaged in it became discouraged after a few jury trials had been held in the justice courts, and the juries invariably failed to convict.

When the sentiment of the community is against a measure of this kind, and the courts, the juries, and the officers of both the municipality and the state are unwilling to proceed, the execution of the law is almost impossible. But we see no reason why the advocates of Sunday saloon closing should not persist, and if they have the power, compel Mayor Dunne to close every saloon in Chicago on Sunday and keep it closed until the expiration of his term.

AMERICAN PROFESSOR IN BERLIN.

Dr. Holmes' observation that there are three Johns, John as he sees himself, John as another sees him, and John as God knows him, is as true of nations as of men. Really there are more than three, for citizens have different mental pictures of their own nation, and each foreign state has its peculiar view. To make one's own opinion and that of others coincide is to take a long stride toward universal peace. To see ourselves as others see us would free us, perhaps, from many an error, but to make others see us as we see ourselves would free us from many a foe. Hitherto the task of representing the ideals of the nation before foreigners has been left to ambassadors or to those writers so luminous as to be visible from afar. Now the task is to fall in part upon American universities. The establishment of a chair in a German university, to be filled in yearly rotation by eminent American professors, is in every regard an admirable thing, and the name of Theodore Roosevelt, bestowed upon the chair, is an appropriate and popular choice. The first envoy to the courts of ancient learning, the first American ambassador to the youth of Germany, Prof. Burgess of Columbia, is a man fit to represent American scholarship and American patriotism. It is an auspicious beginning.

For many years certain universities have coöperated in maintaining an American school at Athens and one at Rome. To these schools eminent men are sent, and to their care is intrusted the pursuance of classical studies on classical ground. The students, however, are not natives of the countries in which the schools are placed. They are Americans, and, while they profit by the guidance freely offered them, neither they nor the professors make any great impression upon the people among whom they live. They constitute a colony of exiles, absorbed in contemplation of the remote past and in plans for their future in the homeland. The new chair is in an established German university, frequented by German students, and the theme is America. It must have an influence increasing day by day.

In the middle ages, when Latin was the universal tongue of culture, migrations of professors were common. Wherever a man was set down to lecture he could be understood in some degree by his listeners. In these days that free interchange is impossible except in some of the Catholic colleges. A teacher must speak the language of his students. There are many professors of foreign origin in America. Universities, especially the University of Chicago, have frequently invited distinguished foreigners to lecture before them. American professors have aided in the establishment of universities in Japan, and now Japan sends us professors. But none of these cases presents the official, the ambassadorial character of the new Theodore Roosevelt professorship. The schools we have founded in conquered territory are partly intended to reconcile a subject race to political facts. These lectures are to win the good will of a great independent rival nation. The example should be followed for at least one university in each of the greater countries, and we will welcome equally a series of representative professors from other lands.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1905: By the Marquise de Fontenoy

THASOS, celebrated by Herodotus and by Pliny, invaded in turn by Darius, by Xerxes, and by Alexander the Great, is once more, after many centuries, about to become a source of discord among the rulers of Europe. It is the private and personal property of the sultan, and having been since the days of the ancient Phoenicians noted for its mines and for its latent mineral wealth, now has been ceded by him to a German syndicate, which is to develop the mineral riches, paying a large royalty to the Ottoman ruler.

If this were a purely economic undertaking there would be little exception to offer in the matter, and it would be regarded merely as another instance of the amazing spirit of enterprise of the kaiser in promoting the economic grandeur and welfare of Germany. But there is another side to the question. Thasos lies so near the entrance of the Dardanelles that it may be regarded as commanding the access to the straits, and once the island is in German hands, with a view to industrial development, it would be only natural that in the event of any offensive measures being adopted by the great powers against the porte in connection with the Macedonian question that William would land troops and establish a German naval station there for the purpose of protecting German interests on the island.

The extent to which the kaiser is keen about Thasos is shown by the fact that three or four weeks ago the German ambassador, Baron Marschall von Bieberstein, after a prolonged audience with the sultan, went off to inspect the island, with the members of his staff, after which he left for Berlin to report to his sovereign.

Incidentally the sultan has assumed a less pliant attitude towards England, Austria, Italy, and France, as well as Russia, who are clamoring for an exclusively foreign and Christian administration of Macedonia, and of his other Christian provinces. In fact, he is openly defying them, declining to permit foreign interference in the internal affairs of his empire. The powers now are discussing among themselves as to which of them is to assume the costly task of enforcing their behests, and there seems to be a general disposition to press the duty upon Great Britain, no other government apparently feeling sufficient interest in the matter to care to embark in the expense and trouble of a war with Turkey about the question.

But even England is certain to hesitate, in view of the possibility of the kaiser openly championing the sultan's cause, on the ground that all the powers concerned, and England most of all, are pledged to maintain unimpaired the integrity of the Ottoman empire and the observance of those clauses of the treaty of Paris which prohibit the passage of ships of war through the Dardanelles.

It is no secret that efforts were made two years ago by Germany in London to induce the British government to modify its policy of harassing the sultan about Macedonia. Whether the kaiser today would go to the length of a more vigorous defense of his friend at Constantinople is a mooted question which is exciting speculation in every capital in Europe.

◆

The cession of the island of Thasos tends to confirm the impression that the sultan has made certain of the kaiser's backing. And it cannot be denied that by this policy, which Emperor William has adopted with regard to the porte since his accession to the throne, he has transformed Germany, which formerly had no influence to speak of at Stamboul, into the predominant power on the shores of the Bosporus, has established her as one of the leading factors in the affairs of the Mediterranean, and has won for his subjects so many favors and concessions from the Turkish government that their commercial and industrial supremacy in the dominions of the padishah is assured for many years to come.

In view of the stories again current at Paris with regard to the duc de Chaulnes, who enjoys the questionable distinction of having been jilted by two American girls in succession, despite his ancient lineage and historic ducal coronet, it is only fair to recall the fact that he has been handicapped in life by the early influences of his boyhood, having, with his sister, now the duchess of Uzes, been the object of one of the most sensational kidnaping episodes in modern times.

The kidnaping was perpetrated by people who professed to be acting in behalf of the children's mother, and the late duchess of Chaulnes, and as the affair took place at the gloomy old castle of Sable, where the youngsters were kept more or less in durance by their stern and universally dreaded grandmother, the duchess of Chevreuse, there were all the elements present of a bloodstirring melodrama.

The case of the ill fated duchess de Chaulnes furnishes a striking illustration of the manner in which the system of "curatel" and of "conseil judiciarie," concerning which I wrote two days ago in these letters, can sometimes be abused for the sake of perpetrating gross pieces of family tyranny, injustice, and persecution, and of wreaking cruel prejudices and private revenges.

The late duchess de Chaulnes was an extraordinarily beautiful Russian woman, a penniless Princess Galitzin, who had married the duc de Chaulnes only after the latter had secured a most reluctant consent to the match from his mother, the duchess de Chevreuse. This woman at once conceived a violent hatred for her daughter-in-law, based on differences, religious, social, and racial. She put the most cruel interpretation on everything done by her daughter-in-law, sought to arouse the animosity of her son the duke, and of all the other members of the family against the young duchess, and finally, when the duke died, summoned a family council, to which she presented a long list of her daughter-in-law's alleged misdeeds and shortcomings.

On the strength of these, she obtained a verdict from the family council decreeing the young widowed Mme. de Chaulnes unworthy of the guardianship of her children, and of the administration of their fortune. Thanks to the enormous influence of the Luynes and Chevreuse family, no difficulty was experienced in securing a judicial ratification of this verdict from the courts.

The young duchess was virtually outlawed. Poor, a foreigner, moreover, ill advised, she did not know how to defend herself, and actually died of want and starvation (without ever having been allowed to see her children again) in the poorest quarters of Paris in 1883, the first funeral expenses being furnished by a former servant, who had reached her mistress' side too late to be able to help her.

Indeed, there have been few more cruel tragedies than that of the lovely duchess de Chaulnes, a victim of the so-called "family councils" of France.

PERSONAL.

Joseph H. Choate has resumed his law practice in New York City, but his clients will be only the extremely rich or the reverse.

M. L. Garret and E. W. Preston of Sioux City, Ia., claim to have patented an invention by which it will be possible to talk around the world.

Sig. Caruso, the famous tenor, studied engineering when a youth, and, subsequently served in the artillery, and finally devoted himself to opera.

Miss Carolina Marcial of Seville, Spain, who has recently taken her B. A. degree from the government institute in Madrid, is now in this country on behalf of the International Institute league.

Mr. Balfour at the time of a cabinet crisis could not keep his feet still, but would keep thrusting them out and then jerking them back, then striding from the room, only to return and repeat the process.

Lord Hawke is beloved by the Yorkshire professional cricket players, and well he might be. He is godfather to most of their children, and out of season he has each professional in turn, with his family, if he has such, to stay with him at his place, Wighill Park, Tadcaster.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

AN ECHOED HOUR

Last night, when I was dozing, half awake and half asleep,
And the silence all about me was so mystically deep,
Then I sought the path to slumber as of old I used to seek—
With my hand upon the pillow, flattened underneath my cheek;
And the strangest fancies hurried to my dimly drowsy mind:
I was let across the borders of the land I've left behind.

It was night—the hush of twilight—and I heard the low refrain
Of the singing of the crickets in the meadow by the lane;
And the owl called in the thicket, and the whippoorwill gave cry
To its hollow, mournful measure, and the trees began to sigh,
And my eyes came half way open—and again upon the wall
Was the flicker of the shadows from the candle in the hall.

And the walls changed in the magic to the walls I used to know,
With the olden pictures on them, and the ceiling bending low;
And the breeze came through the window, trailing jasmine odors on,
With the spice of honeysuckle, as it did in days agone;
And the sky was as a curtain flecked with gems of golden light—
And I lisped my "Now I lay me," as I used to, to the night.

Then I thought not of the morrow with the cares that it might bring,
Nor of sorrow that awaited with its goads that sear and sting,
For I knew naught of tomorrow nor of somber sorrow, then—
And I drifted into dreamland as a careless boy, again.
And I do not understand it, and I do not want to know
How it was that I was given this one hour of long ago.

Sandy Graham	Mart E. Heisey
Lem Hicks	Charles Halton
The Professor	Charles Halton

It's the same old musical comedy story. Material not without value. Company contains competent people. Material needs shaping. People need directing. Performance must be built up. Production offered too soon in a city of size and importance of Chicago. If managers do not lose faith and can get hold of the right stage director piece may prove a money maker.

It seems useless to go over the same story again. The patient types have fashioned the phrases so often in the last year that the moment musical comedy is mentioned they hop into place without the aid of the compositor. The readers of reviews must be weary of seeing the same criticisms made; the reviewer certainly is weary of making them. If only the managers would grow equally weary of having them offered, and would "try out" their entertainments before submitting them to Chicago audiences, and thus inviting the loss that can but result, the trouble would be averted. The remedy lies with the managers. Until they see the folly of their present system, the same old story will have to be told, and in the same old way.

"The Winning Girl" starts out promisingly. Its opening scene in the manicure parlors is uncommonly neat, and the spectator is led to believe that the evening's entertainment will be correspondingly elegant and spirited. But, alas, things soon begin to sag and lag. The first act drones and drags along with only an occasional bright spot to give the onlooker courage and to keep alive within him the hope something of real value may turn up after all. But the second act is worse than the first. It is hopeless as it stands at present, for its movement is so slow and its "padding" so abundant that the auditor sinks into a kind of stupid daze, which has not the restfulness of slumber, and yet is so benumbing that it unfits him to get up and out. Old familiar vaudeville turns which have done faithful service for many years are introduced and every principal who has a specialty anywhere in his or her repertory is urged to bring it out and parade it just as long as the audience will endure. There is farce and comedy and melodrama and singing and national dance and burlesque and everything known to the vaudeville, musical comedy, light opera, or "legitimate" stage dragged into that second act. That some elements in this mixup should be good is unavoidable in the nature of things.

There are clever people in the company and could some live fashioner of farce and some energetic stage manager take hold of "The Winning Girl," begin rehearsals all over again, and, securing a live book, produce and stage it in live fashion, a success should result. As it is, the entertainment is dismal, dull, deadening.

Such bright spots as are encountered in the course of the performance are due to the cleverness of the people engaged. Blanche Deyo is personally so sweet and winsome, her singing is so agreeable, and her dancing so neat and graceful that she becomes a source of consolation as the evening creeps along. Her "nation dance" in the last act is a success and so long as "The Winning Girl" survives doubtless will be retained. Mr. Ross and Miss Fenton work hard to make anything of the crude material given them, and in the second act introduce their tragedy travesty, which is familiar to all patrons of the vaudeville. Mr. Bond wanders around painfully out of place in a musical comedy of this sort, yet trying to do all he can with the rôle of a gay husband who has been out at night and is afraid his wife will learn of it. Miss Hull in the title rôle, is Violet Dare, the vaudeville singer, to the life in voice, action, and manner. She works strenuously to please, and certain of her offerings last evening found applausive favor. Mr. Fairleigh sings two songs with some success and Mr. Norton plays the rôle of the dude son, who is responsible for all the complications around which the piece is built. The music is catchy and the settings and the costumes are attractive.

The French theater presented in Steinway hall yesterday afternoon and evening Pailleron's three act comedy, "Le Monde ou l'on S'Ennuie." The auditorium was filled to its capacity at both performances and the work of the company was received with hearty approval. The rôle of Bellac was assumed by Herman Devries, the French singer, who is resident here. His long operatic experience stood him in excellent use, giving him ease of carriage, grace in movement, and full command of his histrionic powers. He played the pompous character with excellent understanding of its vanity, conceit, and self-complacency, and in the long dissertation on love in the second act carried the speech through with capital effect. Benedict Papot assumed on short notice the part of Roger and despite an occasional hesitancy in the lines gave a good account of himself. Edgar Arby as Paul did some of the best work of the afternoon. His scene in the last act with Jeanne was carried through with exceptional lightness and naturalness, and scored a distinct and deserved success. Mrs. Robbins was charming as Suzanne, playing with verve and spirit, and reading her lines with admirable understanding. Miss Scaffe as Lucy, Mme. Favard as the duchess, and Mme. von Sloesser as the countess were satisfactory.

Last evening in Music hall a recital was given by Irene Armstrong Funk, a soprano who but recently has returned from study in Paris, where she was a pupil of no less a notable than Jean de Reszke. She offered a program which included selections from "Marriage of Figaro," "Hamlet," and "Manon" (Massenet), as well as songs by French, German, and American composers. Owing to "The Winning Girl" I was able to hear only a few songs and the Gavotte and the Waltz from "Manon," but these convinced that Mrs. Funk is the possessor of a soprano voice of high range and of sweet, pleasing character which would appear to be adapted by nature rather to the singing of music of a light florid character than to the delivery of songs and lieder. The voice has been compelled to take on a volume and color which it is believed are not native to it, and which are apt to prove dangerous. The flexibility and facility which should belong to an organ of this kind, and which certain phrases in the "Manon" selections gave glimpses of, are impaired by this enlarging process, and the waver which was noticeable in the lower tones last evening is believed to be due to this rather than to nervousness. The voice is a sweet, sympathetic, and willing one, but last night it impressed as being asked to do what it could not best do. Mrs. Funk shows good appreciation of what constitutes pleasing phrasing and effective shading in vocal delivery. Her voice does not always respond to her desires, but her intention is good and is evident. She enunciates with considerable clearness, has temperament and musical feeling, and the voice, save for its unsafe enlargement, is well placed and generally easily produced.

An opportunity to hear Harald Heide, who is ranked by critics as Norway's greatest violinist since Ole Bull, will be afforded Chicagoans this evening, when Mr. Heide appears in several numbers at the concert to be given by the Norwegian Singing society at Wicker Park hall, 503 West North avenue. Mr. Heide, who is conductor of the orchestra of the National theater at Christiania, is in the United States on a leave of absence visiting his countrymen here. He has made several concert tours through the three Scandinavian countries, Germany, and France, and European critics speak of his musical work in the highest terms. Some of his Chicago friends are arranging an individual concert for him, to be given soon. After a brief visit to the northwest Mr. Heide will return to Christiania for the opera season and other musical festivities arranged in connection with the probable election of Prince Charles of Denmark as king of Norway.

Girl from the Golden West Wins.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—There can be no two opinions about the new Belasco play, in which Miss Blanche Bates appeared tonight. It is of the good old melodrama kind that has been familiar from Third to Eighth (not excluding Broadway) ever since Bret Harte popularized the wild west. And it will go with men of all sorts and conditions as no other such play ever has gone. Success is written large in every scene and every line of it.

The new offering is staged and acted with rare, perhaps unique, ability and imagination. But not even the most passionate devotee of externals and scenic art could deceive himself as to its character as a whole.

Mr. Hilliard, as a girl's lover, is lacking perhaps in romantic dash and in passionate fervor, but at worst he is a handsome heroic. The villainous sheriff of Frank Keenan is a triumph in melodramatic force.

The chief honors, of course, fell to Miss Bates. She was drolly, sympathetically gauche in the homely, ungrammatical phases of The Girl's unsophisticated nature, frankly arch and winsome in her wooing of her road agent; in the inevitable alternations that followed of love, hate, passionate jealousy, and no less passionate self-sacrifice, she displayed powers worthy of far higher things.

"The Girl from the Golden West" has been brought into rivalry unfortunately with Milton Royle's "Squaw Man." There is no real similarity between them.

Salome Furnishes No Shocks.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Oscar Wilde's "Salome" was presented for the first time in America tonight at the Berkeley lyceum by volunteer players under the auspices of the Progressive Stage society. "Salome" and two other one act plays, "On the Road" and "The Revolt," were well received.

There may have been a few who went to the Berkeley lyceum with an idea "Salome" would be a trifle more Wildesque than other plays of the late Oscar. Probably they were disappointed. The story of the play follows pretty closely the bible narrative. There are no shocks in Salome.

Mercedes Leigh enacted the title rôle, John Martin was Herod, and William J. Romain was Iokanaan.

PAN-AMERICAN POLICY OF ROOT MAY MEAN A UNITED HEMISPHERE.

Secretary of State Proposes to Cultivate Friendly Relations with All Republics—Outlook for Greater Good Will and Increase in Commerce.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A new policy has been inaugurated by Secretary of State Root with respect to the relations of the United States and Central and South American republics. He proposes to take such action on pending questions and those that may arise over a suspicion of American motives and irritation felt over the American assumption of superiority in the western hemisphere. This shall be allayed, he hopes, and finally may disappear. If he succeeds it will mean a united hemisphere politically, a pacific settlement of all controversies, and a tremendous development of the commerce between the American states.

It is a large contract the secretary has undertaken, but he has begun the execution so auspiciously that the administration is hopeful of an early improvement in Pan-American relations. Diplomatic agents of the southern republics in Washington are watching the secretary's course with intense interest. He has expressed the belief that "almost all wars, controversies, and bitterness between nations result from want of good understanding, from the failure by the people of one nation truly to understand and appreciate the people of another nation." He has given as a true cure the "acquaintance, personal good relation, and friendship among the individual people of two countries."

Cultivates Friendly Relations.

Among the first steps the secretary took to carry out his ideas was the cultivation of friendly personal relations with the Pan-American diplomats. He has shown a number of them courtesies which in the past they did not receive. With Mr. Nabuco, the Brazilian ambassador, for example, he apparently has struck up a particularly warm friendship, and Washington pinched itself one night when it saw this diplomat as the guest of the secretary of state at the theater.

Nabuco is one of the ablest and most cultivated envoys who has ever been accredited to this government, an author, raconteur, and man of high lineage and wide experience. There was surprise, therefore, not because Nabuco was the guest of Secretary Root, but because the Brazilian ambassador was at the theater in company with the secretary of state. It is understood that Secretary Root will continue to display the same consideration and courtesy towards the Pan-American representatives that he shows those from Europe.

It is well recognized by men in Washington there is a disposition on the part of the Americans to regard themselves as superior to the natives of other countries on this hemisphere. President Roosevelt and Secretary Root recognize no such superiority on our part or inferiority on the part of the Pan-Americans. They consider it ridiculous, in fact, that any such an idea should exist. Social attentions will be paid to the Pan-Americans, and during the remainder of the administration it will tend to show the country and other republics how high an opinion the authorities here have of their culture. The keynote of the administration's attitude recently was expressed by the president in these words:

"The outside world is only beginning to understand the astonishing progress made not only socially and industrially but in science, literature, and art by the Central and South American republics. In medical matters, in scientific, industrial, social, and artistic matters, each of our countries has something to learn from the other."

Cautious in Politics.

In political questions Secretary Root is proceeding with the consideration and caution which has been marked by the diplomats of every republic. There has been no precipitancy in dealing with Cuba on account of the recent internal disturbances and appearance of yellow fever, or, more serious yet, in connection with the objectionable treaty signed by Great Britain and Cuba. The negotiations which Mr. Root when secretary of war conducted with President Palma and other Cubans before and after the American military occupation gave him an insight into the Cuban character and through it to the Latin-American character generally, which have enabled him to treat Cuba with the same deference he would a strong European state.

In Venezuela he has acted as mediator between President Castro and the French government with the same caution he would have observed had he been requested to act as mediator between France and Great Britain. He did not force mediation upon Castro; he first ascertained whether that ruler would be willing to permit him to act as a channel through which negotiations between France and Venezuela could be conducted. He has not pressed Castro to accept any French proposal; he has gone no farther, in fact, than is required by strict international etiquette, though he has let both governments understand that the United States would welcome a pacific settlement of their controversy.

Other Republics Interested.

Chile, Peru, and Bolivia, which have vital boundary disputes, are keenly interested in the action of Secretary Root in the Venezuelan affair. Peru would like the United States to force Chile and Bolivia to arbitrate the difficulty which exists between the three countries. It is now evident that the secretary will do nothing of the kind, but will observe a "hands off" policy unless he should be requested by the disputants to act as a mediator or arbitrator.

The secretary is pressing arrangements for the assembling of a third Pan-American congress, in which every republic on this hemisphere shall participate. The last Pan-American congress adopted a resolution providing that another congress should be called within five years. This resolution happened to come to the attention of the secretary a few days ago, and he immediately invited the ministers of the republics to the state department and proposed that a program for the congress be prepared.

The secretary took occasion to point out the good these congresses do in bringing the participating states closer together, a sentiment which was concurred in by the ministers, through their dean, Mr. Leger, the Haytian minister.

Aids Pan-American Railway.

There are various questions requiring the action of the republics, a settlement of which will lead to better relations. Among them is the connection of the Pan-American railroad lines so there will be continuous rail communication between the United States and every country of the hemisphere. The effect on Pan-American commerce would be tremendous. There is a general recognition of the desirability of such a line. Only recently a bill was introduced in the Brazilian legislature providing for the construction of a transcontinental railroad, which would connect with the railroads of Bolivia, Chile, and Peru. Argentina now has railroad connection with Chile. Mexico has greatly increased her railroad facilities.

A special report on the Pan-American railroad was made some time ago by a special American commission, and will be useful as a basis of discussion and perhaps action in the forthcoming congress. The congress also will endeavor to improve the trade relations. Arbitration now probably will play an important part in the discussions, as all the states have been invited to send representatives to the new peace conference called by the emperor of Russia in September.

President Roosevelt told a delegate to the Pan-American sanitary conference that he believed this hemisphere would teach the world an object lesson by showing that separate nations could dwell together in absolute harmony in a common effort for the betterment of conditions affecting them all. This is the ideal for which Secretary Root is striving.

What the Shakers Believe.

[From Leslie's Weekly.]

It was just 130 years ago last August that Ann Lee of Manchester, England, fleeing from persecution in that country because of her religious views, landed on the New England coast. Ann Lee was a leader of a new school of religious thinkers and devotees, whose origin is traceable to the example and influence of the exiled Camisards, known in England as the French prophets, but later and more distinctively as the "Shaking Quakers," so called from a certain feature of their religious ceremonies. The cardinal points in the belief and practice of this new religious body were simplicity of life, communism, and celibacy. "They (the Shakers) hold," says one of their leading authorities, "that a virgin life is fundamental to organized communism, as the private family relationship necessarily requires its own centers of affection and moneyed interests, while a united inheritance requires the renunciation of these. They freely admit that the private family is necessary and must always exist—the seed garden of the human race; but they also recognize that higher nature which makes communistic association as great a necessity—the harvest field of the race." They expressly emphasize the fact that they do not condemn marriage as ungodly, but only hold that the celibate life is the right life for those who would be the teachers and founders of a new and nobler order of humanity—the pioneers in the human brotherhood that it is to be. They forbid the use of swine's flesh and all intoxicants. Industry, frugality, charity, and unostentation in dress and manners are enjoined upon all their followers. The government in Shaker communities is dual, "sisters" and "brothers" acting in united capacities, their chief counselors or leaders being known as elders and eldresses, who hold parental rule each over the members of their own sex.

DEBUTANTE AFFAIRS TAKE UP MOST OF THE ATTENTION.

Latest One Announced Is a Tea to Be Given Next Wednesday by Mrs. Hugh McBirney Johnston — Mrs. Charles H. Conover Planning a Luncheon on Dec. 5—Several Dinner Parties to Precede Dr. and Mrs. Gardiner's Dance on Nov. 27.

To be a débutante is to be the person of the hour just at present. There are innumerable affairs being planned and given for the young women who are enjoying their first season, one of the latest being a tea to be given by Mrs. Hugh McBirney Johnston, formerly Miss Ethel Hulburd. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston recently moved into an apartment at 111 Walton place, and the tea will be the first affair of any size that Mrs. Johnston has given since her marriage. It will take place on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 22, the hours to be from 3 until 6 o'clock.

Another affair arranged for the débutantes is a luncheon to be given by Mrs. Charles H. Conover, 590 North State street, on Tuesday, Dec. 5, and still another affair is a dinner at which Mrs. George P. Fisher Jr., 144 Astor street, will act as hostess, next Monday evening.

There are several dinners arranged to take place before the dance to be given by Dr. and Mrs. Edwin James Gardiner, 85 Astor street, at Lincoln hall on Monday evening, Nov. 27, for their daughter, Miss Marion Gardiner. Mr. and Mrs. William D. Kerfoot, 120 Astor street, will have a company of fourteen for their daughter, Miss Ethel Kerfoot, while Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, 31 Banks street, and Miss Mary Ryerson will give a dinner in honor of Miss Harriet Greeley. Mrs. Lawrence Williams, 396 Ontario street, will likewise entertain at dinner for her daughter, Miss Cornelia Williams.

◆

Mrs. William Borden, 89 Bellevue place, will give a luncheon on Friday, Nov. 24, in honor of Miss Marjorie Whiting and Miss Barbara Whiting, who are cousins, and who are both débutantes. Miss Marjorie Whiting is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Whiting, 46 Cedar street, whose mother will give a tea in her honor tomorrow afternoon. Assisting Mrs. Whiting will be Mrs. Borden, Mrs. John Hill Whiting, and Mrs. Paul Gray, the last of Detroit, and the young women to preside in the dining room will be Miss Marion Gardiner, Miss Mary Cudahy, and her guests, the Misses Dunsmore of Minneapolis, Miss Katherine Fisher, Miss Muriel Waite, Miss Nina McNally, Miss Barbara Whiting, and Miss Louise Shoenberger.

◆

Miss Barbara Whiting will be introduced by her mother, Mrs. John Hill Whiting, 524 Dearborn avenue, next Monday afternoon at a tea to be given from 4 until 6 o'clock. The assisting party will be composed of Mrs. Granville Browning, Miss Marjorie Whiting, Miss Louisa Nevins, Miss Louise Shoenberger, Miss Ethel Williams, Miss Gratia Jones, Miss Cora Whelpley, Miss Ruth Hedly, and Miss Zaida Hemming of Colorado Springs.

Mrs. James Dun, 503 North State street, will give a small tea this afternoon for Mrs. Huntington Wilson. The hour will be 5 o'clock.

Miss Josephine S. Russell was a débutante of yesterday, being introduced at a reception from 3 until 6 o'clock held by Mrs. Claude Bowman Davis, Mrs. Samuel Gale Taylor Jr., and Miss Emma J. Mead, at the residence of Miss Russell's grandmother, Mrs. Edwin R. Mead, 41 Stratford place. Those assisting were Mrs. Mead, Mrs. A. M. Watkins, Mrs. Jesse Watkins, Mrs. C. G. Mead, Miss Marguerite McConnell, Miss Katherine McConnell, and Miss Charlotte Gregory.

◆

Mrs. Hugh S. Fullerton gave a musical yesterday afternoon at her residence, 2396 Magnolia avenue, to introduce Miss Laurine Gardiner, a young vocalist of Monroe, Mich., to the musical people of Edgewater. Miss Laura Neel assisted.

A Woman Told Me

the other day that she had "known The Delineator for years." What she really meant was that The Delineator was just what she had not known—not for years; and there must be thousands of women in the city thinking The Delineator is as it was in their mothers' day.

"Do you take it regularly?"

"No, not now."

"Have you seen it last year, or the year before last, or within the past five years?"

No, she didn't think she had.

And yet—"she had known The Delineator for years."

It was so different last year from what it had ever been before that no printed comparison can do the change justice. It has been so much better and bigger this year than last year that all previous improvements are as nothing. For the year to come it will be a new and greater Delineator throughout. Everything is new in it excepting its good old name.

The Delineator for December
Now on the Newsstands

Proves the new order of things

For colorwork, presswork and general beauty and usefulness, the December Delineator is conspicuous among the Christmas magazines. Eight paintings by J. C. Leyendecker, illustrating and interpreting the Twenty-third Psalm, is the most extensive color feature of the number, but a painting by Alphonse Mucha, accompanying a poem, "The Mother of Bartimeus," by Theodosia Garrison, is fully as notable as an art work. The short fiction of the number comprises stories by Hamlin Garland, John Luther Long, Gilbert Parker, and Alice Brown. The opening chapters of a new serial—a woman's club story—"The President of Quex," are given; it is said to be in the nature of a reply to "The Evolution of a Club Woman," which created great interest in the magazine last year.

There is also the continuation of "At Spinster Farm," articles on Brass and Copper Utensils in "The Collector's Manual" and the Child at Play in "The Rights of the Child." A series of illustrated papers under the title "Some Heroines of Shakspere—by their Impersonators," also begins in this number with Eleanor Robson on Juliet. The pastimes for children are filled with the spirit of the season, and there is an abundance of matter of housewifely interest.

In the 240 pages of this issue are included: 64 pages of Fashions, 46 pages of Fiction, 41 pages of Special Features, 16 pages of Juvenile Matter, 17 pages of Needlework, 29 pages on Domestic Subjects. There are 12 pages in full color, and the total number of illustrations is nearly 500.

GOOD BOXING BY THE AMATEURS.

Defeat of Fred Gilmore in Bout at Coliseum Is Surprise of Tourney.

CONTEST HARD FOUGHT.

Ben Linstedt Scores Knockout on Canadian Champion; Coulon Also Beaten.

The second night's contests in the new Illinois Athletic club's amateur boxing championships at the Coliseum drew a crowd of 4,000 persons, who saw fifteen fights in the various classes. It also saw the defeat of Champion Fred Gilmore by Ben Lindstedt in two rounds. The clever John F. Coulon also was beaten.

Gilmore's defeat was the surprise party of the evening, as it was taken for granted he had the championship of the 135 pound class safely stowed away in his inside pocket. The boy showed all his cleverness, but he could not withstand the cyclonic rushes nor the hard wallops of his comparatively unknown opponent. Lindstedt was not as scientific as Harry Gilmore's boy, but he had the willingness to mix and the punch, and those essential points his long suits, were enough to win him the fight.

Practically Out in First Round.

He had Fred dead to the world before the expiration of the first round, and the minute's rest was hardly enough for the youngster to get his bearings to do himself justice in the second round, which saw his finish.

Coulon did excellent work, and according to students of scientific boxing and amateur rules, should have been returned the winner, as he outclassed his conqueror in all departments of the game.

The tourney will end tonight with, if they all fill, twenty-one bouts, which will include the preliminaries and the finals in the heavier divisions.

McAllen, the reported professional, will be barred from the finals if the charges of professionalism can be proved.

Lauber Scores First Knockout.

The opening bout of the evening brought together the first pair of lightweights of the tournament, E. C. Babcock and Leo Lauber, and also saw the first clean knockout of the meet. Lauber doing the trick in the second round with a right to the jaw. Babcock was an ambidextrous boxer, shifting from right to left position, but that let him out and the crowd was not surprised to see him beaten.

Fred Spierling's accurate left hand jabs in the last round in his contest with Joe Kiegel in the second event won him the bout. The pair was pretty evenly matched with regard to height, build, and science, and put up an interesting contest. It was either boy's fight when the gong clanged denoting the end of the second round, but Fred's jabs in the final session landed him winner.

Champion Gilmore Knocked Out.

The fifth bout was the banner event of the tourney and saw the defeat by the knockout route of the amateur champion of Canada, Fred Gilmore, at the hands of Ben Lindstedt of the Sentinel Athletic club. The fight was a whirlwind affair, the boys going at it hammer and tongs the moment they reached the center of the ring.

Lindstedt, because of Gilmore's standing as a class A amateur, was considered an easy mark. That impression faded before the fight was ten seconds old, as he sailed into Gilmore like a wildcat, using a pretty good left and a hard swinging right. Gilmore worked a straight left cleverly, but could not withstand Lindstedt's cyclonic rushes, and before the spectators awoke to the situation Fred was on the floor from the effects of one of Lindstedt's swinging rights, which connected with the back of Gilmore's head. Fred was up instanter and they went at it again.

Right Swing Turns Trick.

Both took punishment, and just as Gilmore's adherents were applauding his work he received another swinging right on the back of the head, which sent him down and out.

According to the rules, Fred was given time to recover, but the session granted him simply prolonged the inevitable, as Ben cut loose again in the second round, dropped him twice with the same kind of blows, the last knockdown doing the trick.

Lindstedt broke his thumb and may not take part in the finals.

The first reported professional scrapper to butt in as an amateur was M. J. McAllen, representing the new Illinois Athletic club. McAllen, it is said, fought Billy Finucane and others for small purses, when boxing in the lighter divisions. He outclassed his opponent, Charles Rychey, in all points of the game, and won in the second round, the referee stopping the bout.

Welterweights Take Whirl.

The first welterweight bout brought together Sam Chapman and Harvey Blomgren, both strapping young fellows. Neither man was overloaded with science, but whatever they lacked in the fine points of the game they made up in slugging and willingness to mix matters. Sam, being the harder hitter and using the better judgment, knocked Harvey down four times and won easily.

A surprise, almost equal to the Fred Gilmore affair, transpired in the second bout of the semi-finals in the bantam weight class, when Bob Mason, according to the judges' view of the contest, defeated John F. Coulon. The latter showed by far the more cleverness and ring generalship. He was after Mason continuously, but did not lead as often as Bob. Still the majority of Mason's blows connected with Coulon's arms and back, while John's blows were all well directed and landed on the points aimed at. If science includes defensive work, foot movement, and all the other fine points of the game count, then Coulon won off by himself. The judges' verdict surprised students of the game.

Stein Wins from Rauch.

The last bout was a fitting windup to a night of hotly contested battles, and brought together Julius Stein and Jack Rauch, winners of their respective bouts Monday night, and it saw the downfall of Jack.

Julius, with arms akimbo, had an awkward position, but his pose was lost sight of when he got to work. His arms were loaded with steam, which Jack was aware of whenever his head got in the way of them. The professional pugs at the ringside picked Rauch to win before the action began, but when they saw Julius going through his windmill stunts and connecting with all parts of Jack's anatomy they began to take notice of Julius' work.

He showed the stuff that was in him by sending Rauch to his knees in the first round, and through the ropes with a cracking left in the second round. The last round settled Jack's hash, as he was dropped to the canvas five times and would have been knocked out if the referee had not stopped it.

GOOD RACE ON THE COAST.

PRINCESS TITANIA WINS STAR RUBY HANDICAP AT OAKLAND.

Horse, Which Once Was Owned by Cæsar Young, Runs in Colors of John Millin and Finishes in Front, but Deutschland, at 20 to 1, Is Dangerously Close at End—Victory of Succeed, at 40 to 1, Is the Surprise of the Day.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Princess Titania, who was owned by Cæsar Young, the bookmaker who was killed in New York, ran today in the colors of John Millin and captured the Star Ruby handicap from start to finish, although Deutschland at 20 to 1 got up dangerously close at the end. Tocolaw, the favorite, was given a bad ride.

The surprise of the afternoon was the victory of Succeed in the first race. She was at 40 to 1 and unbacked, as she never had shown anything in the east. Blalock claims she has run out in all previous starts, but she ran kindly and beat the frequent winner, Silver Sue.

Hugh McGowan was made a false favorite in the last race and won cleverly.

E. L. Fitzgerald has arrived from the east with four horses and H. Robinson with half a dozen. The book backed by Keene, the turfman from Kentucky, dropped out of the line today. Summaries:

First race, 5 furlongs—Succeed, 110 pounds [McBride], 30 to 1, won; Silver Sue, 115 [Walsh], 12 to 5, second; Lachana, 110 [Kelley], 9 to 2, third. Time, 1:01½. Mazel, Isolation, Rivaral, Tenordale, Carrie Kleme, Helen So. Pelen, and My Bouquet ran.

Second race, 11-16 mile, selling—Royal Rogue, 111 pounds [Wright], 4 to 1, won; Titus, 111 [Knapp], 8 to 5, second; Duelist, 111 [Goodchild], 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:07½. Dr. Scharff, Matt Hogan, Sir Preston, Sterling Towers, Blumenthal, Bertie P., Jake Ward, Tam O'Shanter, Docbiet, Gen. Roberts, and Procrastination ran.

Third race, 1 mile, selling—Melodious, 109 pounds [Knapp], 12 to 5, won; Angelica, 109 [Butler], 20 to 1, second; Del Coronado, 105 [Washington], 5 to 3, third. Time, 1:42¼. Edgecliffe, Chalk Hedrick, Milton Young, Rostof, Little Joker, and Pousse Café ran.

Fourth race, 1 1-16 miles, selling—Akela, 109 pounds [Walsh], 2 to 1, won; Circus, 112 [League], 8 to 1, second; Bey Dare, 109 [Sullivan], 23 to 5, third. Time, 1:48¼. Ora McKinney, Montana Peeress, Royalty, Thaddeus, Expedient, Lone Fisherman, May Holliday, and Glen Rice ran.

Fifth race, the Star Ruby handicap, Futurity course, purse—Princess Titania, 105 pounds [Greenfield], 18 to 5, won; Deutschland, 105 [McBride], 20 to 1, second; Tocolaw, 105 [Minder], 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:01¾. Alencon, Judge, Gateway, and Letola ran.

Sixth race, 1 mile and 20 yards, purse—Lady Goodrich, 99 pounds [Robinson], 13 to 5, won; Bombardier, 102 [Aubuchon], 18 to 5, second; Hugh McGowan, 107 [illegible], 11 to 10, third. Time, 1:42. Divina and Fast ran.

FLIP FLAP WINNER IN FEATURE.

Captures the Beldame Handicap at Aqueduct Track in Sensational Style—Listless Is Second.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Flipflap, Jack Bennett's game filly, won another race at Aqueduct today in her usual sensational style. She carried top weight in the Beldame handicap for 2 year old fillies, at five furlongs, and was a strong favorite.

When the gate was released Shaw was unable to get the Handspring filly into her stride, with the result she was last when she hit the bend. Then, under a vigorous drive, Flipflap began to pass her rivals, one after another, until she had only Bill Daly's Listless, who had led from the start, to overcome. Shaw redoubled his efforts and in a great drive Flipflap won, going away, by a length. As Listless passed the judges in the place, a length before Zienap, her saddle slipped off, and Springer, the jockey, was thrown on his head. The youngster made the weight all right, and Listless got second money. Summaries:

First race, ¾ mile—Zambeau, 107 pounds [Sewell], 9 to 1, won; Water Tank, 10? [Notter], 4 to 1, second; Water Wing, 112 [J. Jones], 4 to 5, third. Time, 1:14 1-5. Battle Axe, Melodling Daisy, and Gentian ran.

Second race, ¾ mile—Mamie Worth, 110 pounds [Notter], 5 to 1, won; Pioneer, 113 [Shaw], 12 to 1, second; Ormonde's Right, 126 [Feicht], 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:13 2-5. Tongorder, Tommy Waddell, Floralia, Hannibal Bey, and Sovereign ran.

Third race, 1 5-16 miles, selling—Macbeth, 100 pounds [Schaffner], 9 to 2, won; Lindale, 100 [Miller], 4 to 1, second; Palette, 101 [Notter], 4 to 1, third. Time, 2:15. Buckleya, Amberjack, Light Note, and Our Sister ran.

Fourth race, the Beldame handicap, ⅝ mile—Flip Flap, 116 pounds [Shaw], 8 to 5, won; Listless, 92 [Springer], 50 to 1, second; Zienap, 106 [Burns], 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:00. Water Grass, Pantoufle, Vi O, Consistent, Cassandra, and Marvel P. ran.

Fifth race, 1 mile, selling—Graceful, 101 pounds [B. Smith], 5 to 2, won; Fleur de Marie, 106 [J. Jones], 15 to 1, second; Lord Badge, 108 [Notter], 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:40 4-5. Consideration, Thistle Heather, Crestfallen, Mirthless, Benlala, Massa, The Huguenot, Apollo, and Antimony ran.

Sixth race, 1 mile—Komoka, 115 pounds [Romanelli], 6 to 1, won; Holloway, 98 [L. Smith], 2 to 1, second; Billy Banastar, 95 [McDaniel], 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:41 3-5. Lichtmess, Anticipation, Myrica, and Alroies ran.

Nashville Race Results.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 14.—Tete Noir outclassed his field in the two mile event at Cumberland park today and romped in front, winning by ten lengths. Ultra Vires and Royal Arms fought it out over the last half for place money, finishing necks apart in the order named. Three favorites and a second choice won. Summaries:

First race, ¾ mile—Kargut, 112 pounds [D. Hall], 3 to 1, won; Hallowmas, 6 to 5, second; Awawegang, 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 4-5.

Second race, ¾ mile—Norel, 100½ pounds [Nicol], even, won; Furgutha, 40 to 1, second; Labor, 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:29 1-5.

Third race, 2 miles—Tete Noir, 102 pounds [Morris], 9 to 5, won; Ultra Vires, 20 to 1, second; Royal Arms, 5 to 1, third. Time, 3:33 4-5.

Fourth race, short course, steeplechase, handicap—Ed Tierney, 133 pounds [T. Powers], 15 to 1, won; Jim Crow, 5 to 1, second; Hand Alice, 10 to 1, third. Time, 3:07 3-5.

Fifth race, ¾ mile—Ida Davis, 102 pounds [Freeman], 12 to 1, won; Columbia Girl, 11 to 5, second; Marco, 9 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 1-5.

Sixth race, 1 mile—Princess Orna, 100 pounds [C. Morris], 7 to 10, won; Sincerity Belle, 10 to 1, second; Savior Faire, 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:41. Piller and McIlvain ran.

YACHT OWNERS HOLD MEETING.

Members of Association Decide to Enlarge Organization—Berryman Is Re-elected Chairman.

The Yacht Owners' association of the Chicago Yacht club held its first meeting of the winter season last night. New articles of association were adopted, taking in associate members and enlarging the scope of the association. G. H. Atkin advocated an annual circuit of regattas in July at Chicago, Milwaukee, and Macatawa, with cruising races for all classes from port to port, which met with general approval, and which will be pushed. The meeting criticised the action of the L. M. Y. A. in withdrawing from the Yacht Racing union without giving each club an opportunity of voting in the matter and instructing delegates before taking such a radical action. There were forty yacht owners present. John B. Berryman of the yacht Tannis was reëlected chairman, G. H. Atkin, vice chairman, and Eugene Rummler, secretary.

At the Billiard Halls.

At the Troy—Fey defeated Lockhart, 100 to 59, at pool. Dupree and Tripp play tonight.

At Healy's—Cole defeated Carmicheal, 75 to 54, at pool. Walden and Sewell play tonight.

At Foley's—Jenkins defeated Rooney, 140 to 96 at balk line. Adair and Myers play tonight.

At Clark's—Lowe defeated Hartwell, 100 to 84, at billiards, and Fey defeated Daly, 100 to 97, at pool.

Anson's—Fair and Wood will play the first game of the 14 inch balk line handicap tournament tonight.

At Bensinger's—Conklin [300] defeated Huntley [190], 300 to 170, at 14 inch balk line. Rein and Brown play tonight.

At Schaefer & Green's—Patterson defeated Banks 122 to 81, in the second night's play of the pool match. The score now reads: Patterson, 252; Banks, 218. The same men play at Patterson's tonight.

To Reopen Coliseum Roller Rink.

The roller skating season at the Coliseum will open tomorrow night, when the building will have been transformed from a boxing arena into a roller rink. This will be the fourth season of the revived sport in this city, and the management is planning to add many features in the way of amateur championship races and fancy skating contests. There will be music afternoon and evening by the Weldon Military band.

To Play International Socker Match.

Saturday afternoon the second international match of the season will be played at Parkside, when the Irish socker team will meet the Scotch eleven which defeated England last Saturday. The Irishmen met last night and selected the following team: Sullivan, Brudell, Buckley, Peel, Carragher, Flynn, Dockery, Stephenson, Donnelley, Devlin, James Devlin, and Warde.

Match for Young Corbett.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Young Corbett has been matched to fight Fred Landers, who was knocked out in twenty-five rounds last Friday night by Willie Fitzgerald. Coffroth saw young Corbett in the east and secured his consent to meet Landers at 133 pounds, ringside, during the second week in December at Colma. Landers agrees to the terms.

Fitz Arrives on Coast.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Fitzsimmons arrived here tonight in good health and spirits. He declares he has heard nothing about any hitch in his fight with O'Brien. He said he was sure to win, as a little training would put him in fine condition.

Kenosha Fight Declared Off.

Kenosha, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The fight between Jack O'Keefe and Jack Dougherty, scheduled to take place here tomorrow night, has been declared off on account of the hostile attitude of the state and county authorities.

JORDAN CHARGES PROVOKE A SUIT.

Wisconsin Man to Bring Action Against Eastern Weekly for Libel.

DUCKING AWAITS AUTHOR.

General Denial Is Made of "Graft" Accusations and the Proofs Are Demanded.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The charges of E. S. Jordan, published in an eastern magazine against members of the Wisconsin football team, have stirred up a hornets' nest in university athletics and are likely to result in at least one libel suit against the offending publication.

Everywhere the charges are denounced as untrue and it is asserted that Jordan wilfully misrepresented the conditions. So intense is the feeling against the author of the allegations that repeated threats have been made to introduce Jordan to the waters of the Mendota on his first visit to Madison.

In the main, Jordan's charges seem to be aimed indefinitely at the University Athletic association, which is accused, beginning with the caption of the article itself, with "buying football victories," but there is an apparent absence of any attempt at proof other than the word of the accuser. This is true of his specific charges which include the statement that Remp, the center rush, was expelled, then demanded $500 to return, and got the money; that Findlay, the half back, tried to desert to Michigan for a price before an important game; that Clarke, a substitute, demanded that he be "kept," and that Assistant Manager Keachie has been "grafting" on contracts for the association.

Proofs Are Called For.

The entire athletic body is termed by Jordan a "pack of parasites," and the same generalities mark most of his statements. Capt. Vanderboom is pointed out as the ringleader in forcing professionalism upon the athletic association, and others are attacked in the same manner. Graduate Manager Downer is excused by Jordan from blame by the statement that, despite his good intentions, he has been powerless in many particulars against the "old grafting ring," which, he says, has besmirched Wisconsin athletics.

The fact that in no instance does the proof accompany the charge is the part of the article which Wisconsin men most dislike. The sentiment is expressed everywhere that if Jordan is sincere in his charges of graft it is no more than justice to his former college mates that he furnish the proofs. A year ago, when Jordan was editor of the Daily Cardinal, he made a series of charges similar to those printed this week. When called upon to substantiate his claims he was forced into silence. Now that the whole country is acquainted with his ideas the entire student body at Madison is calling for the evidence.

Findlay to Sue for Libel.

It is almost certain the charge that Findlay threatened to desert Wisconsin on the eve of a championship game for a money consideration will result in a libel suit. Findlay stated today that he would place the matter in the hands of an attorney. In explanation of the charge he said:

"At that time there was a great deal of friction on the team and I could not get along with Coach Cochems, so I wrote to Yost and asked him if I would be received favorably at Michigan. Yost replied that he would not advise me to leave Wisconsin, and that he was sure the difficulty between the coach and myself could be patched up. There is absolutely no truth in Jordan's charges. I certainly have grounds for libel, and I intend to call upon Jordan's paper to produce the evidence in court."

Capt. Vanderboom is equally indignant over the charges of graft in athletics, and says Wisconsin will back Findlay in his suit. "I see nothing but personal malice in the charge against me," he said. "If Jordan would accuse me of somthing definite, I might have a chance to reply. As it is, I am charged with something which I cannot deny, because I do not know with what I am charged. As regards the other fellows, it is up to Jordan to furnish the proof. This is too serious a matter to be taken on mere assertion."

Remp Denies Expulsion.

Remp stated that the charge he had received $500 for returning to college after he had been expelled is groundless. "First of all, I never was expelled from college," he said. "As for the $500, I did not get it or any part of it. The whole deal is a falsehood. If it is true let Jordan produce the proof."

Graduate Manager Downer said he did not wish to be set up on the pedestal which Jordan had erected for him. "I believe in clean athletics," he said, "and since my connection with the University of Wisconsin I can say they have been clean. Of what happened prior to my time I do not wish to speak, because I do not know. I think this whole matter should be passed over in silence until the proof is produced. I am as anxious as anybody to see the evidence which Mr. Jordan has, for it certainly will be news to me."

STAGG NOT TO SHOW HIS HAND.

Midway Coach Will Not Try to Run Up Big Score in Game Against Illinois on Saturday.

Coach Stagg will play a low hand on Saturday. In every department of the game he plans to cover up his best, and no one, not even the maroons themselves, will be able to say they are or are not in the class with Michigan after the game. The score will be held down and although the majority of the regulars will be given a thorough workout, nothing in exceptional team play will be unfolded.

Illinois will be the first opponent of the year which would serve to give a line on the relative merits of Chicago and Michigan. Although comparative scores count for little in football, Stagg has decided to keep his team under cover. Just enough strength will be displayed to win, he hopes.

The practice yesterday was disappointing to Stagg. There was little life in the work of the varsity team, though a slump was not apparent. A scrimmage will be in order this afternoon, and Boone, the disqualified half back, will play on the scrubs. The substitutes and the freshmen had their daily struggle, with the result in favor of the former by one touchdown.

Two carloads of baled hay were unloaded on Marshall field yesterday and will be spread over the gridiron this morning to keep it in good shape. A canvas covering also will be put down.

Stagg announced yesterday that Ralph Hoagland and Rheinhart had been selected to officiate in the Illinois game. No officials as yet have been chosen for the turkey day battle.

TIGERS TEAR SCRUBS IN PIECES

Princeton's Practice for Yale Game Is Long and Secret—H. Dillon May Play on Saturday.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The tigers had a long secret practice today in which two touchdowns were scored by the varsity which fairly swept the scrub team off its feet. Fifteen minute halves were played. H. Dillon was in uniform and went through the preliminary drill, but was not allowed to get into the scrimmage. He is improving steadily and it is believed he will get into the game on Saturday. If he should not, P. Waller will take his place.

The scrubs during the last week have been running off a long string of new plays and trying to get the jump on the varsity with them, but so thoroughly has the first eleven been coached to handle new plays that the scrubs seldom gained ground by these means.

Massmeetings will be held each day by the students to practice new songs and cheers. Several songs have been written in preparation for the game. One, the words and music of which were composed by K. S. Clark, 1905, is entitled, "The Princeton Tiger Jungle March," and is one of the most stirring football songs Princeton ever had.

Jones Out of Princeton Game.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Jones, the Yale quarterback, has been refused permission to play against Princeton on Saturday. The coaches decided to take no chance, therefore, and will save him for Harvard. Jones' sprained ankle still is bothersome. The varsity was scored upon twice today by Knox, the second eleven fullback, trying Princeton end runs. The varsity was not held for downs, scoring from midfield five times. The speed was the highest of the year. Two sets of backs were used, the first being Veeder, Morse, and Flynn, and the second, Hoyt, Roome, and Levine. Everts Wrenn has been appointed to umpire the Yale-Princeton game, but the choice of referee still hangs fire.

YOST'S TURN NOW TO SMILE

ALL MICHIGAN JOYOUS OVER DISAPPEARANCE OF FROWN.

Scrimmage Delights Michigan Coach—Harry Hammond at End in Practice, but Contest for Left Half Back Still Is Undecided — Wisconsin Is Gloomy Because of Injury to Vanderboom's Arm—May Not Play on Saturday.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—All Michigan is joyful. From Yost's brow has faded the frown, and over his countenance the old smile has spread itself once more. Why, nobody knows, nobody cares. If Yost is smiling Michigan is content.

At the training table tonight he was the life of as noisy a crowd as ever wore the maize and blue. He laughed and tramped up and down the room, proclaiming long life to the live ones and speedy death to the dead ones. He rolled up a bunch of newspapers and banged his men about the heads until they revolted and rushed him into the corner, where Graham sat hammering a piano as if it were a Badger lineman.

"I'll relent a bit on the edict of no more dope," said Yost, when asked if there was anything doing in football. "I'll say we had a scrimmage. Yes, sir, it was a scrimmage as is a scrimmage. The boys ate up the scrubs. It was rip, bang, tear, smash, and jump all the time. Fine business. They were aching for a fight and I let them into it."

A carpenter who saw the practice while working on the new bleachers came home willing to bet his week's wages, tool kit and clay pipe, against $1.50, Mexican money, that Yost will hand out an awful drubbing to P. King.

Harry Hammond at End.

Harry Hammond was at end in practice. All the candidates for left half were used so nothing definite has been reached in the struggle waged by Magoffin, Clark, Weeks, Embs, and Rumry for the place.

Schulte apparently was in worse shape than ever. He could hobble along only with the aid of a cane, but he confidently says he will round about in time to bowl into a Badger the minute the whistle blows on Saturday.

Director Baird is having difficulty in securing two officials besides Lieut. Hackett. Nearly every man agreed on by Yost and King has replied that he is engaged for some other contest or cannot get here for the game. Wisconsin telegraphed today for 200 more seats, but the most Baird could scrape up for them was 100 in the Wolverine bleachers.

Vanderboom Seriously Hurt.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—In practice today Capt. Vanderboom had his left arm severely injured. It was thought for a time he had broken it at the elbow, but the doctor's examination showed it was a bad bruise. Trainer Kraenzlein hopes to have the captain in shape for the Michigan game, but it is not certain he will play.

The work of the varsity was discouraging. The scrubs were given the ball on the eight yard line, and, using Michigan formations, advanced the oval ninety yards. At this point a fumble saved the regulars from having their goal crossed. It took them ten minutes to solve the Michigan formations executed by the second team.

Wrabbetz made a twenty-five yard run and Lorenz and Williams gained consistently against the varsity. Remp, Bertke, and Bush were not allowed to go into the scrimmage. Brindley also was missing on account of a bruised knee.

Tonight King took his men to the gymnasium for secret signal practice. The possible loss of Vanderboom has made it necessary to drill a new set of backs in the offense. "Van" is a power in the interference, and if he is not in the game the team work of the Badgers will be hampered. Clark replaced him in practice.

Students and Players Confident.

In spite of the fact two of the players are in the hospital the rooters are confident of victory. This confidence is shared by the members of the team. Brindley is expected to return tomorrow for practice. He will not get into the scrimmage, however. Coach King will give the men the last hard work of the week, and tomorrow night the team will attend a theater. On Thursday they will start for Ann Arbor, and 500 rooters will go to Michigan, every one expecting to see a Wisconsin victory.

Betting here continues to favor Michigan. Odds have shifted from 5 to 4 to 3 to 2, with plenty of Michigan money to be taken. As soon as Michigan places the odds at 2 to 1 Wisconsin intends to take everything in sight.

HARD WORK BY PURPLE TEAM.

McCornack Sends Northwestern Squad Through Stiff Practice at Evanston—Hopes to Score on Gophers.

McCornack's Northwestern squad was put through one of the hardest practices of the year at Evanston yesterday. For over an hour the line men were practiced in the new formations of defense by which McCornack hopes to offset Minnesota's great advantage in weight. Speed was demanded and each player in the line was forced to run before McCornack declared himself satisfied.

The line then was given a short rest while the back field was given its drill, after which the entire squad ran through the plays.

"I am certain we will score on Minnesota," McCornack said yesterday, "and I see no reason why we should not win if the boys will only keep their heads and play ball. The only advantage Minnesota has over us is a few pounds in weight, and I think we can offset this by our speed."

NORTH DIVISION TEAM SUSPENDED.

Board of Control Rules Out the Eleven for Playing Ineligible Boy.

DIERSSEN IS THE CAUSE.

Manager Johnson and Capt. Freer Are Severely Punished as Result.

A sensation was sprung at the meeting of the high school board of athletic control in the board of education rooms yesterday, when the entire North Division football team was ruled out of the game for the season and three members of the eleven—Manager Johnson, Capt. Freer, and Player Dierssen—were suspended from all athletic competition until Jan. 1, 1907. The cause of this action by the board was due to the alleged playing of Dierssen in a game against the McKinley team last Saturday.

The action was taken as the result of a complaint lodged with the board by the McKinley football authorities, stating that Dierssen, who is ineligible, had been played. His name had been omitted from the list of eligible players, which always is prepared by the school board of control before each league contest, and the board, in addition to ruling out the North Division boys, gave the game to McKinley by forfeit, making the west siders tied with Crane for the first place in the north and west section of the league.

Dierssen was present at the meeting and emphatically declared he did not play, and said he had not even seen the game, as he attended the Chicago-Purdue game at Marshall field at the time. His testimony was corroborated by several, but the McKinley boys were positive in their statements that he played.

The case hinged on the testimony as to whether Dierssen had or had not played, but, as several members of the board of control saw the game and declared they were of the belief that he played, the evidence was considered strong enough, and suspension followed.

The Crane team went through a light practice at Douglas park yesterday, substitutes filling several positions. De Silva and Haskins, the two regular halves, are out of the game for the present with sprained ankles, the results of the game with the heavy Rockford team on last Saturday, in which Fucik, the end, and Glick, a tackle, also were injured, each having received a bad bruising. Landon, a new man, is being tried for one of the half positions, and Kallis and Bowker will be tried in the line positions.

BERMUDA FOR TRAINING CAMP.

Chicago Nationals May Go to Southern Island for Spring Practice—Murphy Calls Sebring Report False.

Hamilton, Bermuda, may be selected as training grounds for the Chicago Nationals next spring. President Murphy announced yesterday that he thought favorably of a suggestion which had been made to him. The place is only two hours' ride from Florida, and is said to have the most even climate in the world. Some baseball is played there now, but in case the trip is decided on, Manager Irwin of the Kansas City club probably will go on ahead to lay out a playing field for Chance's men.

Partial arrangements had been made to train at the University of Illinois plant, when it was decided to abandon the California trips on account of bad weather encountered in the last two years. President Murphy thinks well of Champaign as a location, unless it is decided to go farther south.

Reports from Williamsport, Pa., the home of Jimmy Sebring, say the "outlaw" club in that city claims the player has signed to manage the team there next year and that his contract with the Chicago Nationals does not begin until 1907. These reports President Murphy branded as absolutely false in every particular except the statement that he had been to Williamsport to see Sebring. He pointed out the fact that President Pulliam of the National league had promulgated Sebring's contract with Chicago for next season.

A trainer to accompany Manager Chance's men next season is among the possibilities being considered, and several applications have been filed for the position. Last season the only clubs which carried trainers on the road were the New York Giants and the Cleveland American leaguers.

Secretary Fredericks of the White Stockings, now acting commandant of the gunboat, White Sox, was in Chicago a few hours yesterday and reported to Owner Comiskey that the craft had reached La Salle, where it put in for repairs to one of the rudder cables. He returned to his charge last night and President Comiskey expects to leave tonight to board the boat at Peoria.

President Johnson has appointed William G. Evans of Youngstown, O., to the American league umpire staff for next season on the recommendation of Manager McAleer of the St. Louis club. Evans has had such success umpiring for independent leagues and clubs in Ohio and Pennsylvania as to attract attention from the major leagues.

Case to Play Ohio State Again.

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—The athletic board of Ohio State university tonight decided to play another game with Case school of Cleveland to decide the state football championship. When the teams played here on Oct. 28 neither side was able to score. Ohio State officials wired Case school tonight they would play on either Nov. 22 or Nov. 25 on any field Case may choose.

SEMONES SETS NEW MARK.

AVERAGES 244 1-3 IN THE MONROE BOWLING LEAGUE.

Figures Are the Highest of the Local Season and Put the Lipman Player at the Head of the Individual Race—Flenner of the Same Side Notches 214 2-3—Brunswicks Lose All Three Games—Hofmanns Win Odd Contest from Edelweiss Quintet.

Louis Semones, the south side bowler, who last season gained fame by rolling 300 in the Monroe league on the occasion of his first appearance downtown, added more laurels to his already long list last night, when he broke the season's record for high average with a count of 244⅓.

He was shooting with the Lipmans in the Monroe league and his fine work gave the team an average of 1,001⅓ for the three games and three victories over the Brunswicks. Billy Flenner was a good assistant to the record breaker with an average of 214⅔. Semones' average, which was made with scores of 267, 222, and 244, sent him into first place in the individual standing with an average of 202 2-33.

In the other series in the Monroe league the Hofmanns got two games from the Edelweiss, who rolled poorly in the last two games after getting 1,019 in the opener. Brill averaged 202⅓. Scores:

LITTLE BOY ONE MASS OF SORES

Not One Square Inch of Skin on His Whole Body Unaffected—Awful Suffering from Raw Itching Humor—Screams Were Heartbreaking—Skin Peeled 20 Times.

WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"My little son, a boy of five, broke out with an itching rash. Three doctors prescribed for him, but he kept getting worse until we could not dress him any more. They finally advised me to try a certain medical College, but its treatment did no good. At this time I was induced to try Cuticura he was so bad that I had to cut his hair off and put the Cuticura Ointment on him on bandages, as it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body that was not affected. He was one mass of sores. The bandages used to stick to his skin and in removing them it used to take the skin off with them, and the screams from the poor child were heart-breaking. I began to think that he would never get well, but after the second application of Cuticura Ointment I began to see signs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applications the sores commenced to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but it finally yielded to the treatment. Now I can say that he is entirely cured, and a stronger and healthier boy you never saw than he is to-day. Robert Wattam, 4922 Center Ave., Chicago, Ill., Dec. 30, 1897."

SIX YEARS LATER

Mr. Wattam writes

"Your letter of the 21st in regard to the case of my little boy at hand. I am truly thankful to say that the cure effected by the Cuticura Remedies has been a most thorough and successful cure to date. Chicago, Feb. 23, 1903."

TRADE BOOMERS SEE BLUE GRASS.

Chicagoans Taken in Autos to Stock Farms About Lexington, Ky.

BUSINESS CHANCE MISSED.

Opportunity for Lumber Market Found to Have Been Overlooked for Years.

Winchester, Ky., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—With the speed indicator of the foremost machine registering forty-five miles an hour, the visiting representatives of the Chicago Commercial association were whirled along the beautiful turnpikes of the Kentucky blue grass region this morning to view the stock farms and other features of interest contiguous to Lexington. Country roads equaling city boulevards in smoothness and extending from thirty to fifty miles in every direction from Lexington present opportunities for automobiling excelled nowhere in the United States.

Chicagoans at Luncheon.

The Chicago visitors were guests of the chamber of commerce of Lexington in this tour of the blue grass region, and at a luncheon later at the Phœnix hotel of that city, at which speeches were made by Mayor Combs and President Porter of the chamber of commerce and responded to by Chairman Barlow. The guests spent the remainder of the time in visits to the Lexington business houses.

It is apparent that ample opportunity for increase in commercial business is to be had in this section, if Chicago merchants continue the connections formed by the present delegation and to offset the efforts of eastern houses who cover the territory at frequent intervals and who have well established lines of communication.

The merchants here are ready to accept Chicago's claim as the great central market, but they must be urged by Chicago's representatives. Particular dissatisfaction with Chicago as a market is expressed by lumbermen of this section, who complain of the manner in which business sent to Chicago was handled in past years. While the lumber industry throughout Kentucky and in this city in particular has been developing rapidly no representative of Chicago is located here.

Manufacturing Advantage Seen.

Lexington offers exceptionally favorable inducements to manufacturing industries in the way of tax exemptions and bonuses, and with the spirit now evidenced through its commercial associations, and with the natural advantages of its location, surely will become a large distributing point for the rich territory within a radius of 100 miles.

Leaving at 3 o'clock, the party was taken to Paris, nineteen miles from Lexington and spoken of as one of its suburbs, where a thorough canvass of the commercial establishments was made. Later the travelers started for Winchester, arriving here in the early evening.

SAYS MUNICIPAL COURTS WILL MAKE MUCH MONEY.

Hiram T. Gilbert Figures Big Net Income from Fees and Fines—Discusses Question of Location.

Four large courtrooms for the new municipal court to be established next year, "to be located either in the loop district or not farther south than Twelfth street," were recommended yesterday by Hiram T. Gilbert in a communication to Controller L. E. McGann. Mr. Gilbert also had compiled figures to show that the income from the courts would be more than $350,000 in excess of the cost of maintaining and operating them.

The matter of locating the municipal court building is in charge of Commissioner Patterson, who with other city officials favors making provision for the principal courtrooms in the new police station at Twelfth and State streets.

Mr. Gilbert called attention to the necessity of providing for thirty other courtrooms for civil cases and gives his views on the accommodations that should be provided for judges, jury rooms, rooms for the clerks and bailiffs, and witnesses. His estimate of the cost and income of the courts of the several districts is as follows:

Salaries of twenty-eight judges	$169,500
Compensation for outside judges	10,000
Clerk and chief deputy	7,500
[illegible] deputy clerks	74,000
Bailiff and chief deputy	7,500
One hundred deputy bailiffs	100,000
Jurors fees	20,000
Stationery	7,500
Total	$402,000

To this Mr. Gilbert adds the erection of a building, including the cost of land, at $620,000, and an annual expense for heat, light, and janitor service of $70,000 a year. This would make the total annual cost $472,000.

To meet this expense Mr. Gilbert figures the following sources of income:

Cases of first class involving over $1,000	$ 24,000
Cases of second class, between $200 and $1,000	40,000
Civil cases less than $200	350,000
Criminal cases	80,000
Quasi-criminal cases	300,000
Acknowledgement of mortgages	20,000

ROYAL ARCANUM CONTEST OVER

Opponents of Recent Advance in Rates Defeated in Last Effort to Prevent It.

Word was received yesterday by state officers of the Royal Arcanum in Chicago that the petition filed with the attorney general of Massachusetts by members of the order for leave to bring proceedings to enjoin the order from enforcing the new table of rates recently adopted had been denied. The petition was presented on behalf of a conference of protesting delegates from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, and New Jersey.

"This ends the entire controversy and no excuse is left the opponents of the new rates to prevent their enforcement, as those who favor the rates agree," said C. Arch Williams, grand orator of the Royal Arcanum for Illinois.

Temporary injunctions were applied for and obtained in New York, Nebraska, and Tennessee by opponents of the rates and [illegible] afterward were dissolved by the state courts of New York and Nebraska, while in Tennessee, Judge Clark of the federal court dismissed the bill, holding that any action of this character should be instituted in the state of Massachusetts, where the order is incorporated. A temporary injunction also was dissolved in Canada.

PLAN CITY GARBAGE SERVICE.

Mayor and Cabinet Will Start on the North Side, if the Council Agrees.

If the council finance committee agrees, city teams will attend to the collection of garbage in the Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, and Twenty-sixth wards. Mayor Dunne and his cabinet made tentative plans yesterday.

The judiciary committee, to which Ald. [illegible]'s order to create a public market place in South Water street was referred, will consider plans to include Market street, between Washington and Lake.

Charges were filed before the civil service commission against H. P. Fleming, 4205 Union avenue, a clerk in the city clerk's office. It is asserted that he "demanded and received 25 cents from C. J. Garvey" in return for certain information regarding a building license.

To Muskegon.

Through sleeping car via Pere Marquette. Leave Grand Central Station at 11:55 p. m. daily, except [illegible] and after Nov. 19.

BREAK IN WHEAT CHECKED

SHORTS COVER ON BAD WEATHER IN ARGENTINA.

Some Advices from That Country Favorable, but Liverpool Is Strong, and Better Export Demand for Both Flour and Wheat Offsets Large Receipts and Influence of Tight Money Market—Corn Up on Armour Support and Shipping Demand.

A continuance of the brisk export and domestic demand for flour, a better export demand for wheat, and reports of damage to the Argentine crop by rain and frost convinced short sellers that it would be unwise to attempt to force a further decline, even with the continued excuse of tight money in New York.

While trade was light, particularly in the December, and there was no evidence of aggressive bull effort, the market hardened on scattered buying, much of which was by local shorts. Opening prices were ⅛c higher on strong English cables, and at best there was an advance of ⅝c. Selling against offers caused a little setback, but the close was ⅛c up for December and ⅝c for May.

Advices as to the Argentine crop were contradictory, some messages reporting weather fine and predicting an exportable surplus of 120,000,000 bu, or 20,000,000 bu more than last year. Other direct cables from Buenos Ayres reported frost and rain in the north, impairing the crop prospect, and Liverpool, which had the same news earlier, advanced ⅝d to ¾d. Antwerp, however, was unchanged and Berlin ⅝c lower. Paris gained ¼c to ⅜c and Budapest ¼c. On passage cargoes were reported steadier with better inquiry.

Foreign Demand Continues.

A larger export business was reported at the seaboard than for some time, 200,000 bu Manitoba and 80,000 bu macaroni. Clearances were liberal, 381,000 bu. Foreigners are still taking flour, a local miller selling 17,000 brls, partly for export. Minneapolis messages reported a good flour demand. In the cash wheat market there was a continued milling demand for No. 2 red with sales of 70,000 but at 1c over December in store. Relative premiums were generally maintained, but low grade wheats were in dull demand and a little easier. Arrivals dropped off some, 354 cars in and 158 estimated, and the principal demand for the carlots was from elevators. Millers were paying slightly higher premiums at Minneapolis, 2½c to 3c, and Kansas City reported an improved cash demand.

Receipts of wheat were heavy, but the movement had no depressing effect on prices, the general speculative opinion being that the market, having had a severe break and stopped declining, was entitled to more of a rally. There were 1,233 cars northwest, compared with 674 a year ago, and 1,430,000 bu at primary points, compared with 904,000 bu last year. Winnipeg had 888 cars, compared with 655.

Trade in December wheat was lighter than for any day in months. Rankin and Knight-McDougal were fair buyers and there was buying for northwest account. Rumsey, Brosseau, Nichols, Ware-Leland, and Chapin were buyers of May, which was sold by Lake, Seckel, Kneeland, Pringle-Fitch-Rankin, and Clifford. There was buying of December and selling of May by Updike and Peavey.

Corn Is Supported.

Corn showed considerable firmness, largely due to the belief that Patten had covered some May at 45c the day before and would cover more at that figure if opportunity offered. The market did not sell under 45¼c and closed at 45⅜c bid on buying of about 500,000 bu by Kidston, which traders were inclined to believe was for Armour. December was relatively strong on the light contract stocks and the talk of adopting a rule under which kiln dried corn would not be graded higher than No. 3. The better shipping demand for the last two days was another factor in the rally of ⅝c in the December price, cash houses doing most of the buying. Cash prices here were ½c higher and shipping sales were 470,000 bu, including 60,000 bu for export, and the seaboard reported export sales of 176,000 bu. Clearances were 130,000 bu. Country sales to arrive were light, although the weather was clear all over the corn belt, favorable for husking and movement. Receipts were 399 cars, estimated 200 cars. Primary points had 771,000 bu, compared with 488,000 bu last year. Liverpool was ⅛d to ¼d lower.

Fair Rally in Oats.

Oats shared in the disposition of other grains to recover from the recent break and last prices showed advances of about ⅜c. Receipts were light, only 106 cars estimated. Cash prices were ¼c higher and there was a fair shipping demand with sales of 275,000 bu. Some seaboard messages called the export bids few and unsatisfactory, but sales of 300,000 bu were claimed finally. Clearances were 114,000 bu. A Liverpool cable reported oats depressed on account of heavy deliveries. Trade in the pit was light, the features being light offerings and the placing of a line of about 300,000 bu sold out the day before by Requa.

Hogs Press Provision Prices.

Large receipts of hogs at the yards and an estimate of 43,000 for today created an easy feeling in the provision market, and the close found the list 5@10c lower for the day. There were indications in the pit of selling by Cudahy and Armour, which added to the heaviness of the market. On the dip shorts furnished the greater part of the demand, and there was a fair amount of buying of nearby deliveries by shorts, who put out their lines again in May. Local hog receipts were 37,000 head and prices were 5@10c lower. At all the western packing points receipts were 105,000 head, compared with 96,500 last year.

Rye Rules Easier.

Rye was ½@1c lower, with December 70½c bid and 71½c asked, and May 73½c bid and 74½c asked. No. 2 spot sold at 71@72c, No. 3 at 66@68c f. o. b., and No. 4 at 65c. Receipts were 18 cars.

Barley was steady, with malting grades 39@55c, feed 37@38c, and screenings 30@40c. Receipts were 116 cars.

Flaxseed was dull. No. 1 northwestern was $1.00, No. 1, 93½c, and May $1.03. There were receipts of 48,000 bu by lake here, 57 cars at Minneapolis, and 239 cars at Duluth.

Timothy seed was steady. March was $3.45 and January $3.35. Country lots ranged from $1.50@3.25. November clover seed was $13.0013.25, and bag lots $10.00@13.25, according to quality.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

President Jackson, who returned yesterday from a week's trip to Minneapolis, Duluth, and Winnipeg, brought back pleasant impressions of the grain trade and the commercial exchanges of those cities and a particularly flattering one of the great possibilities of the Canadian northwest in the production of wheat. "There is a membership of 300 in the Winnipeg exchange," he said, "and it is all active. Memberships are quoted at about $2,400. The exchange does not own a building of its own, but is to erect one soon. Most of their business, of course, is in wheat, and they have quite an active speculative trade there. From all I could learn there seems hardly any limit to the possibilities of wheat production in Manitoba and the northwestern territories. The area available is immense in comparison with what is already devoted to wheat, rapidly as it has grown. Of course there is the danger of damage by early frosts, but they have been experimenting up there with several varieties of winter wheat, which they believe can be successfully introduced. This year's crop is of splendid quality, grading high as it comes from the farms and requiring little handling. We have raised a big crop in our own northwest, and the movement would be larger if it were possible to get cars enough. The exchanges at Minneapolis and Duluth are in a remarkably prosperous condition. In a few years they will have revenue enough from rentals of the buildings they own to make it unnecessary to assess the members for dues. The Minneapolis exchange owns two buildings, and is paying off its bonded debt much more rapidly than the requirements of the sinking fund." President Jackson found the grain men at Minneapolis and Duluth interested in the proposition to raise commission rates, but had not heard whether any action had been taken at either Minneapolis or Duluth. "It is a question of expediency," he said, "and I have not formed a positive opinion on the matter myself, though it would be nice to get higher commissions."

Russian crop estimates were again in vogue. John Inglis was the reputed father of one, fixing the wheat yield in European Russia at 570,000,000 bu, or only 93,000,000 bu less than a year ago. It is claimed, however, that Inglis was in Berlin seven days ago on his way to Russia, and how much first hand information of importance he could gain in a week, in view of the disturbed conditions in Russia, was considered problematical. A Russian grain trader who has spent two or three months traveling over the country for Armour, in an exhaustive review, dated Oct. 16, puts the shortage at 215,000,000 bu, compared with last year, a yield of 448,000,000 bu. A copy of the St. Petersburg Trade and Industry Gazette, giving colored maps showing the quality of Russian crops, corroborates the claim of failures in the extensive and important "black soil district" so-called of the Volga valley. Maps of the winter and spring wheat territory show from two-thirds to three-fourts good or satisfactory, little good, and the rest unsatisfactory, or bad. Oats and barley crops as indicated are considerably better, though a fifth of the territory is poor. Rye suffered most, nearly half the total area unsatisfactory to bad, and the expert above quoted says the rye yield is 160,000,000 bu less than the annual home consumption. The figures of the veteran local crop expert, Inglis, given out by the northwestern firm which sent him to Argentina last year, is a reminder that experts will make mistakes. He gave the wheat crop there a black eye, and estimated the maximum surplus for export at less than 60,000,000 bu, but 103,000,000 bu have been exported so far this year.

"Argentine news was conflicting. One Rosario cable said: Weather fine," and Buenos Ayres cabled: "Weather improving. If it continues favorable we expect 120,000,000 bu exportable surplus, or 20,000,000 bu more than last year." However, Liverpool had reports of rain and frost in northern Argentina, which advanced that market, and a late cable from Liverpool said: "This afternoon Plate cable says frost reported at Buenos Ayres last night." Two direct cables from Rosario confirmed the frost news.

In his weekly foreign crop summary Broomhall says: "Russia—Weather wet and mild. Crop prospects favorable. Southern ports slowly resuming normal conditions. Italy—Recent rains have hindered seeding. Prices are high and agitation regarding reduction of import duties commenced. India—Official report from Bombay stated united provinces, Central India, and Rajputana want rain. Elsewhere procpects fair to good."

W. S. Cowen, chief grain inspector, has issued a request to the grain trade through the directors that those who have objections to the proposed rules for the grading of grain recently sent out send their objections or suggestions to him in writing. The chief changes are the establishment of a separate grading for Pacific coast wheat under headings of white and red, and the exclusion of kiln dried corn from a grade higher than No. 3.

Demand for wheat on the sample tables was not so active, and prices on some grades were ¼@⅜c lower, compared with futures, but the demand for No. 2 red in store held up well, with sales for the day 70,000 bu, largely at 1c over December in store. Outside markets reported no specific round lot sales, but Kansas City claimed good sales to Mexico, Texas, and eastern buyers. At the seaboard 160,000 bu Manitoba wheat sold for export. Winnipeg shippers were trying to buy back wheat sold for export, but whether because of difficulty in getting the wheat or scarcity of boats, the latter the more likely reason, was not known. One shipper bought back 150,000 bu sold some time ago, and wanted as much more, but Liverpool bought all that was available. From a discount of 15c under New York December Manitoba wheat has advanced to 9½c under.

Local parties called the foreign demand for corn, oats, and barley dull and slow, and some had worse names for it. One house worked two loads of corn, mostly in half load lots, to ports which usually do a heavier business. It is evident European buyers have not yet thoroughly digested the big purchases they made on the late October scare over the Russian situation.

The good quality of the northwestern wheat crop this year is shown by the daily inspection at the markets in that section. Of 963 cars there yesterday 202 were durum or Marconi. Of the rest 15 were No. 1 hard, 356 No. 1 northern, or nearly half of the spring wheat, 223 No. 2 northern, 113 No. 4 northern, and only 16 rejected, or no grade.

Contract stocks of corn will be lighter by the end of the week according to brokers who have investigated the shipping situation. There were 350,000 bu in store Saturday night, but 73,000 bu have been loaded out since, or are now loading, and shipping orders are out for 140,000 bu more, which would leave only 151,000 bu.

Demand for flour continues liberal, one of the local mills selling 17,000 brls yesterday, part domestic and part foreign account. The export demand has kept up for four days, and if the experience of local millers is a criterion there will be a steady foreign flour demand at the present level of prices for wheat.

There was a good demand for coarse grains, sales of corn being 270,000 bu, new corn to the seaboard, and 200,000 bu to the glucose interest, and 240,000 bu oats. New York reported export sales at 176,000 bu corn, and 300,000 bu oats. There was a sale of 10,000 bu No. 2 rye for shipment at 72c f. o. b.

Wheat traders thought some of the elevator interests were getting out their December hedges, and guessed there might be fear of another advance in the December as the result of the Armour holding. Several elevator concerns were buying in December and selling May.

Bids and offers were traded in moderately, December wheat bids at 85⅝c to 85⅝-¾c, and offers 86½c to 86⅝c; May wheat bids at 88⅝c to 88¾-⅝c, and offers 88⅞c to 89c. May corn bids at 45¼-⅜c to 45⅝c, and offers at 45⅝-¾c to 45½-⅝c. May oats bids at 32⅜c, and offers at 32⅜c.

The proposed amendment to compel the payment of 80 per cent of the value of cash grain on the presentation of the bills of lading was passed on favorably by the directors, and was ordered posted for vote.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 158 cars; corn, 200 cars; oats, 106 cars; rye, 6 cars; barley, 50 cars; hogs, 43,000 head.

Vessel room was taken by Armour yesterday for 85,000 bu wheat to Buffalo. The rate was 3c.

Local mills sold 17,000 brls of flour, part of the total for export.

GIVES THANKS FOR REFORM.

Gov. Mickey of Nebraska in Annual Proclamation Lauds Fight on Graft and Greed.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Gov. Mickey, in his Thanksgiving proclamation issued today, congratulated the people on the public awakening throughout the country for the suppression of graft and greed.

SALE IN MICHIGAN AVENUE

FRONTAGE SOUTH OF FIFTEENTH STREET SOLD FOR $130,000.

One Hundred Feet Bought by William B. Hale as Speculation and Twenty-three by Chicago Cold Storage Company as Part of Site for a Building—Aurora Industrial Concern to Move to Plant at Elston and Webster Avenues.

Two important transactions in Michigan avenue property north of Sixteenth street were closed yesterday, the total consideration approximating $130,000. William B. Hale purchased from Herbert E. Bucklen 100 feet of vacant frontage, comprising the premises 1521-1531. The consideration is withheld, but it is understood to be $100,000. The purchase, which was a speculative one on the part of Mr. Hale, removes from the market, it is said, the last large holding in the avenue north of Sixteenth street, which can be purchased for less than $1,250 a front foot. The transaction was negotiated by Oliver & Co., Edwin F. Getchell, and Edward C. Waller Jr.

The other transaction was the sale by Oliver & Co. for Thomas E. Wells to the Chicago Cold Storage company of 23 feet of frontage adjoining the above property on the south. The consideration was $30,000 cash, which is at the rate of $1,306 a front foot, the record price for property in that immediate locality. The storage company will improve this lot, together with the 40 feet adjoining on the south, with a glazed tile and plate glass mercantile building five stories high, to cost $100,000. They have closed a lease with the Littleton Creamery company, a $3,000,000 corporation, for the front part of the building.

Industry to Move to Chicago.

A transaction of interest as involving the removal of a prominent industrial concern from Aurora to Chicago has been closed in the lease to the Aurora Wool Scouring mills of the building formerly occupied by the Anderson Pressed Brick company at Webster and Elston avenues. The building is a brick structure one story high, covering 50,000 square feet of ground, which the wool company has leased for ten years at a total rental of approximately $43,000. The lease was made by Norman D. Fraser, Francis D. Everett, and Everett L. Millard, trustees.

Sale of Lots in Pullman.

Evidence of the demand for cheap lots in Pullman for homes for laboring men was evidenced by the filing for record yesterday of thirty-three conveyances in Indiana avenue, between One Hundred and Thirteenth and One Hundred and Fifteenth streets. The total consideration was $31,870. The principal purchasers are employés of the Pullman company, and the grantor was William C. Wood, who purchased the property last September from the Pullman Land association.

CHOP SUEY BALCONY RAZED.

Firemen Pull Down Ornamental Structure Which Was Erected Without Permission of Building Department.

An elaborate iron and wood balcony overhanging the sidewalk in front of the Pe King Lo chop suey restaurant in North Clark, near Division street, which had been erected without the permission of the building department, was torn down yesterday afternoon by firemen of truck company No. 10, at the request of M. J. Doherty, superintendent of streets.

The work of the wreckers attracted a crowd which, for a time, blocked traffic in the street. After the electric signs on the balcony had been taken down a boy in the crowd stole the electric bulbs and began a bombardment of the resort, terrifying the Chinese waiters and cooks, who telephoned for police protection. Before the police arrived the supply of missiles had been exhausted and no arrests were made.

The balcony is said to have cost the owners $800. Frank Moy, the head of the company, was not at the resort and the Chinese in charge were not able to speak English, but muttered excitedly as they watched the work of destruction.

WINEROOMS COST A LICENSE.

Thomas Hanley, 103 Harrison Street, Found Violating the Ordinance—Other Permits Revoked.

The efforts of Thomas Hanley to retain some of the cherished privileges formerly enjoyed in the levee district in his saloon at 103 Harrison street met with a sudden rebuff yesterday, when Mayor Dunne revoked his license. Hanley sought to keep several winerooms in the rear of his place. They were furnished with lounges and tables and were apart from the barroom. Bernard Smith, 1027 West Van Buren street, also lost his license. He is accused of having kept a "fence." Max Wineberg, a second hand dealer at 365 Clark street, lost the license for his place for a similar reason.

GET NINTH GILHOOLEY JUROR.

Everett E. Swiney, Storekeeper, Accepted by Both Sides in Long Union Trial.

By the addition of one more juror yesterday in the Gilhooley trial the total number accepted reached nine. Everett E. Swiney, who conducts a general store at 353 Belmont avenue and lives at 3252 Milwaukee avenue, is the latest acquisition. He was on the rack almost the entire day.

BANKS REPORT LESS CASH

SHIPMENTS WEST MAKE INROADS IN CHICAGO RESERVES.

Statements Made in Response to Call of the Controller—Local Situation Declared Not to Necessitate Any Help from Washington—Six Per Cent Ruling Rate for Loans Now—Local Stock Market Steady, with Activity in Bond Department.

In response to the call of the controller, the fifteen national banks of Chicago made report yesterday of their condition at the close of business Nov. 9. The figures make no unusual exhibit, though they show a heavy cash loss, being nearly 5 per cent, and amounting to $6,505,326. Deposits decreased over $8,000,000 compared with the last previous call, Aug. 25, while loans showed small change.

The loss in deposits and cash was due to shipments to the west and southwest for crop moving purposes. The large losses were shown by a few of the shipping banks. Other banks whose business is local showed gains both in cash and deposits.

The figures do not reflect any distress at this center. The small expansion in loans apparently indicates the banks were well loaned up before the money closeness set in, and they have since been inclined to be careful in putting out extra funds. Compared with the call for May 29 of the present year the change in deposits is less than $1,000,000. Loans, however, have increased $7,000,000, while cash resources have decreased nearly $8,000,000. A summary of the loans, deposits, and cash resources, compared with the last previous call, makes the following showing:

	Loans.	Deposits.	Cash resources.
Aug. 25, 1905	$216,498,180	$321,514,647	$131,533,203
Nov. 9, 1905	215,656,663	313,407,410	125,027,880
Decrease	$841,517	$8,107,237	$6,505,323
Per cent	.38	2.52	4.94

Individual Showings.

In the individual exhibits there are reflected important changes in the cash and deposits of the principal shipping banks. The figures follow:

State Bank Call Out.

The state auditor has issued a call for a statement of the condition of the state banks at the commencement of business Nov. 10. Reports will be published today and tomorrow. The state banks now being called on as a whole to meet the crop moving needs, should not show such wide changes as the nationals have exhibited, unless the money demand may have become so general as to influence their condition as well as that of the national institutions.

Don't Want Shaw Help Yet.

Chicago banks were still of the opinion yesterday that necessity had not yet arisen calling for assistance in the local money market by the secretary of the treasury. In response to inquiries by Secretary Shaw, members of the clearing house committee informally notified him that while Chicago banks recognized the fact that interest rates were getting high, still, they were of the opinion that unless the Wall street situation was prolonged Chicago banks would be able to take care of western interests at prevailing rates.

Six per cent has become the ruling rate for call and time loans. Chicago stock brokerage houses which have been borrowing freely in New York instead of Chicago, because of lower rates at the former center, have had their loans called by the New York banks and rather than pay the high rates asked there, have sought accommodation in Chicago. This in some instances was granted on Monday at 5½ per cent. Yesterday some of the largest banks would not make such loans at less than 6 per cent. This on stock exchange collateral. It has, however, been generally possible to borrow at 8 per cent in New York. The present local price for call loans is 50 per cent higher than last summer, and at 8 per cent in New York, about four times as much as summer rates were.

Commercial Borrowers Pay 6 Per Cent.

Commercial borrowers are charged locally 6 per cent, and there has not been any marked disposition to object to the charge. Until the present demand set in, Chicago banks had had an extremely lean year, and the rates now ruling they feel they are entitled to. In consequence there is no disposition to spoil the market by overcharging mercantile interests and inviting the intervention of the secretary of the treasury. Should commercial rates be advanced to 8 per cent there is no doubt Secretary Shaw could be successfully appealed to.

Good information from New York is to the effect that money is expected to continue to rule high for some time. The bank credited with largely engineering the present money market is apparently "nursing" its position with considerable skill. It is not desirous of having interest rates overdone, and thereby cause a smash in the money market.

Fredonia National Bank.

A dividend of 25 per cent has been authorized by Controller of the Currency Ridgely, to be paid to depositors and other creditors of the Fredonia National bank of Buffalo. Receiver Williams says that the money to pay the first dividend will be available about Dec. 20. The dividend will be distributed to the amount of $190,000.

Dividend Declared.

The Railway Steel Spring company declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred stock, payable on Dec. 20. Books close on Dec. 8 and reopen on Dec. 21.

General Financial News.

It is announced that transfer books for the reduced capital stock of the Northern Securities company will be opened on Monday, Nov. 20.

Cincinnati has awarded the $75,000 3½ per cent semi-annual thirty year police department bonds to the Third National bank of Cincinnati at a premium of $1,170.

At a conference between Rio Grande officials and representatives of smelters, mills, and mines at Salt Lake City, such concessions in rates were made by the Rio Grande as to cause the dismissal of plans for independent means of transportation.

The following have been elected directors of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton: F. D. Underwood, Charles Steele, Norman B. Ream, George F. Baker, H. McK. Twombly, Samuel Spencer, R. R. Rhodes, J. H. Clarke, and J. L. Cramer.

Chicago Stocks.

In the local stock market prices were steady to firm. Boxboard preferred advanced to 13⅝. The improvement was due to the rumors of a reorganization plan.

Chicago Subway was advanced to 48 by the usual method. There is no genuine buying in the stock. The price is wholly manipulated.

There was considerable activity in the bond department. Union Loop 5s and West Chicago Street Railroad first mortgage 5s were in fair demand. There is some speculation in these issues, based on the favorable attitude of the city council on the question of franchises as opposed to the position of the mayor

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Money was in moderate demand and in fair supply in the market today. Discounts were firm. Trading on the stock exchange opened quiet with stocks fairly steady. Later prices hardened and business became more active, the announcement of the Japanese loan producing a good impression. Late Japanese issues received much attention. Consols were slightly easier at first, but rallied well in the afternoon. Home rails were upheld. Americans opened irregular and bounded up sharply from parity on New York and local buying. They closed firm with some of them below the best quotations of the day. Canadians were sympathetically higher. Russians, Peruvians, and kaffirs hardened. Japanese imperial 6s of 1904 were quoted at 102.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Prices on the bourse today improved upon better advices from New York and the imminence of the new Japanese loan. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 89.85 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 515.00.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—Prices on the boerse today opened firmer.

MONEY MARKET IS EASED.

LOAN RATE FALLS OFF DURING WALL STREET DAY.

Several Causes Combine to Create This Feeling, Among Which Are the Movement of Canadian Funds and Gold Toward New York—As Result There Is Stronger and Broader Condition in Stock Dealings Late in the Session.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—In spite of the money stringency stocks recovered some during the day. The high interest rates, however, had the effect of curbing large deals, but when the money market eased off below 10 per cent business began to broaden out.

The liquidation effected yesterday, of course, was a factor in the strengthening of the banking position. Large loans placed by foreign capitalists also played a part. Reports were current that placing of Canadian funds and a movement of gold to New York from Canadian points were factors at work in the money situation. The circulation of rumors also continued of ultimate intervention by the secretary of the treasury to ease the situation. There also was a growth of a feeling that the situation did not call for an extensive building up of reserves by the banks at this time. Speculative feeling was disposed to the view that the banks were not called upon at this time to go further than to repair the actual deficit. The pressure upon the money market at this time is recognized as due entirely to the active business conditions, supplemented by the speculative demand based on confidence in the general business situation.

With the easing of the money rate during the course of today there was also a rally in foreign exchange rates, and the prospect of an important movement of gold was thus dissipated for the present. Last prices for stocks were the best, and the closing was active and strong at uniform net gains, running from 1 to 2 points for the principal stocks.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $4,110,000. U. S. 2s and old 4s advanced ¼, and the 3s ⅛ per cent on call, while the new 4s declined ⅛ per cent on call.

◆

Money on call easier, 6@18 per cent, closing bid 6 per cent, offered at 7½ per cent. Time money firm; sixty days and ninety days, 7@7¼ per cent; six months, 6 per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 6 per cent. Sterling exchange irregular; closed firmer, with actual business in bankers' bills at 485.20@485.25 for demand and at 481.40@481.50 for sixty day bills; posted rates, 483@483½ and 486½@487; commercial bills, 481@481¼. Bar silver, 63⅛c. Mexican dollars, 48⅝c. Government bonds irregular. Railroad bonds irregular.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Five dollar hogs arrived yesterday at the stockyards. This was the top paid for choice butchers and prime heavies, and the greater portion of the trading was at prices considerably lower. Receipts were heavy, proving to be 39,000 after an opening estimate of 30,000.

Best steers, of which few were offered, showed no change. In all medium sorts, however, trading was slow, with a tendency at easier prices. Shippers and others wanted choice stuff, but failed to fill their orders. Receipts were 13,000.

Prices were unchanged and steady for sheep, while lambs were 10c higher, with demand stiffening. And there were few lambs suitable for killing, while sheep were abundant. The early offerings of fed lambs are proving a disappointment. Most of these received should have staid in the feeding yards several weeks longer. Receipts, 22,000.

Cattle.

Fat cows and good heifers were wanted, but not to be had. Lean canners continue to come in and to be sold at prices around $1.50. Calves showed a better tone, but feeders held dull.

Prices for the day:

Choice to prime steers	$5.75@6.40
Common to good steers	4.00@5.50
Inferior to common steers	3.10@4.00
Good to fancy cows and heifers	3.00@5.00
Yearlings, good to choice	4.50@5.90
Fair to choice stockers	2.15@3.25
Fair to choice feeders	3.35@4.15
Good cutting to fair beef cows	2.15@2.65
Common to good canning cows	1.40@2.00

Calves, common to good	3.75@5.50
Calves, good to fancy	5.50@7.00

Hogs.

The packers bought their supplies at fully 10c lower than on Monday. Good heavyweights were in stronger demand than light hogs. There were too many big coarse hogs.

Sheep.

Native lambs reached a top of $7.35 and westerns $6.60. Wethers from the range went at $5.10. Choice ewes were wanted at as high as $5.50 and wethers at $5.75. Breeding ewes sold up to $5.25.

The range of prices:

Fair to prime wethers	$5.25@5.80
Ewes, poor to prime	4.50@5.50
Yearlings, good to choice	5.25@6.00
Culls, ewes, good to fair	3.00@4.25

FAVORED SHIPPERS' FREIGHT BILLED AT SHORT WEIGHT.

Plan Has Been Worked Successfully by Eastern Railroads for Some Months, Supposedly with Connivance of Western Connections—It Is Discovered by Other Lines Through Central Association and Committee Appointed to Put Stop to Practice.

Ingenious traffic managers, always looking for a way to circumvent the law against rebating, have found a method in underbilling the weight of a carload of merchandise, which is said to have been in use for several months. This scheme furnishes the railroads with a sliding scale of rebates, by which various grades of favoritism can be meted out to shippers.

So far it has been discovered the plan has been worked by the eastern trunk lines exclusively, but it is said that it could have been done only with the connivance of their western connections. The fact that the railroads have had a conference over the matter and that a committee has been appointed to investigate it indicates to some extent the serious proportions which the practice has assumed.

The committee which is charged with the business of putting a curb upon this new form of rebate giving, is composed of officials of the Illinois Central, Santa Fé, Chicago and Northwestern, Great Western, Erie, and Pennsylvania. It is said the practice of false billing has become so common that a plan has been set on foot whereby the eastern connections will be required to furnish authentication of the gross weight, tare, and net of all carlot shipments going to points west of Chicago and the Mississippi.

Freight Bureau Makes Discovery.

Weighing and inspection bureaus are maintained by the Central Freight association in Chicago, Buffalo, Pittsburg, and St. Louis, and they are supposed to weigh all cars going to western lines. It is in this bureau that the short weights were caught.

As an illustration of the results of underbilling, it is said one of the western roads recently had delivered to it a carload of merchandise billed at 30,000 pounds net, on which the proportionate charge to be paid to the eastern line was $30. The car was weighed before and after unloading and it was found that the weight was 56,000 pounds net, on which the eastern road's proportion of the freight would have been $56. The western road was not authorized to collect the extra $26 for the eastern, so it simply collected its own proportion of the extra freight, and the shipper was in $26, as doubtless the eastern road intended he should be.

Inspecting Vanderbilt Extension.

Executive officials of the New York Central lines, including W. K. Vanderbilt, H. McK. Twombly, President W. H. Newman, Vice Presidents W. C. Brown and G. J. Gramer are on a tour of inspection of the Big Four and especialy of the new Cairo division in Illinois. They left Cincinnati yesterday for Indianapolis, whence they will go to Paris, Ill. It was said the main object of the trip is to inspect the improvements being made and to plan for the expenditure of several million dollars upon the coal properties near Danville.

Two meetings were held by the Western Passenger association to discuss the reduced rates of the Great Western for week end excursions which will bring the farmers into the cities. The other roads practically have decided to follow the example of the Great Western in competitive territory only.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The dry goods market today was active, and although buyers in many instances were not willing to place orders for late delivery, yet the strong situation with reference to deliveries made many anxious to secure goods to cover their requirements. The carpet sale continued a feature, with large attendance and active buying.

BAR ASSOCIATION WANTS HOME.

Appeals to President of County Board for Allotment of Quarters in the New Courthouse.

President Brundage of the county board has received from the Chicago Bar association a request that the commissioners allot the association quarters in the new courthouse.

The reasons set forth in the petition are that the association's members are not only closely interested in matters pertaining to the courts but the association saves the state's attorney and county considerable money each year by the prosecutions conducted by it.

President Brundage will lay the matter before the county board.

1869 UNION TRUST CO. TRIBUNE BUILDING CHICAGO 1905

Publicity While the Public Press almost daily of late, is calling attention to what are termed "DUMMY DIRECTORS," it is no more than proper that an institution so closely related to every individual as a Banking Corporation should make known the extent to which its DIRECTORS are active in the Bank's control.

The Public's Safeguard The Public necessarily can have but a superficial knowledge of a Bank's condition. They must consider the personnel of its Officers and of its Directory who have or should have a full knowledge of its affairs.

Directors Who Direct THE DIRECTORS OF THE UNION TRUST COMPANY ARE IN CLOSE TOUCH with its conduct, periodically making personal examinations in which the lines of credit are supervised, collateral passed upon, cash counted, accounts checked and investments scrutinized.

Policy It long has been the policy of the Union Trust Company to allow its earnings to accumulate forming additional security for its depositors. The extent to which this policy has been adhered to may be appreciated when it is known that the ORIGINAL CAPITAL AND SURPLUS IN 1869 WAS BUT $125,000.00.

Results Not one dollar has been added to that from outside sources, but the EARNINGS HAVE BEEN RETAINED until the PRESENT CAPITAL AND SURPLUS has been attained. It is now $1,550,000.00.

Inferences The Directory of the Bank is comprised of men well known in the community. That they, with their access to the details of inside conduct should hold to this policy, is significant of their entire confidence in the management by the Bank's Officials and cannot fail to have weight with a discerning Public.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

THE TRIBUNE desires to inform the readers and users of its advertising columns that it has a special classified heading for the use of Employment Agencies; and that, under its rules, Employment Agencies are not allowed to insert classified advertisements under any other heading; and that any advertisements by Employment Agencies appearing under any other heading have been inserted by subterfuge, and without its knowledge or consent. The Tribune will not recommend Employment Agencies whose advertisements appear under any than the proper heading. The Tribune asks the assistance of its readers in reforming the abuses of Employment Agencies and will regard as confidential all information to this end.

Under a statute of Illinois it is necessary for all Employment Agencies to secure a license to do business, and by the same a maximum registration fee of $2.00 is permitted to be charged for the securing of a position within 30 days. Any fee charged in excess thereof, or any refusal to return fees, if a position is not secured, should be reported to Mr. George W. Geary, Superintendent Illinois State Employment Bureau, 429 Wabash avenue.

BE CAREFUL IN SIGNING PAPERS AND APPLICATION BLANKS.

Before signing any papers in an employment agency they should be submitted to Mr. George Geary, Superintendent for the state of the Illinois State Bureau, 429 Wabash avenue.

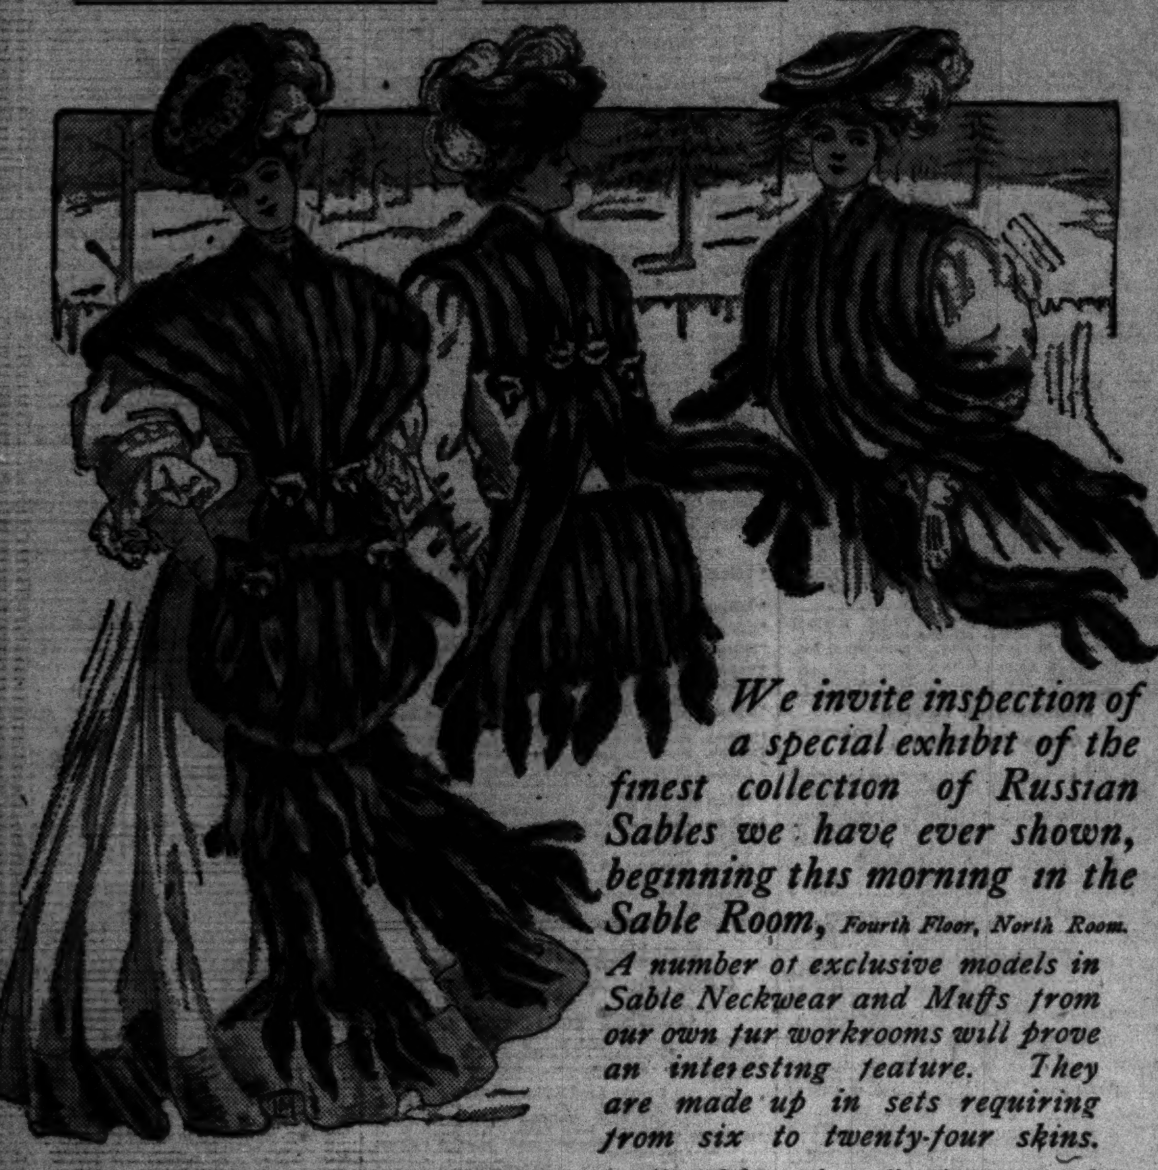
Exclusive Russian Sables.



We invite inspection of a special exhibit of the finest collection of Russian Sables we have ever shown, beginning this morning in the Sable Room, Fourth Floor, North Room.

A number of exclusive models in Sable Neckwear and Muffs from our own fur workrooms will prove an interesting feature. They are made up in sets requiring from six to twenty-four skins.

The finest specimens of our Russian Sables are selected from the collections secured in the forests of Vitim and Olekma in the province of Yakutsk. They are distinguished by the fineness of the fur and the richness of the unusually dark brown colorings, tipped with the silvery hairs—a distinctive mark of beauty in Sable Furs.

The facilities of our own workrooms are unsurpassed for the skillful execution of designs from any character of skins which the customer may select.

$3.50 Patrician Shoes for Women Are Made as Carefully as Any $5.00 Shoe

ALL kinds of best leathers are used for vamps, uppers, counters, inner soles, outer soles and heels. The stitching is perfectly done with silk and linen thread, and every pair is finished with the same particularity as higher priced shoes. There's a stylish, comfort-giving last for every foot, and no matter how difficult, a satisfactory fit is assured in all instances.

Every shoe requirement is met in a skillful manner. Women who wear them—and there are thousands in this city who will wear no other—never complain of durability or style. By many, Patricians are pronounced woman's ideal shoes. They come in every leather, every style, every last, and every size, and sell everywhere for $3.50.

Young ladies' Patrician shoes, sizes 2½ to 6, at $3.00 and $3.50 a pair.
Misses' Patrician shoes, sizes 11 to 2, at $2.50 and $3.00 a pair.
Children's Patrician shoes, sizes 8 to 10½, $2.50 and $2.00 a pair.
Boys' Patrician shoes, sizes 10 to 2, all styles, at $2.50 a pair.

Women's Hand-Made Shoes from $5.00 Up

In addition to Patrician we have the finest makes of women's hand-made shoes at $5.00 and up that are manufactured in this country.

Elegant $45, $50 & $55 sample suits and overcoats at $30

RIGHT in the beginning we want to impress on you that these superb garments are fully up to the Mandel standard—a standard by which well-groomed men are accustomed to judge. Better work than this the cleverest tailor cannot produce, and there's telling how much more he might charge you. mere sentimental excess which you can be very comfortable without.

These are the overcoats

The overcoats are cut in the latest nobby styles—Bradford and Chesterfield—and show all the smart new style features, the broad shoulder, the full skirt, etc. Lining is of the finest quality of silk. In short, they are overcoats you'll be proud to wear, at $30.

The materials are vicuna, cheviots, thibets, bullock beaver, and kersey, in either black or oxford. Plenty of choice in materials, as you see. There are all sizes from 34 to 46, so you won't be disappointed if you make an early call today. Remember, this is a value that there has been nothing to compare with this season—$45 to $55 overcoats at $30.

ROOSEVELT READY FOR REFORM FRAY

Message Completed and Lamps Trimmed and Burning on Eve of the Meeting of Congress.

HOUSE IN LINE ON RATES.

Battle in Senate Over Federal Supervision of Railway Tariffs and Insurance May Be Historic.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Inside of three weeks congress will be in session and the legislative mill will begin grinding its usual miscellaneous grist.

Now that the elections are out of the way congressmen are dropping into Washington by every train, and they already have begun to crowd the ante-rooms of the executive offices. They are bringing with them to Washington a variegated collection of bills and schemes for congressional action, each of which is submitted to the president more or less in detail in the hope that he will indorse it in his message.

But President Roosevelt is wise in his own generation. He anticipated the inroad of the congressional army, and he had his message finished before even the advance guard arrived here to disturb him at his labors. He, therefore, is in a position where he can listen to the legislative enthusiasts and can avoid indorsing their various schemes by the simple and true announcement that he has finished his message, which already is in type, and which is subject now merely to typographical corrections.

House in Rate Reform Mood.

From this advance guard of congressmen, however, the president has been able to learn with considerable accuracy the probable course of legislation and most particularly subjects which are likely to be debated during the coming session. He himself will set the ball rolling by a clear cut discussion of the railroad rate situation. He will have back of him a large majority of the house of representatives.

The obstructive tactics which were so noticeable in the last house, under the lead of Chairman Hepburn and Representative Mann of the interstate commerce committee, will not be resorted to at this session. The president has been assured by individual members and again today by Speaker Cannon himself that any reasonable railway rate legislation bill can be put through the house before the Christmas holidays. It even is said it can be passed almost without debate and probably without a record vote.

The interstate commerce committee may require a reasonable length of time to put the new bill into shape, but the actual work in the house will amount to nothing at all. Democrats will vote for the republican bill in large numbers and there will be no necessity for any extended debate, although it is likely that leave to print will be extended inasmuch as nearly every member of the house has heard from his constituents on this question and desires to get on record at the earliest possible moment.

Right to Review Paramount.

Informal notice has been given by half a hundred members of the proposed introduction of railway rate bills, measures putting private car lines under the interstate commerce act, restrictive legislation against terminal railroads, bills to regulate sleeping car companies, and other measures on the same general subject. None of these will be seriously considered at the opening of congress.

It is the intention of leaders, following out the express desire of the president, to concentrate attention as much as possible on the broad general principle of giving the interstate commerce commission the right to review a specified railroad rate on complaint and fix a new rate which will hold until upset by the courts. An administration measure will be submitted to the house early in the session. It will have the informal approval in advance of the president and attorney general. It will be extremely conservative, and will be framed with the express purpose of standing the test of the severe criticism it will be sure to encounter when it reaches the senate.

All side issues will be shelved in the interstate commerce committee of the house for the express purpose of keeping the desks cleared for action in the senate, where the fight is certain to be a memorable one, splitting up both parties to an extraordinary degree, and probably holding the attention of the senate pretty much all the time from December until June, or at intervals at least.

Divided as to Insurance.

It is evident, from the talk of arriving representatives and senators, that the lawyers in congress are far from satisfied with the proposal to have federal supervision of life insurance. Their objections are purely constitutional, and do not reach the merits of the question at all. It is believed a considerable majority of the judiciary committees of both houses are opposed to federal supervision of insurance, on the ground that the Supreme court already has decided that congress cannot assume such powers under the interstate commerce clause of the constitution. There are some good lawyers in congress, however, who insist that insurance is, to all intents and purposes, interstate commerce and that the federal government has power to undertake its supervision.

Almost every member of congress who arrives now has one or more insurance bills tucked away in his inside pockets, entirely outside of the question of the constitutionality of the proposed law. Many of these men believe, with President Roosevelt, that the only way to get a satisfactory decision from the Supreme court on such a grave question is to pass the law first and have it construed afterward. The Supreme court gives no decisions on hypothetical questions, and, in spite of the general belief among many of the older members of congress that they have no power to reguate insurance, there will be a strong following behind the president if he recommends the passage of a law for federal supervision.

Insurance Head for Regulation.

Curiously enough, the chief sponsor for the proposition to give the federal government authority to regulate insurance is Senator Dryden of New Jersey. He also is president of the insurance company which first drew the fire of Tom Lawson, and which was unmercifully scored by the Massachusetts insurance commission.

Senator Dryden's company has not been investigated by the legislative committee in New York because it is not a New York company. The senator himself, however, has REIGN OF TERROR NEAR IN RUSSIA.

Czar Fills St. Petersburg with Troops and Machine Guns for Battle with the Revolutionists.

100,000 MEN ON STRIKE.

Workmen Planning to March Half Million Armed Men Through the Streets Today.

[From the St. Petersburg Correspondent of the London Times.]

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 16, 1 a. m.—A council of the ministers will be held at Tsarskoe Selo today, the czar presiding, to discuss measures for dealing with the situation. It is declared that the abandonment of the policy of repression, the removal of martial law throughout the empire, immediate and full amnesty for all political prisoners, and an early convocation of the zemstvo congress as an advisory board pending the introduction of reform measures are essential conditions for the appeasement of the country.

PANIC AT ST. PETERSBURG.

[From the St. Petersburg Correspondent of the London Daily Mail.]

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 16, 3 a. m.—The renewal of the general strike already involves 100,000 men and fears of serious trouble are alarming the government.

Preparations have been made for fierce street fighting. Batteries of machine guns have been ordered out. Terror has seized upon Russians and foreigners alike. There was an absolute panic on the bourse on Wednesday. Officials of the ministry of the interior declare they can guarantee nothing, least of all the preservation of law.

Everybody is looking to his revolver, but the workmen, the revolutionists, and the "black hundred" are all well armed. The workmen, egged on by the revolutionary committee, threaten to make an armed demonstration with half a million men on the streets Thursday afternoon.

Rushing On to Anarchy.

Every day sees the situation narrowing, every hour quickens the advent of a massacre and reign of terror. No newspapers will be published here on Thursday. Their last words before closing on Wednesday were incitement to the commune.

The revolutionary hand is now raised even against count de Witte, who confesses his helplessness. "Trust in Providence and machine guns" is the only consolation he affords the terrified population.

The regiments have been brought back from Cronstadt, leaving the mutineers there uncowed and inefficiently guarded. The government's last stand will be made at St. Petersburg, because countless millions of scrip, money, administrative, naval, and military property are here. Between these huge hoards and the commune there now stands alone the army, on whose loyalty all depends.

Trouble Feared Today.

The authorities are determined to repress rigorously all attempts at disorderly demonstrations on Thursday. The choice therefore rests with the strike committee whether there be peace or bloody anarchy.

The workmen are holding meetings in a dozen parts of St. Petersburg. Their demeanor is confident. They unanimously declare for an armed struggle, while 50,000 roughs chuckle over the prospect of an early harvest of blood and pillage. The strike committee is urging the stoppage of the telegraphs.

CZAR'S LAND FOR PEASANTS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 15.—It is reported that a ukase will be issued soon whereby a large portion of the imperial domain, which covers almost a third of European Russia and which at present is the property of the emperor and grand dukes, will be given to the peasants.

According to this infomation land will be supplied to the landless peasants in fifteen acre allotments, not as a free gift, but on easy terms, the payments to be made through the peasants' bank and to cover a period of thirty-five years.

There also is under consideration a plan for the abolition of the special economic classification of the communal holding of land by the peasantry and the placing of the peasants, so far as the holding of land is concerned, on the same footing as other subjects of the emperor.

Storm Prevents Bloodshed.

A fierce northeast blizzard and snow which blew down on St. Petersburg tonight prevented bloodshed in the Russian capital. The bitter cold by forcing the strikers to remain indoors did more to preserve order than all the Cossacks cavalry patrolling the streets.

Heavy military reserves are stationed in all the industrial districts, but up to midnight there was no rioting.

The social democrats had an impressive response on the part of all organizations of workmen to their summons for a general political strike to demonstrate their solidarity with the struggle of their Polish comrades for autonomy and to protest against the execution of the mutinous sailors at Cronstadt.

One hundred thousand men quit work at noon. The men walked out of all the big mills and factories, and the employés of the Baltic and Warsaw railroads, the printers, and other classes of laborers struck, but the shops in the center of the city were not closed.

Troops took charge of the electric light stations, which were operated by sailors, so that the city was not placed in darkness.

Wild Panic Renewed.

The situation has caused a renewal of the panicky feeling among the inhabitants, whose nerves were already shattered by the events of the last fortnight, and hundreds of persons who had just returned are again leaving for Finland. The foreign residents are becoming more and more alarmed, and many of them are hastily preparing to go abroad for the winter.

In case the Finnish socialists should join their Russian comrades and tie up the Finnish railroad, the only egress would be by water, and the freezing of the gulf of Finland a fortnight hence would close the last exit.

The foreign embassies share the public alarm, and the British embassy is advising

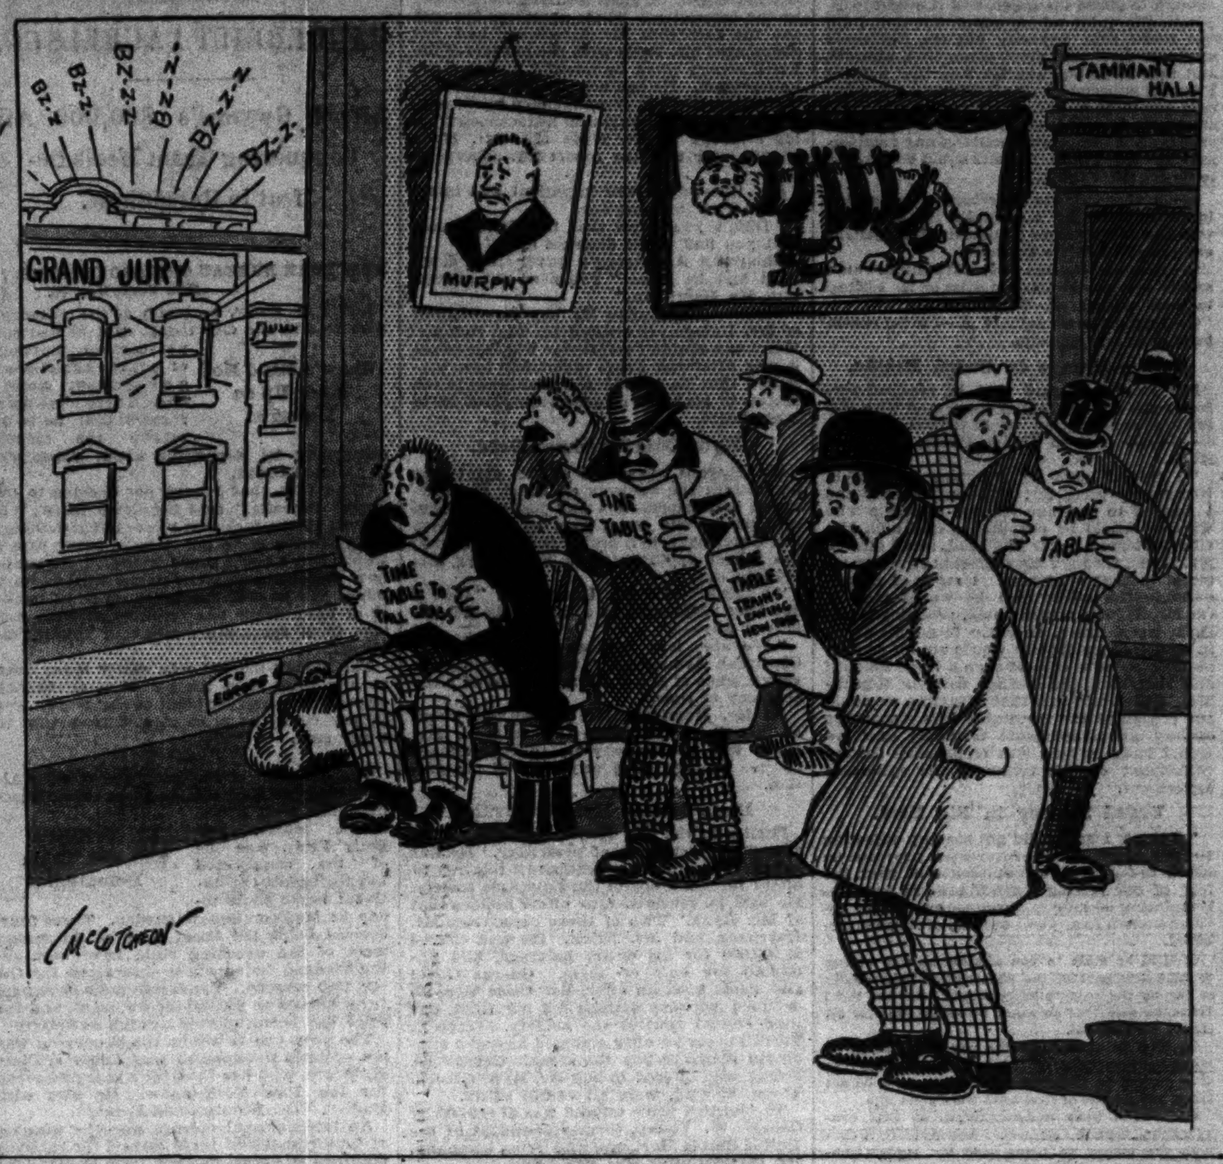
THE NEW YORK GRAND JURY IS INVESTIGATING THE ELECTION RETURNS.



BURKE PUTS I. M. O. IN PANIC.

League Discovers Presence of the Former Boss and Objects.

TO CALL ON MAYOR TODAY.

Doubts Motives of Ex-City Sealer in Using "Great Movement."

Mr. T. P. Quinn, Mr. Addison Blakely, and other officers of the I. M. O. league decided last night that it was time to view with alarm the proximity of Robert Emmet Burke to the sacred Cause. They decided that it was time to wrap a long chain around The Cause, spike it to the floor, and call the police.

Mr. Burke's proximity was not observed until yesterday afternoon. Then it was discovered that the ex-city sealer had joined the I. M. O. league and that the official motto had begun to look like:

I. M. O. P. D. Q. O. K. B. B.

This being discovered, Mr. Quinn [who should not be confounded with James Aloysius Quinn], Mr. Blakely, Mr. Nevin, and other officers determined that Mr. Burke must be told, politely but firmly, that he had the wrong transfer—that his corner had been passed.

He was to be shooed away, if possible, or, temperate measures being ineffective, to be driven away with a club. The announcement of the alarm with which the proximity of Mr. Burke was viewed was made from the small room on the top floor of the Unity building, which is sacred to the councils of the I. M. O. league.

Sends Call for Reporters.

A call for reporters was turned in at 6:03 o'clock, Mr. Quinn sending it in from a downtown telephone and hastening immediately to the headquarters in the Unity building. It being a still alarm from a dangerous quarter the response was so quick that the first reporter reaching the league found the small room in darkness, with Mr. Quinn fumbling at the keyhole. Afterwards a 4-11 was turned in and the other officers of the league responded.

"If necessary," said Mr. Quinn, after everybody had recovered his breath, "the public will be told about Mr. Burke. If necessary a circular letter will be issued unmasking him.

"We believe that in this instance Mayor Dunne may be entirely guiltless, entirely innocent, but we do not propose that Burke should use the strength of the municipal ownership movement to rehabilitate himself. We view with alarm a call for funds issued this afternoon by Mr. Burke. His purpose is apparent.

Will "Rake In" the Money.

"He is using the great movement which was started without the aid of politicians to collect money. All his fellows who have been in arrears to the county democracy will suppose that Burke is the leader of the new municipal ownership movement, and they will bethink themselves that here is where they get a city job if they regain their good standing in the democracy. They will hasten to pay up their debts and Burke rakes in the money.

"We are told that Burke is a good fellow personally. So also we are told that John P. Hopkins is a prince of fellows personally, but that does not count. They are pirates. I have great regard for the old German and Roman counts who used to descend on the valley towns with their legions and pillage the inhabitants. They took some personal risk. I have no regard for the politicians whose only purpose is to pillage without taking risks."

If Mr. Burke does not take notice of the foregoing and remove his objectionable person from the vicinity of the I. M. O. he will be visited with a circular letter, and the blame will be on his own head.

Mayor Dunne will be visited by the I. M. O. leaguers this morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Quinn was asked if the mayor knew they were coming, and said that he did. Nevertheless, the leaguers expect to find him at home in his office, and they will submit plans for the organization of the I. M. O. political machine.

It is probable that the committee of the whole will be taken along. In this case the mayor will remain in his office beyond his usual dinner hour this evening.

CHICAGO TRAIN IN WRECK; HURLS MEAT CARS OFF TRACK.

Collision Without Loss of Life Occurs on Panhandle Embankment Near Logansport, Ind.

Logansport, Ind., Nov. 16, 3 a. m.—[Special.]—While running at a high speed in an effort to make up time, Panhandle passenger train No. 6, from Chicago, due here at 12:20 a. m., ran into meat train No. 80, also southbound, at the overhead crossing of the Vandalia at 1:15 this morning.

The caboose and several cars in the meat train were hurled down a forty foot embankment and smashed to kindling wood.

So far as can be learned no one was seriously injured.

The sudden stopping of the meat train on the main track to repair a broken air hose caused the collision. Believing there was a clear track ahead the passenger train was traveling at full speed. Suddenly the warning rear light on the caboose of the meat train loomed up in front. Air brakes were applied, but the momentum and the steep grade allowed the passenger train to slide along the rails as if there had been no hindrance. The engineer and fireman jumped just as the collison came and rolled down the embankment.

The passenger train carried the usual number of Pullman cars, and the occupants declare they felt comparatively little shock. In the express coach, however, the men were thrown the length of the car and badly bruised.

MAN TAKEN BY THE POLICE HAS $47,270 IN HIS POCKET.

John Carlon of Morris, Ill., Apparently Demented, Removed from Congress Hotel to Harrison Street Station.

A man giving the name of John Carlon, 65 years old, living in Morris, Ill., and whom the police of the Harrison street station believe to be demented, was taken into custody early this morning by Policeman James O'Brien after the police had been notified by the manager of the Congress hotel, 271 Clark street.

Carlon, who asserts he is a cattle buyer, when taken to the station was searched and in his possession the police found checks and cash to the amount of $47,270.

Early in the evening Carlon entered the hotel and was assigned to a room, but remained in the reading room, muttering to himself and pacing the floor. The clerk attempted to quiet him, but was unsuccessful. Carlon was under the delusion that he was back in Morris and asserted that he had been arrested by a Morris policeman. When asked what had caused his arrest he said he believed it was because he had money.

At the station later Carlon said he was a cattle buyer and had been in Chicago two days selling cattle and making some purchases.

WILL BURY TONS OF STEEL TO HONOR DEAD WORKMEN.

Plan of Pennsylvania Plant Is Only Recourse, as Bodies Were Absorbed Completely by Molten Metal.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 15.—During the inquest held today in the cases of John Forkin and Joseph Garcia, laborers, who were killed at the Midvale Steel Works on Nov. 10, it was testified that the two men had entered a pit and that 80,000 pounds of hot metal poured from a leak and completely absorbed them. Not a trace of the bodies of the men was discovered.

The steel company has decided to take about 8,000 pounds of steel from the place where the men were last seen and have it buried out of respect for the dead workmen.

The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

ELIOT RAPS WEALTH? S-SH!

Harvard Head Dissects "Great Riches" in Don't Tell Talk.

CLUB SWORN TO SILENCE.

Seals Hearers' Lips Before Putting Certain Millionaire on Grill.

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—What is there in "Great Riches" to cause so widely known an educator as President Eliot of Harvard to make his latest lecture so great a mystery that he will deliver it only under pledges of absolute secrecy?

Why does the president of so great a seat of learning as Harvard exact of the select few before whom he discourses on "Great Riches" a solemn promise not to disclose the substance of it; above all, not to talk about it with any representative of the press?

These questions were asked today by those who were barred from the monthly meeting of the Contemporary club, held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac W. Birdsey last night, where, before seventy-five men and women, President Eliot delivered the lecture, after exacting a promise from every one present not to repeat a syllable of it or discuss the address with any save those who were present.

Aimed at Certain Millionaire?

There is a suspicion in the minds of some that the lecture criticises a certain millionaire whose benefactions to a western university have been generous as well as the manner in which vast fortunes have been acquired by enterprising Americans.

The Contemporary club is a small organization of fashionable and progressive men and women. It is modeled after the Nineteenth Century club founded by the late Courtlandt Parker in New York. It was its president, Arthur M. Marsh, who invited the president of Harvard university to speak before this club. Dr. Eliot replied he would deliver his lecture, "Great Riches," provided the club would pledge itself to exclude newspaper reporters. A reply was forthwith dispatched saying that the club was on too high an intellectual plane ever to invite newspaper notice, and that President Eliot might rest assured that no reporters would be permitted to hear him.

Hearers Sworn to Silence.

Not satisfied with this pledge on the part of the club, President Eliot exacted the further assurance that no member would presume to take written notes of anything he said, or talk about it to newspaper men, or in any way disclose its nature.

This promise was also given with the result that President Eliot last night talked to seventy-five members of the club behind barred doors.

To your correspondent President Eliot refused absolutely to give any inkling of the nature of his discourse, saying:

"It is a private affair of my own, it cannot be reported."

No, Not Sensational, but——

To a question as to why it was necessary to maintain so much secrecy about the lecture Harvard's president would make no reply.

President Marsh of the club, when asked if there was anything sensational in the lecture replied evasively:

"It depends upon what you consider to be sensational. I should not care to class it as sensational, but rather of absorbing interest. It was most successful. But I, like all other members, am pledged to secrecy."

MINE SINKS; TOWN IN PERIL.

Cemetery Collapses at Durye, Pa., and Bodies Are About to Fall Into Colliery Workings.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 15.—Great alarm is felt in Duryea tonight owing to the continued subsidence in the Marcy vein of the William A. colliery.

During the afternoon the Lehigh Valley Coal company notified residents to move out of their homes owing to the increasing danger.

The southern portion of the Marcy cemetery collapsed tonight, destroying the graves. It is feared that if the cave-in continues the bodies will fall into the mine workings.

A number of fine residences have been wrecked and two other houses are expected to fall before tomorrow morning.

HARRIMAN vs. HYDE WHO IS THE LIAR?

Every Charge Made by Equitable's Former Vice President Denied by Railroad Man.

TWO DEADLY ENEMIES.

Odell Shipbuilding Scandal Accusation Hurled Back; $75,000 Payment Explained in a New Light.

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Edward H. Harriman, appearing as a witness before the Armstrong legislative insurance committee today, flatly contradicted all the sensational accusations made against him by James Hazen Hyde.

He denied that he had advised the settlement of Gov. Odell's shipbuilding suit against the Mercantile Trust company for $75,000; he denied that he had ever warned Hyde that the Mercantile's charter might be revoked through powerful political influence at Albany; he denied, in fact, that he had ever taken the initiative in any way in the negotiations for the settlement of the Odell suit.

Mr. Harriman declared that he had not conspired against Hyde to obtain control of the Hyde majority in the Equitable; that he had, on the contrary, tried to advise and counsel the young man in every way possible against the dangerous influences with which he had surrounded himself.

Mr. Harriman admitted that he had visited President Roosevelt relative to Hyde's appointment as ambassador to France, but he had done this not in an effort to railroad Hyde out of the country, as has been charged, but merely as an act of friendship. Mr. Harriman gave it as his belief that Chairman Odell also did something in regard to the Hyde candidacy for the ambassadorship shortly after the Odell suit had been settled.

Denial Does Not Worry Hyde.

Mr. Harriman denied Mr. Hyde's charges one by one as they were referred to him in Mr. Hyde's own words. Mr. Hyde listened attentively to Mr. Harriman's declarations, a slight smile playing around the corners of his mouth. When the railroad magnate's examination was concluded Mr. Hyde stepped quickly up on the stand and reiterated many of the charges which he made on Tuesday, declaring emphatically that he did not desire to change a word of his previous testimony.

To determine which one of the witnesses, Hyde or Harriman, is telling the truth is not a matter for the committee's consideration. That would come ordinarily under the jurisdiction of the district attorney's office. Mr. Jerome refused tonight to comment on the proceedings of the day, and probably nothing will be forthcoming from him until all the witnesses are heard.

Odell Certain to Be Called.

That Chairman Odell will appear before the committee, within a day or so, is certain. The committee received a communication from him today asking for an opportunity to testify.

Mr. Harriman prefaced his testimony in regard to the Odell shipbuilding scandal with the statement that he had not read any of the evidence given by any of the witnesses, and that consequently his mind was "entirely fresh on these subjects without any prejudice." Mr. Hughes called for a detailed statement of Mr. Harriman's recollections.

"Mr. Hyde came to me," said Mr. Harriman, "I think, with Mr. Deming (Henry C. Deming, president of the Mercantile Trust company), and asked me if I wouldn't use my influence to try to get Gov. Odell to settle that suit. Mr. Hyde's statement to me was that the Odell suit was dangerous to the Mercantile Trust company in that it might induce other suits to be brought by other people that had been subscribers to the shipbuilding combination. I agreed with Mr. Hyde that I would see Gov. Odell, which I did, and arranged an interview between them, which took place in one of the rooms at my office. I was not present. I know nothing about the conversation that took place between Gov. Odell and Mr. Hyde. I think Mr. Colby (Bainbridge Colby) was with them, and the only thing that I know of that conversation was that when Gov. Odell came out of the room he asked me who Mr. Colby was, and I did not know exactly, but I told him I believed he had something to do with the law department of the Equitable.

Odell's Opinion of Hyde Poor.

"'Well,' said he, 'it seems very strange, he is the whole Equitable and Mr. Hyde is nothing. He was the man that stated what they would or would not do, and seemed to be irritated.'

"I was finally approached again some days after that by Mr. Hyde and Mr. Colby who came to my office and stated that they still desired to get this matter out of the way and Mr. Colby's remark to me was 'I want you to understand, Mr. Harriman, that my first offer is my best.'

"What he meant by that I do not know. I made no reply to it, but I told Mr. Hyde that I would again see Gov. Odell and try and get him to do something about settling the suit.

"Finally, I do not remember whether any figure was named to me or not, but they had another interview somewhere uptown—it may have been at my house—at which I was not present, as I did not want to know anything about it. In the end Mr. Hyde told me they were willing to pay $70,000 and would not I try to get Gov. Odell to accept that amount, which I did, and as I recollect Gov. Odell told me that if I specially desired, he would do so.

How Odell Got His $75,000.

"'Well,' I told him, 'I do not want to be put in that position.' Then he went into some detail that he would have to pay lawyers' fees out of it, and anyway, if I specially requested it, he would. I told Mr. Hyde of that interview and said to him that if I were in his place and were going to settle it, while I had no advice to give as to whether it should be settled or not, I would not stand on $75,000 on a settlement of that kind. I would make it satisfactory. And I understood afterwards that Mr. Hyde saw him and payment was made of which I had no further knowledge."

Mr. Harriman said that to the best of his recollection his first meeting with Mr. Hyde on the subject of the Odell claim occurred in the fall of 1904, a month or so before the settlement. All the meetings to which he had referred, Mr. Harriman testified, occurred within a brief period after Mr. Hyde had first spoken to him. Mr. Hughes wanted to know whether he was sure a meeting between Gov. Odell and Mr. Hyde occurred at his house or whether it wasn't at a certain club.

ROOSEVELT GIVES SCATHING REBUKE

Democratic Leader in Massachusetts Accused of Misquoting President.

PLAIN TALK TO SHOE MEN.

Executive Appealed To by Gov. Douglas for Lower Tariff on Hides.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A call at the White house today of a Massachusetts delegation of "leather" men in the interests of a tariff reduction on hides resulted chiefly in a scathing rebuke administered by the president to Henry M. Whitney, the democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Massachusetts at the last election.

Gov. Douglas, heading the delegation of boot, shoe, and leather manufacturers, had finished his plea for lower tariff when the president went after Mr. Whitney as follows:

"I should like to discuss the whole situation with you freely and informally. But unfortunately my experience with a committee from your state, Gov. Douglas, which called on me in connection with tariff matters about a year ago, forbids my doing so. Such a free, full, and necessarily informal and tentative discussion is obviously of benefit only if those joining in it recognize as a matter of honorable obligation the duty of not attempting to give from memory what must necessarily be an imperfect and garbled version of what takes place.

"When the president of the United States definitely and formally expresses himself for publication on a question of great national importance, what he says should not be left to the imperfection of memory, often colored by interest, but should be put beyond the possibility of misunderstanding by careful preparation and committal to writing. To try to repeat from memory what the president has said when a year has elapsed is to show entire indifference to accuracy as well as to propriety.

President Deliberately Misquoted.

"Yet this is precisely what Mr. Whitney did in the Massachusetts campaign that has just closed. He pretended to quote what I had said during the course of the long and informal interview with his committee a year before, no notes of the conversation having been taken at the time. Not only did he misquote the words I used, but, by suppressing almost all that I had said and by giving what he purported to give entirely apart from its context, he absolutely and, as I am constrained to believe, deliberately misrepresented what had occurred; and he knew well that it was impossible for the president of the United States to enter into a personal discussion about the matter with him.

"With this experience in view, I cannot enter into any discussion with you on the merits of your proposal, and must content myself with saying that it shall receive my most earnest, attentive, and respectful consideration."

Whitney Enters Disclaimer.

Mr. Whitney in Boston tonight when he heard of the president's charge, made the following statement:

"Andrew G. Webster, J. M. W. Hall, and I, constituting a subcommittee of the chamber of commerce committee of 100 on reciprocal trade, visited Washington last winter for a conference with the president touching especially the matter of the Hay-Bond treaty. I, as chairman of the committee, made an argument in favor of the treaty and in the argument made reference to the advantage of reciprocal treaties with Canada. We understood the president to express himself as not unfavorable to the Hay-Bond treaty, but desirous of seeing and favoring also the fullest possible freedom of trade with Canada. I was not aware that this was to be regarded in the nature of a confidential communication; quite the contrary, as we were there, as I stated to the president, as a committee of the chamber of commerce committee of one hundred, and to consult with the president and to report the result of that conference to the full committee, which was equivalent to giving it to the public.

"While we may have misunderstood the president, I do not see how we could have done so. I absolutely deny any "willful" and "intentional misrepresentation" of the president's attitude and I have no recollection of what he refers to as the "context" which was calculated to modify the views he expressed. The committee above named made substantially this report to the full committee at the time of our return from Washington, and the president's attitude, as we understood it, has been subject for congratulation among our people from the time of our visit to Washington until the present. It was, therefore, nothing new and I did not regard my reference to it in my campaign as new matter.

"I regret extremely that the president should consider that I have misrepresented his attitude and especially that he should feel I have intentionally done so, which, I aver, is not true."

Indorse Whitney's Statement.

Mr. Whitney sent copies of his statement to Mr. Hall and Mr. Webster, both of whom have indorsed it, Mr. Webster saying:

"I have read your letter regarding the interview with the president last winter. My recollection of what was said at that time is substantially as you have written. I did not understand that it was a confidential interview."

Mr. Hall in his letter said:

"I have just received your letter concerning our conversation with the president last winter. My recollection agrees with yours. I had no conception that the interview was considered confidential by any one."

Douglas Voices Leather Interests.

Aside from this Whitney episode the tariff talk was highly significant. Gov. Douglas as the spokesman said in part:

"About 240,000,000 pairs of shoes are made annually in this country. The differences in the prices of sole leather between this country and Canada, where there is no duty on hides, vary from 3 to 5 cents per pound, which equals from about 4 to 7 cents per pair on the average factory cost of our shoes. While 7 cents additional cost on a pair of shoes may seem an unimportant matter to the ordinary person, that amount represents more than the profit made by the average manufacturer. So we are pleading for the existence of our industry."

Gov. Douglas announced that the interests he represented "will consent to a reasonable reduction of this duty willingly in order to obtain free hides and cheap leather. All we ask," he added, "is a free field and no favor, either in our own or in foreign markets."

President Roosevelt's Reply.

The president, in replying, said:

"It is, of course, unnecessary to point out that no change in the tariff can be made having in view only the interests or desires of one state or one locality. The law must find its tangible shape in the lower house of congress, and must, therefore, roughly correspond to the sentiments of the citizens of the several states, as expressed through their representatives therein. Where the interests and, therefore, the sentiments based on those interests are diverse, as is almost inevitably the case in reference to the details of all tariff matters, the law must normally, although not invariably, represent a compromise and mutual concessions; and no one outside of congress can definitely foretell the exact shape such a compromise will ultimately take.

"It is my duty to state that before receiving this committee I had received a letter from the governor-elect of Massachusetts, the Hon. Curtis Guild Jr. In this letter, evidently the first he has written in what may be called the official character with which he is now vested by the suffrages of his fellow citizens, he urges in the strongest terms an immediate revision of the tariff, and especially removing the duty from hides."

Bay State for Revision.

The letter of Mr. Guild to the president said in part:

"The republican ticket in Massachusetts in my judgment would have been overwhelmingly defeated if our platform, on which both Mr. Draper and I stood, had not contained a plank indorsing the position taken last spring by our delegation in congress favoring immediate tariff revision. Both parties in this state desire it.

"Nor can there be any question of their earnest desire that you should see your way clear to incorporate some suggestion of the kind which, of course, I should not for a moment presume to dictate, in your mes-

"GOOD BOY" FORMULA OUT

ATTORNEY FOR JUVENILE COURT REVEALS GREAT SECRET.

Three Women, in Search of Information to Be Used in Reports to Every Thursday Social Research Club, Call on John J. McManaman and Ask for Light—He Says Inject a Serum of Bees' and Ants' Brains and Tips of Foxes' Ears.

The door to the probation officers' room of the Juvenile court swung open suddenly yesterday and three women whisked in and stepped briskly up to the desk of John J. McManaman, attorney for the court. Mr. McManaman was buried chin deep in work. Subpœnas and summonses were heaped at his elbows, and court records were piled around him like nursery building blocks.

"Ahem," coughed one of the women as she formed her lips into a winning smile. Attorney McManaman looked up impatiently.

"Is this Mr. McManaman?" interrogated the spokeswoman of the delegation.

"Yes, madam, what can I do for you?" trying to smile, and almost succeeding.

There was a rustle of silk, the little swinging gate in the railing was pushed open and the spokeswoman stepped within the inclosure, moved a chair to the side of Mr. McManaman's desk, sank into it and emitted a sigh indicating a feeling of great relief. The delegate in black taffeta seized another chair and dropped into it. The delegate in the automobile coat did likewise, sinking and sighing at the left of the busy attorney.

Visitors Explain Their Mission.

"We are a delegation," began the spokeswoman, forming her lips into a second entrancing smile and peering over her gold rimmed spectacles at Mr. McManaman. "We are a delegation from the Every Thursday Social Research club, and we are investigating the boy problem. Now, we know that you will be good enough to give us the information we want. We are to read papers on the 'Boy Problem' at the next meeting of the club. You have so many boys at your club and you govern them so excellently that you are just the one person in Chicago who can help us."

"Yes, we all decided to come to you," echoed the one in black taffeta and the one in the automobile coat in chorus.

Boy Problem "So Complex."

"The boy problem is so complex," continued the spokeswoman of the delegation from the Every Thursday Social Research club, "it does seem a pity that these poor, poor little urchins running the streets can't be controlled. We propose to do something practical for them in our club. We are to begin by collecting all the data obtainable.

"Now, tell us, do you use corporal punishment or moral suasion?"

"Moral suasion," began Mr. McManaman, who does not believe the boy is a problem, "while it has received the indorsement of the experts requires constant application, which renders it exceedingly unsatisfactory. Force is too expensive. It's application takes up too much good energy that might be applied to better advantage in other directions.

"In Denver I understand hypotism is used, but in my opinion its use is dangerous because the brain does not grow under the spell. On the other hand, mesmerism leaves the subject sleepy. I have found a solution of the problem, but I'm a little timid about making my formula public, as its use by other than experts would be dangerous."

"O, but do tell us," urged the delegation.

Tells of Wonderful Formula.

"Well," began Attorney McManaman, seriously, "I take twenty-five ordinary bees, working bees, not drones, and I extract their brains. Then I take twenty-five ants, laboring ants, ants that have a passion for work, sober, industrious ants, and I extract their brains.

"Then I take the tips of the ears and the tail of a fox. I boil the tips of the ears and the tail of the fox together, let it cool, and then skim off the oil that rises to the surface. I purify that oil.

"Then I mix the brains of the bees and the brains of the ants with the refined oil, and it makes a nice serum. I give each boy at the business club a hypodermic injection of the serum and after three doses I have no trouble whatever with the boy. He becomes industrious, saving, and always on the alert to take advantage of any opportunity offered him."

"Wonderful——," exclaimed one of the researchers, biting off the end of the word as she caught a flash from the eye of a companion. The three women rose awkwardly, almost starchily. Mr. McManaman thought he heard a "thank you" as the gate closed behind the retreating visitors, but he wasn't sure.

"Now my great secret is out," he murmured sadly as he bent himself again to his work.

OVERRULES BURTON DEMURRER

Federal Court's Decision Will Be Followed by Trial of Senator on Monday.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15.—The demurrer filed to the indictment of Senator Burton of Kansas was overruled today by Judge Van Devanter of the United States Circuit court, and his trial on the charge of having used his influence to prevent the issuance of a fraud order against the Rialto Grain company will begin next Monday. The contention that the charges against Burton were vague and insufficient was overruled at every point.

MISS BELAND LEAVES CITY

GOES TO PAW PAW, MICH., TODAY TO CARE FOR LITTLE NIECES.

Declares Clearing of Charges Against Her Is More Satisfactory than the $15,000 Awarded Her in the Breach of Promise Suit Against John O'Neill—Asserts She Will Spend the Money in Rearing Brother-in-Law's Daughters—Reviews the Case.

Satisfied with the verdict of the jury, which yesterday morning awarded her $15,000 in her breach of promise suit against "Honest John" O'Neill, Miss Mabel Beland goes today to Paw Paw, Mich., with her two little nieces, to whose rearing, she says, she now will devote her life.

"I don't care so much for the money now," she said quietly, "although I started the case because I wanted justice for the injury done me. When the trial opened I hoped that I would be given the verdict, so that I might live quietly without being dependent upon others. But when those awful charges were brought against me my only prayer was that they would be disproved.

"Now people know that I am not a bad woman, but only an injured girl. That is the principal reason I am glad of the result. I don't know what I should have done if I had lost the case and the accusations were allowed to stand against me. You can see I haven't much cause for happiness even as the matter stands now, but imagine the hopelessness of my life if the brand placed upon me had been allowed to stand. I don't know that I could have borne it, but now the charges are wiped out and I can give my time to my nieces in comparative peace."

Still Retains Timid Manner.

Miss Beland retains the thoughtful, almost timid, manner which, while she was upon the witness stand, impressed the jury strongly in her favor. Her eyes still show that look of half fright, as if she were in fear of placing her trust in any one.

"You can see," she said to visitors, who called upon her at the Turner hotel, "that I haven't had a happy life. It was hard work for my mother to support all of us children, and I was glad to go to Mrs. O'Neill to relieve her of some of her trouble. While Mrs. O'Neill was there I used to care for her when I was not at school, and I was contented. But when she left I stopped school and used to stay at home doing the housework.

"I got lonesome, but that was nothing compared to my feelings when Mr. O'Neill's sisters began to plan to get rid of me. I don't know when it began, but they used to argue with Mr. O'Neill about it and he began to change in his actions toward me. That took away all my little bit of happiness. I had difficulties, but I could stand them so long as he was good to me.

Reviews Cause of Suit.

"When he ordered me to leave his home, there was no place I could go except to my relatives. I felt that I would be a burden upon them and, upon the advice of friends, I began the effort to make Mr. O'Neill give me my due. Then my sister died and I promised her I would take care of her two little girls. My brother-in-law, Charles H. Koester, then gave me a home. For almost two years now, I have given all my time to the two little girls. Marie is 6 years old, and Florence Mabel, named after me, is almost 3 now.

"So I could get along without the money now, for I am useful to Mr. Koester. Still the money will help me in caring for the children, and I shall see that they have no such unhappy childhood as mine. I shall spend the winter in Chicago, but as far as I am concerned it will be a small town. I have not seen Mr. O'Neill since I left his home except in court and I do not expect to see him again. Still I do not bear him any ill will."

O'Neill Reticent About Case.

John O'Neill refused to discuss the outcome of the case in any way, and referred all questioners to his attorney, W. S. Forrest, who declared that if his motion for a new trial is rejected by Judge Gary he will carry the case to the Supreme court. The motion will be heard Nov. 25. Attorneys Arnold Tripp and James Ewing Davis, counsel for Miss Beland, expressed themselves as well satisfied with the jury verdict. They are confident that a new trial will not be granted, and that if the case is reviewed in the higher courts the decision will stand without change.

ONLY COUNTERFEIT "TAINTED."

Assistant Treasurer Williams Tells Bank Clerks How $1 and $10 Sometimes Make $20.

Counterfeit money is the only "tainted money" that Uncle Sam has to worry about, according to Assistant United States Treasurer W. P. Williams in an address last night before the American Institute of Bank Clerks.

"But there is plenty of that," he told his audience. "About the most effective scheme is that of splitting two paper bills, like a $1 and a $10, and pasting the front of one to the back of the other. That trick nets its author $9. There is no other counterfeit device that today stands a ghost of a show to fool a government clerk."

MASKED MEN ROB SALOON.

HOLD UP PATRONS WHILE PEDESTRIANS PASS DOOR.

Bandits Enter Nathan Benes' Place in Twenty-sixth Street Early in the Evening and Compel Bartender and Two Men to Surrender Property at Point of Revolvers—Drink the Best Liquors — Bind Victims Together and Escape.

While scores of persons hurried past and a policeman stood within hailing distance four robbers entered the saloon of Nathan Benes, 336 Twenty-sixth street, at 9 o'clock last night, forced two patrons to stand against the bar while their pockets were searched, and, after robbing the cash register of $45, bound the saloonkeeper and his customers and fled. Although several arrests have been made it is not thought that the robbers have been captured.

E. L. Miller, 326 Twenty-sixth street, and John Havel, 2617 Fifth avenue, were in the saloon when one of the highwaymen entered and ordered a drink. While Benes turned to wait on him another man, wearing a mask and carrying a revolver, stepped inside.

"Up with your hands, gentlemen," he ordered.

Leisurely Rob the Victims.

The saloon door again opened and two more robbers, masked and armed, entered. One of them stood guard at the door and the other hurried to the cash register. Then he stepped to where Miller and Havel were standing. From Miller he took a gold watch and $10. Havel lost $8 and a gold watch.

Then, while the saloonkeeper and his customers stood looking into the barrels of the revolvers, the men repeatedly helped themselves to the best of the liquors in the place. As they turned to leave Benes reached for a revolver. He was seen and the leader of the quartet ordered that he and Miller and Havel be tied with a rope.

Benes first was secured and after his patrons had been tied they were bound together and rolled behind the bar. Twenty minutes later they were found by a customer and released.

Two armed men shortly after midnight entered the drug store of James Swanson, ..6 West Division street, and robbed the proprietor and his clerk. Louis Hass. Then they emptied the cash register, securing, all told, $300.

Two Arrested After Chases.

After a chase of several blocks, Michael Healy, accused of snatching a purse from Mrs. G. G. Brown, 7 North Desplaines street, was arrested in the evening. Healy is said to have grabbed the purse at Desplaines and Lake streets and ran north in Desplaines street. A patrol wagon which was passing gave chase and the man was caught.

After a running fight in which several shots were fired, James Keowl was arrested at Waveland avenue and Rokeby street. The man is said to have a police record. Keowl was seen in that neighborhood and his actions attracted the suspicion of the police. A policeman chased him and he drew a revolver and fired. He finally sank exhausted and was captured.

He will be held for several days pending an investigation into many recent robberies. A companion who was with him when the chase began escaped.

SKIN WILL BE GRAFTED ON ALD. BRENNAN'S BURN.

Council Member to Undergo Operation Today as Result of Injuries Suffered from X Ray Treatment.

Ald. John Brennan, who for several months has been a patient at the Mercy hospital, will undergo an operation this morning as the result of an X ray burn suffered some time ago. The operation will be performed by Dr. John B. Murphy.

While it is not expected that the case will be a serious one, it is said that the burn, covering a small space on the chest, is painful and that skin will have to be grafted upon it. It was said that probably some friends of the alderman would permit the necessary skin to be taken from their bodies.

Mr. Brennan for some months has been confined to the hospital, suffering from nervousness. For a time his recovery was considered doubtful, but recently he has been reported improving. Several months ago, before being taken to the hospital, he was operated on and the X rays were used. The scar left was not apparent until a short time ago.

SUES THE "CUBS" FOR $5,000.

Sidney Kahnweiler, Ejected from Chicago National League Club's Grounds, Asks Damages.

A suit for $5,000 damages against the Chicago National league baseball club has been filed in the Superior court.

It is alleged that the plaintiff was ejected from a ball game at the west side ball park Sept. 24 without provocation, and that he was roughly handled by the club's employés.

"There was a big crowd at the game on the day in question," said Mr. Kahnweiler's attorney yesterday. "When Mr. Kahnweiler did not move fast enough to suit the employés he was assaulted and then ejected from the grounds."

STUDENTS SMASH A MOTIF

ALSO DESTROY H. B. CARRINGTON'S SILK HAT IN EVANSTON.

New York Artist on His Way to Give a Lecture in the Classic Suburb Is Mistaken for a Senior and His Tile Becomes the Point of Attack—Northwestern Boys Arrested, but Released When Visitor Is Reimbursed—Lecture Undelivered.

H. Bromley Carrington, a New York artist, went to Evanston yesterday to lecture on "The Persian Motif in Modern Art." He returned to Chicago late in the afternoon with his silk hat caved in and his collar torn off by a crowd of Northwestern university students. He did not deliver his lecture. Mr. Carrington left for New York late last evening. He says the west is even cruder that he thought.

The students did not intend to be rude and it was all a mistake. Nov. 15 is the day set apart for the appearance of the seniors with high hats and canes, and in the afternoon they observed the college custom. The underclassmen always resent the taking on of the "tiles" by their elders and the usual number of fights about the campus and the streets of the town followed.

The seniors, outnumbered and hard beset, were driven into corners and byways, but fought desperately. The fight was thickest near Hinman avenue and University place, and it was here that a group of seniors were routed by a swarm of underclassmen and sent in flight towards the lake. The juniors turned the corner in pursuit.

Juniors Attack the Lecturer.

"Here's another one goin' out fussin'," shouted "Chuck" Fleming, the leader of the juniors. "We won't do much to him."

The stranger, youthful and esthetic and clad in immaculate afternoon attire, defended himself with his stick, but he was badly "fussed" when he picked up his crushed hat and readjusted his tie. The students were beginning to fear that something was wrong. Policeman Ben Siegel approached and the stranger flagged him.

"I demand the arrest of these ruffians," he said. By this time the rah rah boys knew that something was wrong, and several made their escape. Siegel took Fleming and two others in tow and, followed by the unknown Chesterfield, headed for the police station.

Views of an "Impressionist."

Mr. Carrington is an impressionist, and his remarks on the way showed it. The students tried to explain, but the stranger would not listen, and they approached the police station steps. At the last moment an offer of one of the captives to make good the damage appealed to the irate easterner. Upon payment of what he considered a just compensation for his crushed hat and feelings, he asked the policeman to let the students go, saying that he did not wish to appear against them. Mr. Carrington caught the next train for Chicago, and the members of the Fortnightly club, before whom he was to have lectured, are still wondering what happened to him.

CHICAGO AND CINCINNATI LINKED IN TWO ROMANCES.

Richard Hungler Weds Miss Rose Goetzinger in All Saints' Church and Dr. J. B. Dewey Goes to Ohio to Marry.

Two romances, in each of which one of the persons concerned was from Cincinnati and the other was from Chicago, culminated last night in marriages.

One of the two romances culminated in Cincinnati, when Dr. James R. Dewey, a well known physician of this city, married Miss Grace S. Hickman of that city. The groom, who is 75 years old, first saw Miss Hickman a year ago, when he was summoned to Cincinnati to attend his daughter, who was fatally ill. Miss Hickman, a neighbor of the daughter, acted as nurse to the sick woman. The duties of the sickroom threw them much together. Several months after his daughter died, Dr. Dewey's engagement was announced. Dr. and Mrs. Dewey will return to this city to live.

An accident to Richard Hungler of Cincinnati on his arrival in this city in August, 1904, led to his marriage last evening to Miss Rose Goetzinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Goetzinger, at All Saints' church, Twenty-fifth and Wallace streets. The romance started when Hungler in alighting from a train fell and broke his leg. Miss Goetzinger, although a stranger, went to his assistance. After he recovered he visited at her house. On one visit he fell and broke his leg again. This time the girl insisted that he be cared for at her home. The engagement resulted.

STAY PARK FENCE ORDER.

SOUTH COMMISSIONERS RESCIND THEIR ACTION.

Petitions Signed by 12,000 Names Are Presented to the Board, Whose Members Are Convinced Time Is Not Ripe for Inclosing the Playgrounds, Although They Still Defend the Plan—Auto Resolution of the Rev. P. J. McDonnell Indorsed.

There will be no iron fences inclosing Washington and Jackson parks. This was the unanimous decision of the south park commissioners, who yesterday bowed to the storm of protest and rescinded their former order. The petitions of protest that were presented at the board meeting contained over 12,000 signatures and it was declared that thousands still were to be heard from.

"In view of public sentiment," said Henry G. Foreman, "it seems best not to go on with this measure, although I want to say candidly that the park commissioners are of the same opinion still. Sooner or later fences must be put around the parks as a police measure, but that step should not be taken until public sentiment concedes its wisdom."

Contracts Voted, Not Signed.

Contracts for the erection of the fences had been voted, but not signed. Some of the commissioners, however, fear that the board may be held liable for the material already prepared.

Receive Auto Resolutions.

Resolutions from the Rev. P. J. McDonnell of St. Mel's Roman Catholic church, suggesting that the park board assist the city authorities in suppressing automobile speeding were presented to the commissioners. The board approved of the resolutions, and ordered a letter sent to the Rev. Father McDonnell promising him support.

WIFE WORKS AS DETECTIVE TO LEARN HUSBAND'S ACTS.

Mrs. Laura Bernritter Tells of "Shadowing" Man to Get Evidence for Suit for Separate Maintenance.

How she played the rôle of detective that she might learn her husband's whereabouts during his absences from home at night was explained yesterday by Mrs. Laura Bernritter, who is suing her husband, Henry S. Bernritter, for separate maintenance. She testified at the hearing before Master in Chancery J. V. O'Donnell, to whom the case was referred by Judge Kavanagh, to determine the financial condition of the defendant.

"After failing to elicit satisfactory explanations from my husband I determined to shadow him," said Mrs. Bernritter. "I found that he usually boarded a Jackson park grip car.

"On leaving the car he invariably would go to a flat building at 4119 Ellis avenue. Here I saw him greeted at the door several times by a woman, Lucia Sothern."

The Bernritters lived together at the Holland hotel, Fifty-third street and Lake avenue, until a year ago, when Mrs. Bernritter alleges her husband removed all his belongings and went to live with Lucia Sothern.

Frank Bernritter, a brother of the defendant, was the only witness examined. He said he was in partnership with his brother until last week, when a receivership was asked to dissolve the partnership. James T. Brady, attorney for Mrs. Bernritter, contends that the alleged partnership never existed, and that Henry S. Bernritter owns property to the value of $250,000. The value of the property will be a factor in deciding the question of alimony.

PRESERVES SPOILED; BOY FREE

Youthful Prisoner Is Released by Court When He Gives Original Excuse for Theft.

The plea that two jars of preserves, which he secured in a raid on the pantry of George B. Hayes of Brookfield, were spoiled, yesterday, caused Justice Watts to release Orville Phelps, 17 years old. While the Hayes family was away from home, Phelps and a friend, Frank Morgan, 10 years old, it was alleged, broke open a basement window in the pantry where the preserves were kept. After opening the jars of fruit, they assert, they found the contents spoiled. Morgan was given a hearing last Thursday and released. On the promise of Phelps not to raid another pantry he too was released.

REFUSES CAR FARE; ARRESTED.

Passenger Fights Conductor and Latter Pushes His Head Through Window.

A passenger who did not want to pay his fare on a Cottage Grove avenue cable train last night landed in the Thirty-fifth street police station. Robert Wilson, the conductor, had been trying all the way from downtown to collect the fare of Frank Muffey, 3119 Cottage Grove avenue.

When leaving the car at Thirty-first street Muffey, it is said, pushed Wilson to the pavement, struck him, and followed him back into the car.

Wilson pushed Muffey's head through the car window, cutting his face and the back of his head.

CUTS OFF NATURAL GAS FROM NORTH SIDE USERS.

People's Company Orders Service Limited to Territory South of Madison Street—Decrease of Production.

Consumers of natural gas in the district between Madison street and North avenue, numbering between 2,000 and 3,000, have been notified by the People's Gaslight and Coke company that the natural gas service will be shut off indefinitely within six or ten days, owing to the inability of the Indiana Natural Gas company to furnish enough gas for all the patrons of the Chicago company.

The latter offers to make connection with pipes for manufactured gas free, and if the supply of natural gas increases, to restore the service. The price of natural gas is 60 cents a thousand feet and that of manufactured gas $1.

"We think it fairest to limit consumption geographically," said General Manager W. P. Martin yesterday. "We will continue to give service in the territory nearest the Indiana line, or south of Madison street. We never furnished natural gas to the west side or the territory north of North avenue. The order, however, will affect restaurants, hotels, and manufacturers downtown. For the larger consumers we will give ten days for a rearrangement and for domestic consumers six days."
